NOTE.—The times of the lunar eclipse of October 16-17, the moon's phases and the tides for three ports are given in Standard Time, used by railroads, and for the tides the standard used at the ports is that for the 75th meridian. For all other computations in the Almanac true mean solar time is used. Standard time, being artificial, cannot be used for such without much confusion and some error, besides being very impracticable where solar time is needed.

AZIMUTH TABLE OF POLARIS, OR NORTH STAR, 1902.

The surveyor may find the true north by observing Polaris either when it crosses the meridian or is at the greatest eastern or western elongation. The latter plan is preferable to the former, but it calls for a knowledge of the azimuth of the star, which is not uniform for all seasons and latitudes. Hence the table given herewith. If one knows approximately the time when the elongation will be reached, he can follow the star with his transit until it ceases to move further to the eastward (or westward). Then, by reading his compass and applying the correction for azimuth, he will get the variation of the needle. In case of doubt it may be wise to repeat the observation a night or two later.

The eastern elongation is the one to use from early May to the middle of October, and the western will serve for all but a few weeks of the remainder of the year. In 1902 Polaris will be at its eastern elongation on May 10, at about 4:17 a. m.; May 16, 3:54 a. m.; June 1, 2:51 a. m.; June 16, 1:52 a. m.; July 1, 12:54 a. m.; July 16, 11:55 eve.; August 1, 10:51 p. m.; August 16, 9:54 p. m.; September 1, 8:51 p. m.; September 16, 7:52 p. m.; October 1, 6:53 p. m.; October 16, 5:50 p. m. The western elongation occurs on October 16, at about 5:40 a. m.; November 1, 4:37 a. m.; November 16, 3:38 a. m.; December 1, 2:39 a. m.; December 16, 1:40 a. m.; January 1, 12:36 morn.; January 16, 11:36 eve.; February 1, 10:31 p. m.; February 15, 9:34 p. m.; March 1, 8:43 p. m.; March 16, 7:44 p. m.; April 1, 6:42 p. m. The event occurs four minutes earlier each night than on the preceding one.

From the closing days of March until May 10 Polaris will be on the meridian and hence in the true north, when a plumb line will cover it and 38 Cassiopeæ simultaneously. The latter is a star of the sixth magnitude, some 20 degrees distant from the Pole Star. Delta Cassiopeæ, some 10 degrees further away, but brighter is approximately in the same celestial longitude, but 38 Cassiopeæ corresponds much more precisely. It will be directly under Polaris on April 1, at about 12:47 a. m.; April 16, 11:49 p. m.; May 1, 10:49 p. m., and May 16, 10:14 p. m.

TIDE TABLES.

To find the time of high water for any place given in the table below, apply the correction opposite the place to the times of high water for its respective port given for every day on the twelve calendar pages of this Almanac. Add the correction to time of high water when it is plus, and subtract it when it is minus. Example: To find time of high water at Rockland, Me., on January 6, 1902:

Time of high water at Boston, January 6..... 9:15 p. m.
Correction for Rockland, Me. (see below)..... -0:26 rence of two-thirds, expel a member. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy, and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal. Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, or to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Sec. 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States.

Compensations and Privileges.

They shall, in all cases except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Sec. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Revenue Bills— Procedure—President's Action.

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and to proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless Congress by their adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall not be a law. Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Sec. 8. The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States; to borrow money on the credit of the United States; to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States and with the Indian tribes; to establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States; to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures; to provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States; to establish postoffices and postroads; to promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries; to constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court; to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the laws of nations; to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water; to raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years; to provide and maintain a navy; to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces; to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and expel invasions; to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress; to exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the Legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dockyards, and other needful buildings; and to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

General Powers of Congress.

Sec. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on

shall be laid on articles exported from any State. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another. No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding an office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign State.

Sec. 10. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility. posts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress. No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

The President and His Powers.

Section 1. The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice-President, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows: Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no

Electoral College— Eligibility, Succession, Compensation.

Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be appointed an elector. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such a majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them President; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice-President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice-President. The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes: which day shall be the same throughout the United States. No person except a natural born citizen or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States. In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability both of the President and Vice-President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed or a President shall be elected. The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them. Before he enters on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Sec. 2. The President shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law or in the heads of departments. The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Military, Civil and Treaty-making Powers.

Sec. 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may on extraordinary occasions convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all of the officers of the United States.

Messages and Extra Sessions.

Sec. 4. The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

Removal by Impeachment.

ARTICLE III.

Supreme Courts and Judicial Powers.

Section 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall at stated times receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Sec. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States; between a State and citizens of another State; between citizens of different States; between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens or subjects. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crime shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

Limits of Judicial Power.

Sec. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

Treason and Its Punishment.

ARTICLE IV.

Rights of States and Citizens.

Section 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Sec. 2. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States. A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

Equal Rights of Citizens.

No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

Sec. 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or part of States, without the consent of the Legislature of the States concerned as well as of the Congress. The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and on application of the Legislature, or of the executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

Guaranty of Republican Government.

ARTICLE V.

Amendments to Constitution.

AMENDMENTS.

(The first ten amendments were proposed at the first session of the 1st Congress of the United States, which was begun and held at the city of New-York on March 4, 1789, and were adopted by the requisite number of States.—

Amendments Speedily Following Adoption of Constitution.

1 vol. Laws of U. S., p. 72. They together constitute a Bill of Rights.) The following is the preamble and resolution: Congress of the United States begun and held at the city of New-York, on Wednesday, the 4th of March, 1789.

The conventions of a number of the States having at the time of their adopting the Constitution expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added; and as extending the ground of public confidence in the Government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution—

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, two-thirds of both houses concurring, That the following articles be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as amendments to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes as part of said Constitution, namely:

ARTICLE I.—Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.—A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.—No soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.—The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.—No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.—In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII.—In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed $20, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.—Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.—The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.—The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.—(Proposed by Congress held at Philadelphia, December 2, 1793; ratification declared by President, January 8, 1798.) The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.—(Proposed at first session of VIIIth Congress, in Washington, October 17, 1803; ratification announced by Secretary of State, September 25, 1804.)

Election of President and Vice-President.

The electors shall meet in their respective States and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the persons voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the persons voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.—(Proposed by Congress February 1, 1865; ratification announced by Secretary of State, December 16, 1865.) Section 1. Amendments Following Civil War. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

ARTICLE XIV.—(Proposed by Congress June 16, 1866; ratification announced by Secretary of State, July 25, 1869.) Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

(Note.—On June 7, 1898, President McKinley approved of an act of Congress which declared that "the disabilities imposed by Section 3, XIVth Amendment of the Constitution, heretofore incurred, are hereby removed.")

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing the insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.—(Proposed by Congress February 27, 1869; ratification announced by Secretary of State, March 30, 1870.) Section 1. The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

Sec. 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

LAW AS TO PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

The Presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the acts of the XLIXth Congress, first session. In case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice-President, then the Secretary of State shall act as President until the disability of the President or Vice-President is removed or a President is elected. If there be no Secretary of State, then the Secretary of the Treasury will act; and the remainder of the order of succession is as follows: The Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Interior and Secretary of Agriculture. The acting President must, upon taking office, convene Congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice. This act applies only to such Cabinet officers as shall have been appointed by the advice and consent of the Senate, and are eligible under the Constitution to the Presidency.

THE REVISED NEW-YORK CHARTER.

A revision of the charter of the city of New-York, which was drawn up by the Charter Revision Commission and passed in an amended form April 4, 1901, by the legislature, was subsequently approved by Governor Odell, and therefore is now a law. After its passage several supplementary acts were passed by the legislature, and these also are laws.

The legislative power of the city was vested in two houses, known respectively as the Council and the Board of Aldermen. The charter revision conferred all legislative power upon a Board of Aldermen. The aldermen, it was stated, were to be elected in November, 1901, and every two years thereafter. The president of the Board of Aldermen is to be elected by the city at large. There are seventy-three aldermanic districts, consisting of one in each Assembly district in the counties of greater New-York, with the exception that two representatives each are granted to the XXIst, XXIIIrd, XXXIst and XXXIVth Assembly districts of New-York County, four representatives to the XXXVth Assembly District of New-York, two to Chester, New-York County, two to the town of New-Utrecht, in the Borough of Brooklyn, two to the town of Newtown in Queens County, two to the town of Jamaica in Queens County, one to the town of Castleton, one to the towns of Middletown and Southfield, and one to the towns of Northfield and Westfield—the last five named towns all in Richmond County. The president of the Board of Aldermen possesses all the powers of the Mayor during his disability or absence.

The Board of Aldermen.

No ordinance can be passed except by a vote of a majority of all the members of the Board of Aldermen. The act says that "in case the ordinance or resolution involves the expenditure of money, the creation of a debt, or the laying of an assessment, it shall require a vote of three-fourths of all the members of the Board of Aldermen to pass it over the Mayor's veto; and if it involves the grant of a franchise, the Mayor's veto shall be final. It declares that "the Board of Aldermen shall have power to make, establish, alter, modify, amend and repeal all ordinances, rules, and police, health, park, fire and building regulations." Also that "the Board of Aldermen is authorized to grant from time to time to any corporation thereunto duly authorized the franchise or right to construct and operate railways in, upon, over, under and along streets, avenues, waters, rivers, public places, parkways or highways of the city, but no such grant shall be made except upon the limitations and conditions of this act elsewhere provided in respect of the grant by the Board of Aldermen of franchises and rights in or under the streets, avenues, waters, rivers, public places, parkways and highways of the city." The Board of Aldermen is given authority to pass ordinances in regard to theatres, the markets, the hotels, the fire limits, use of vaults, and to fix the annual fee, not exceeding $20, for each streetcar used in the city. The act further says: "It shall be the duty of the Board of Aldermen, upon the recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to fix the salary of every officer or person whose compensation is paid out of the city treasury other than day laborers, and teachers, examiners and members of the supervising staff of the Department of Education, irrespective of the amount fixed by this act, except that no change shall be made in the salary of an elected officer or head of a department during his tenure of office. The Board of Aldermen may reduce, but may not increase, any salary recommended by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment; but the action of the Board of Aldermen on reducing any salary so recommended shall be subject to the veto power of the Mayor, as provided in Section 40 of this act. In case the Board of Aldermen shall vote to reduce more than one salary, the Mayor may approve the reduction of one or more salaries, and may disapprove the reduction of others. In such case the reductions he shall approve shall become effective; and as to those which he shall not approve, the recommendations of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall become effective unless the reductions be again passed by a three-fourths vote of the Board of Aldermen."

Powers of the Board of Aldermen.

In regard to franchises the act says: "After the approval of this act no franchise or right to use the streets, avenues, waters, rivers, parkways or highways of the city shall be granted by the Board of Aldermen to any person or corporation for a longer period than twenty-five years, except as hereinafter provided, but such grant may at the option of the city provide for giving to the grantee the right on a fair revaluation or revaluations to renewals not exceeding in the aggregate twenty-five years. Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this section contained shall apply to consents granted to tunnel railroad corporations, and the Board of Aldermen is hereby authorized in its discretion to grant a franchise or right to any railroad corporation to use any of said streets, avenues, waters, rivers, parkways or highways in the city of New-York for the construction and operation of a tunnel railroad underneath the surface thereof for any period not exceeding fifty years, and any such grant may at the option of the city provide for giving to the grantee the right, on a fair revaluation or revaluations, to renewals not exceeding in the aggregate twenty-five years; provided, however, that any grant to construct a tunnel railroad or renewal thereof shall only be made after an agreement has been entered into by such a tunnel corporation to pay to the city of New-York at least 3 per centum of the net profits derived from the use of any tunnel which it shall construct, after there shall have first been retained by such company from such net profits a sum equal to 5 per centum upon the sum expended to construct such tunnel."

The Mayor of the city, the charter revision provided, should be elected in November, 1901, for a term of two years, and every two years thereafter for a like period.

Powers of the Mayor.

The salary of the Mayor is $15,000 a year. The Mayor may, whenever in his judgment the public interests shall so require, remove from office any public officer holding office by appointment from him, except members of the Board of Education, Aqueduct Commissioners, trustees of the College of the City of New-York, trustees of Bellevue and allied hospitals, "and except also judicial officers for whose removal other provision is made by the constitution."

The administrative departments are as follows: Department of Finance, Law Department, Police Department, Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, Department of Street Cleaning, Department of Bridges, Department of Parks, Department of Public Charities, Department of Correction, Fire Department, Department of Docks and Ferries, Department of Taxes and Assessments, Department of Health, Tenement House Department.

Administrative Departments.

The head of the Department of Finance is the Controller, who is to be elected at the same time with the Mayor, and is to have like him a term of two years. All of the departments are single headed commissions, except the Park Department, which has three commissioners; the Department of Taxes and Assessments, which has five; the Department of Education, forty-six members of a Board of Education, and the Department of Health, which has three commissioners.

The Mayor must at least once a year submit to the Board of Aldermen a general statement of the finances, government and improvements of the city, keep himself informed as to the doings of the several departments and be vigilant in enforcing the ordinances of the city and the laws of the State. The Mayor appoints besides those already named all members of any board authorized to superintend the erection or repair of any building belonging to the city, inspectors of weights and measures, two commissioners of accounts and three Civil Service Commissioners.

The Controller has control of the fiscal concerns of the corporation. The accounts of every department are subject to his inspection and revision. All claims against the city, except certain specified ones, are subject to his audit.

Controller, Chamberlain, Sinking Fund.

The assent of the Controller is necessary to all agreements for the acquisition of real estate. He receives a salary of $15,000 a year. He has charge of the Wallabout Market. The Mayor appoints the Chamberlain of the city who receives all moneys paid into the treasury of the city. His salary is $12,000 a year. The Sinking Fund Commissioners consist of the Mayor, Controller, Chamberlain, president of the Board of Aldermen and chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen. This board administers the various sinking funds.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment consists of the Mayor, the Controller, the president of the Board of Aldermen, and the presidents of the boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn, The Bronx, Queens and Richmond. Except as specially provided by the charter every act of the Board must be adopted, if adopted, by "a majority of the whole number of votes authorized by this section to be cast by said board. The Mayor, Controller and the president of the Board of Aldermen shall each be entitled to cast three votes, the presidents of the boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn shall each be entitled to cast two votes, and the presidents of the boroughs of The Bronx, Queens and Richmond shall each be entitled to cast one vote. A quorum of said board shall consist of a sufficient number of the members thereof to cast nine votes, of whom at least two of the members hereby authorized to cast three votes each shall be present." It is provided that this board shall annually "make a budget of the amounts estimated to be required to pay the expenses of conducting the public business of the city of New-York, and of the counties of New-York, Kings, Queens and Richmond for the next ensuing year. Such budget shall be prepared in such detail as to the titles of appropriations, the terms and conditions thereof, not inconsistent with law, under which the same may be expended, the aggregate sum and the items thereof allowed to each department, bureau, office, board or commission, as the said Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall deem advisable." The budget is submitted to the Board of Aldermen. The act then says: "The Board of Aldermen may reduce the said several amounts fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, except such amounts as are now or may hereafter be fixed by law, and except such amounts as may be inserted by the said Board of Estimate and Apportionment for the payment of State taxes and payment of interest and principal of the city debt, but the Board of Aldermen may not increase such amounts nor vary the terms and conditions thereof, nor insert any new items. Such action of the Board of Aldermen on reducing any item or amount fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall be subject to the veto power of the Mayor, as elsewhere provided in this act, and unless such veto is overridden by a three-fourths vote of the Board of Aldermen, the item or amount as fixed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall stand as part of the budget." The Board of Estimate and Apportionment also is directed to include in its final estimate money for the support of a large number of charitable institutions, which are named.

The Corporation Counsel, who is the head of the Law Department, receives $15,000 a year. He has charge of all the law business of the corporation, all legal proceedings in opening, widening and closing streets, in acquiring property for the city by condemnation proceedings, and the preparation of all leases and contracts. He is the legal adviser of the Mayor, the presidents of the boroughs, the Board of Aldermen and every department.

The successors in office of the said commissioner shall also be appointed by the Mayor of the city within ten days after any vacancy shall occur, and shall be removed by either the Mayor or Governor whenever the public interests so require. The salary of said Police Commissioner shall be $7,500 a year. He shall have charge of the construction of all sewers in accordance with said plans. He shall have in charge the management, care and maintenance of the sewer and drainage system of the borough of which he shall be president and the licensing of all cisterns and cesspools." The presidents of the boroughs of Queens and Richmond also have supervision of the street cleaning of their boroughs.

The act says in regard to the Bureau of Buildings: "There shall be in the office of each borough president a bureau to be known as 'the Bureau of Buildings for the Borough of _____'. The presidents of the boroughs of

He has exclusive charge of the wharf property belonging to the city of New-York, and of the repairing, rebuilding, altering and leasing of this property. He cannot, however, make any contract or execute any deed for the wharf property unless it has first been approved by resolution in writing passed by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. The Dock Commissioner also is authorized to lease the franchise of ferries. The Department of Taxes and Assessments has at its head five commissioners, one of whom is designated as the president. The salary of the president is $8,000 a year, while that of the other commissioners is $7,000 a year.

Taxes and Assessments.

The commissioners appoint forty deputy tax commissioners, whose duty it is to assess all the taxable property in the several districts to which they are assigned. The act then says: "There shall be kept in the several offices established by the Department of Taxes and Assessments books to be called 'the annual record of the assessed valuation of real and personal estate of the borough of _____,' in which shall be entered in detail the assessed valuations of such property within the limits of the several boroughs of the city of New-York as established by this act, which said books shall be open for public inspection, examination and correction from the second Monday in January until the first day of April in each year; but on said last mentioned day the same shall be closed to enable the Board of Taxes and Assessments to prepare assessment rolls of the several boroughs for delivery to the Board of Aldermen."

The Mayor is authorized to appoint three persons to make assessments for local improvements. The Controller, the Corporation Counsel and the president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments by the terms of the act are the Board for the Board of Assessors.

Revision of Assessments.

The Department of Education has at its head a Board of Education of forty-six members, appointed by the Mayor. The forty-six members of the Board of Education are divided as follows: Borough of Manhattan, 22;

Department of Education.

Borough of The Bronx, 4; Borough of Brooklyn, 12; Borough of Queens, 4; Borough of Richmond, 2. The Board of Education has the management and control of the public schools of the city. The act further says: "The Board of Education shall administer all moneys appropriated or available for educational purposes in the city of New-York, subject to the general provisions of this act relating to the audit and payment of salaries and other claims by the Department of Finance. Prior to February 15, 1902, the Board of Education shall divide the boroughs under its charge into forty-six school board districts, of which twenty-two shall be wholly in the Borough of Manhattan, fourteen wholly in the Borough of Brooklyn, four wholly in the Borough of The Bronx, four wholly in the Borough of Queens, and two wholly in the Borough of Richmond. There shall be in each of said districts a local school board consisting of seven members, as follows: Five persons to be appointed by the president of the borough, a member of the Board of Education designated by the president of that board, and the district superintendent assigned to duty in such district by the city superintendent. Subject to regulation by the bylaws of the Board of Education, the duties and powers of the local school boards shall be as follows: In their respective districts, they shall visit, at least once in every quarter, all the schools in the district, and inspect the same, in respect to punctual and regular attendance of the pupils and teachers, the number and fidelity of the teachers, the studies, progress, order and discipline of the pupils, the cleanliness, safety, warming, ventilation and comfort of school premises, and the observance of the provisions of the school laws in respect to the teaching of sectarian doctrines or the use of sectarian books; and shall call the attention of the Board of Education, without delay, to every matter requiring official action. They shall also, on or before the first day of January and June of each year, make a written report to the Board of Education in respect to the condition of the schools, the efficiency of teachers, and wants of the district, especially in regard to schools and school premises. They shall report immediately to the Board of Education whenever additional accommodation is necessary for kindergarten or elementary school purposes, with a recommendation of the sites within their respective districts which they consider it necessary to acquire for such purposes. They shall also recommend the erection of such buildings on said sites or on any other property owned by the city of New-York, and such repairs or alterations of school buildings as they deem necessary or desirable. They shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to try charges made by a principal, a district superintendent, or by any parent or guardian of a pupil, residing in the district, against a teacher employed within their respective districts, for gross misconduct, insubordination, neglect of duty or inefficiency. On receiving notice of said charges they shall immediately proceed to try and determine the case and shall fix the penalty or punishment to be imposed for the offence committed, which shall consist of a fine, suspension for a fixed time without pay, or dismissal. Their determination upon such charges and the penalty or punishment imposed therefor shall be reported immediately to the Board of Education, which may reject, confirm or modify the determinations of the local board, and the penalty or punishment imposed and the decision of the board shall be final except as to matters in relation to which, under the general school laws of the State, an appeal may be taken to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction."

The Department of Health has at its head a Commissioner of Health, the Police Commissioner and the Health Officer of the Port. It is the duty of the Department of Health to enforce all the laws of the State in regard to the preservation of human life. This includes all laws relative to cleanliness, the sale of unwholesome food and the purity of the water supply. The Board of Health is authorized to establish and maintain hospitals for the care of persons sick with contagious diseases. Births, deaths and marriages are reported to the Board of Health, whose members keep a record of them.

The Tenement House Department has at its head a Tenement House Commissioner, whose salary is $7,500 a year. The department is divided into a new building bureau, an inspection bureau and a bureau of records. The building bureau examines plans for the light and ventilation of tenement houses, the inspection bureau inspects all completed tenement houses and records all violations of the tenement house laws and ordinances, and the bureau of records contains a record of every tenement house in the city.

Tenement House Department.

The City Court of New-York and the Municipal Court are continued. The several boroughs are divided into districts, in each of which sessions of the Municipal Court are held. In The Bronx, two districts; Manhattan, eleven districts; Brooklyn, five districts; Queens, three districts; Richmond, two districts.

Inferior Local Courts.

For the purpose of the administration of criminal justice the city is divided into two divisions, the first division embracing the boroughs of The Bronx and of Manhattan and the second division embracing the boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. The Board of City Magistrates in the first division consists of twelve magistrates, while in the second division there are fifteen magistrates, ten of whom are residents of Brooklyn, three of Queens, and two of the Borough of Richmond. In the first division the magistrates are appointed by the Mayor. At the general city election of November, 1901, one City Magistrate was elected in each Congress District of Kings County, and two City Magistrates at Large, and this principle of electing the City Magistrates is hereafter to be continued in the Borough of Brooklyn. City Magistrates in the Borough of Brooklyn who were appointed after January 31, 1890, are to hold office until their successors are elected at a general election to be held in 1907. Magistrates are to be elected in the boroughs of Queens and Richmond in 1905 and 1907.

Inferior Courts of Criminal Jurisdiction.

In 1898 the Mayor appointed ten marshals, who are to hold their office for six years. The city publishes a City Record, in which are printed corporation notices relating to the various boroughs. When they relate to the Borough of Brooklyn they are also published in newspapers of that borough. The charter provides for the election of four coroners in the Borough of Manhattan, two in the Borough of The Bronx, two in the Borough of Brooklyn, two in the Borough of Queens, and one in the Borough of Richmond, all for a term of four years.

AMENDED WAR REVENUE LAW.

The Act of Congress, approved March 2, 1901, known as the "Emergency Revenue Reduction Law," amended and modified in many important particulars the War Revenue Act of June 13, 1898. Of the fifty-one sections of the earlier law, one section—18—was repealed outright, while nine others—sections 1, 2, 3, 6, 9, 13, 29, 30 and 35—were materially altered. Sections 5, 25, 49 and 51 have become inoperative in most of their provisions by limitation since January, 1899. Below is given an abstract of the War Revenue Tax scheme, as left in force by the law of March 2, 1901.

Of the unrepealed sections of the law of June 13, 1898, these enact other than internal tax legislation:

Section 31 is administrative and reads: "That all administrative, special or stamp provisions of the law, including the laws in relation to the assessment of taxes, not heretofore specifically repealed, are hereby made applicable to this act."

Sections 32 and 33 relate to loans, and read: (32) "That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to borrow from time to time, at a rate of interest not exceeding 3 per centum per annum, such sum or sums as in his judgment may be necessary to meet public expenditures, and to issue therefor certificates of indebtedness in such form as he may prescribe and in denominations of $50 or some multiple of that sum; and each certificate so issued shall be payable, with the interest accrued thereon, at such time, not exceeding one year from the date of its issue, as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe: Provided, That the amount of such certificates outstanding shall at no time exceed $100,000,000; and the provisions of existing law respecting counterfeiting and other fraudulent practices are hereby extended to the bonds and certificates of indebtedness authorized by this act." (33) "That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to borrow on the credit of the United States from time to time as the proceeds may be required to defray expenditures authorized on account of the existing war (such proceeds when so received to be used only for the purpose of meeting such war expenditures) the sum of $400,000,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, and to prepare and issue therefor coupon or registered bonds of the United States in such form as he may prescribe, and in denominations of $20 or some multiple of that sum, redeemable in coin at the pleasure of the United States after ten years from the date of their issue, and payable twenty years from such date, and bearing interest payable quarterly in coin at the rate of 3 per centum per annum; and the bonds herein authorized shall be exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal or local authority: Provided, That the bonds authorized by this section shall be first offered at par as a popular loan under such regulations, prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, as will give opportunity to the citizens of the United States to participate in the subscriptions to such loan, and in allotting said bonds the several subscriptions of individuals shall be first accepted, and the subscriptions for the lowest amounts shall be first allotted: Provided, further, That any portion of any issue of said bonds not subscribed for as above provided may be disposed of by the Secretary of the Treasury at not less than par, under such regulations as he may prescribe, but no commissions shall be allowed or paid thereon; and a sum not exceeding one-tenth of 1 per centum of the amount of the bonds and certificates herein authorized is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expense of preparing, advertising and issuing the same."

Section 34, which relates to the coinage of silver bullion, reads: "That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to coin into standard silver dollars as rapidly as the public interests may require, to an amount, however, of not less than $1,500,000 in each month, all of the silver bullion now in the Treasury purchased in accordance with the provision of the act approved July 14, 1890, entitled 'An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes,' and said dollars, when so coined, shall be used and applied in the manner and for the purposes named in said act."

Section 50 reads: "That there shall be levied, collected and paid upon tea, when imported from foreign countries, a duty of 10 cents per pound."

Sections 5 and 25 provide for the printing and sale of internal revenue stamps. They direct that "the adhesive stamps used in the payment of the tax levied in Schedules A and B of this act shall be furnished for sale by the several collectors of internal revenue, who shall sell and deliver them at their face value to all persons applying for the same except officers or employees of the internal revenue service: Provided, That such collectors may sell and deliver such stamps in quantities of not less than $100 of face value, with a discount of 1 per cent, except as otherwise provided by this act. And the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, make all needful rules and regulations for the proper enforcement of this act."

Paragraph 3 of Section 8, as amended—prescribing stamp taxes—deals with "hucket shop" operations, which are subjected to the following imposts and restrictions: "From and after April 1, 1901, every person, association, copartnership, or corporation who or which shall in his, its, or their own behalf, or as agent, engage in the business of making or offering to make contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions respecting the purchase or sale, or purchase and sale, of any grain, provisions, raw or unmanufactured cotton, stock, bonds, or other securities wherein both parties thereto, or such person, association, copartnership, or corporation above named, contemplate or intend that such contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions shall be or may be closed, adjusted, or settled according to or with reference to the public market quotations of prices made on any board of trade or exchange upon which the commodities or securities referred to in said contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions are dealt in, and without a bona fide transaction on such board of trade or exchange, or wherein both parties, or such person, association, copartnership, or corporation above named, shall contemplate or intend that such contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions shall be or may be deemed closed or terminated when the public market quotations of prices made on such board of trade or exchange for the articles or securities named in such contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions shall reach a certain figure, and every person, association, copartnership, and corporation who or which shall in his or its own behalf or as agent conduct what is commonly known as a 'bucket shop' shall pay a stamp tax of two cents on each $100 in value or fraction thereof, of the merchandise covered or pretended to be covered, and also a tax of two cents on each $100 on the face value, or fraction thereof, of all stocks, bonds, or other securities covered or pretended to be covered by each and all of such contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions: Provided however, That the payment of any tax imposed by this paragraph shall not be held or construed to exempt any such person, association, copartnership, or corporation from any penalty or punishment provided by the laws of any State for carrying on such business; or the making of such contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions within such State, or in any manner to authorize the commencement or continuance of such business or the making of any such contracts, agreements, trades, or transactions contrary to the laws of such State, or in any place prohibited by municipal law; and on or before April 1, 1901, every such person, association, copartnership, or corporation, as aforesaid, shall, for each office or place of business and for each branch office or place of business, wherever established, pay a special tax of $12 50, and on or before July 1, 1901, and annually thereafter, for every such office or branch office, a special tax of $50, and such taxes shall be in addition to all other special taxes imposed by this act. Every person, association, copartnership, or corporation proposing to engage in or continue the business aforesaid shall, before commencing such business, file with the collector or proper deputy collector of the district in which it is proposed to carry on such business a notice in writing under oath, and in such form as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may prescribe, stating the name of the person, association, copartnership, or corporation intending to engage in such business, the names of the members of any such association or copartnership, and the names of the officers of any such corporation, together with the residences of all the individuals whose names are thus required, and the place (including street number) where such business is to be carried on, and it shall be the duty of the collector of internal revenue to keep in his office a book in which shall be recorded a complete copy of all such notices, and such book shall be open to public inspection. Every person, association, copartnership, or corporation conducting or transacting the business aforesaid shall keep or cause to be kept just and true books of account, wherein shall be plainly and legibly recorded on the day of the making of every such contract, agreement, trade, or transaction a complete and exact specification thereof, including the date thereof, the other party thereto, and the quantity, price, and the gross amount in value of each article or commodity covered or pretended to be covered by each such contract, agreement, trade, or transaction, and such books shall at all reasonable times and hours be subject to the inspection of the collector, deputy collector, and the inspector of internal revenue or any duly authorized agent of the Internal Revenue Department, and every such person, association, copartnership, or corporation shall deliver to the other party to each such contract, agreement, trade, or transaction, at the time of making the same, a written memorandum also containing the complete and exact specification thereof, above referred to, to which the proper stamp shall be, before delivery, affixed. Every person, association, copartnership, or corporation who shall, in his or their own behalf, or as agent, engage in or continue in the business hereinbefore defined without having filed the notice herein required, or who shall fail or refuse to keep any such book or make any return, report, or affidavit required as aforesaid, or shall make a false, fraudulent, or partial return, report, or affidavit, or shall fail or refuse to deliver a written memorandum, as hereinbefore required, or shall in any other respect violate any of the provisions of this paragraph, shall, besides being liable for the amount of the tax or taxes herein prescribed, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall, for each and every such offence, pay a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000, or be imprisoned not less than three months nor more than two years, or both, in the discretion of the court. All provisions of law now in force relating to the collection, recovery, and enforcement of taxes, fines, and penalties imposed under the law concerning internal revenue and not inconsistent with the provisions of this paragraph shall extend and apply to the recovery and enforcement of the taxes, fines, and penalties imposed by this paragraph."

THE LVITH CONGRESS.

PUBLIC ACTS AND RESOLUTIONS OF THE SECOND SESSION (1900-1901).

By the act approved March 2, 1901, "Making appropriation for the support of the army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902," the President of the United States is authorized to "leave the government and control of the island of Cuba to its people" on the fulfilment of certain conditions. The proviso containing this authorization is as follows: "That in fulfilment of the declaration contained in the joint resolution approved April 20, 1898, entitled, 'For the recognition of the independence of the people of Cuba, demanding that the Government of Spain relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba, and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters, and directing the President of the United States to use the land and naval forces of the United States to carry these resolutions into effect,' the President is hereby authorized to 'leave the government and control of the island of Cuba to its people' so soon as a government shall have been established in said island under a constitution which, either as a part thereof or in an ordinance appended thereto, shall define the future relations of the United States with Cuba, substantially as follows: 1. That the government of Cuba shall never enter into any treaty or other compact with any foreign power or powers which will impair or tend to impair the independence of Cuba, nor in any manner authorize or permit any foreign power or powers to obtain by colonization or for military or naval purposes or otherwise, lodgment in or control over any portion of said island. 2. That said government shall not assume or contract any public debt, to pay the interest upon which, and to make reasonable sinking fund provision for the ultimate discharge of which, the ordinary revenues of the island, after defraying the current expenses of government, shall be inadequate. 3. That the government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the Treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba. 4. That all acts of the United States in Cuba during its military occupancy thereof are ratified and validated, and all lawful rights acquired thereunder shall be maintained and protected. 5. That the government of Cuba will execute, and as far as necessary extend, the plans already devised or other plans to be mutually agreed upon, for the sanitation of the cities of the island, to the end that a recurrence of epidemic and infectious diseases may be prevented, thereby assuring protection to the people and commerce of Cuba, as well as to the commerce of the Southern ports of the United States and the people residing therein. 6. That the Isle of Pines shall be omitted from the proposed constitutional boundaries of Cuba, the title thereto being left to future adjustment by treaty. 7. That to enable the United States to maintain the independence of Cuba, and to protect the people thereof, as well as for its own defence, the government of Cuba will sell or lease to the United States lands necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points, to be agreed upon with the President of the United States. 8. That by way of further assurance the government of Cuba will embody the foregoing provisions in a permanent treaty with the United States."

In the same act provision is made for the establishment of a civil form of government for the Philippine Islands, as follows: "All military, civil, and judicial powers necessary to govern the Philippine Islands, acquired from Spain by the treaties concluded at Paris on December 10, 1898, and at Washington on November 7, 1900, shall, until otherwise provided by Congress, be vested in such person or persons and shall be exercised in such manner as the President of the United States shall direct, for the establishment of civil government and for maintaining and protecting the inhabitants of said islands in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion: Provided, That all franchises granted under the authority hereof shall contain a reservation of the right to alter, amend or repeal the same. Until a permanent government shall have been established in said archipelago full reports shall be made to Congress on or before the first day of each regular session of all legislative acts and proceedings of the temporary government instituted under the provisions hereof; and full reports of the acts and doings of said government, and as to the condition of the archipelago and of its people, shall be made to the President, including all information which may be useful to the Congress in providing for a more permanent government: Provided, That no sale or lease or other disposition of the public lands or the timber thereon or the mining rights therein shall be made: And provided further, That no franchise shall be granted which is not approved by the President of the United States, and is not in his judgment clearly necessary for the immediate government of the islands and indispensable for the interest of the people thereof, and which cannot, without great public mischief, be postponed until the establishment of permanent civil government; and all such franchises shall terminate one year after the establishment of such permanent civil government."

By the act approved January 16, 1901, the Federal House of Representatives is to consist after March 3, 1903, of 356 members—an increase of twenty-nine over the present number. The districts must equal in number the number of Representatives allotted to each State; but in cases where increased representation is allowed the additional members are to be elected at large, until a new apportionment is made by the State Legislature.

The act approved February 2, 1901, "To increase the efficiency of the permanent military establishment of the United States," provides for an enlarged and radically reorganized standing army. The first eleven sections prescribe a minimum and a maximum enlisted strength for each branch of the service, and also fix the grades and numbers of line officers assigned to each arm. The army

In the artillery arm the regimental organization is discontinued and that arm is to be designated as the Artillery Corps. It is to comprise two branches—coast artillery

All officers of artillery are to be placed on one list, in respect to promotion, according to seniority in their several grades, and shall be assigned to coast or to field artillery according to special aptitude. The Artillery Corps is to consist of a chief of artillery, detailed by the President from the colonels of artillery, to serve on the staff of the general officer commanding the army, with duties prescribed by the Secretary of War; fourteen colonels, one of whom shall be the chief of artillery; thirteen lieutenant-colonels, thirty-nine majors, 195 captains, 195 first lieutenants, 195 second lieutenants, twenty-one sergeants-major with the rank, pay and allowances of regimental sergeants-major of infantry; twenty-seven sergeants-major with the rank, pay and allowances of battalion sergeants-major of infantry; one electrician sergeant to each coast artillery post having electrical appliances; thirty batteries of field artillery, 126 batteries of coast artillery, and ten bands organized as now authorized by law for artillery regiments. But the enlisted strength of any company may be fixed, under the direction of the Secretary of War, according to the requirements of the service to which it may be assigned. First class gunners are to receive $2 a month, and second class gunners $1 per month in addition to their pay. Each battery of field artillery is to be organized as is now prescribed by law, the enlisted strength to be fixed by the Secretary of War. The increase for the artillery is to be made as follows: Not less than 20 per centum before July 1, 1901, and not less than 20 per centum each succeeding twelve months until the total number provided for shall have been attained. All vacancies caused by this act are to be

Second lieutenants of Infantry or cavalry may, in the discretion of the President, be transferred to the artillery arm, taking rank therein according to date of commission, and such transfers shall be subject to approval by a board of artillery officers appointed to pass upon the capacity of such officers for artillery service. Such details shall be made from the grade in which the vacancies exist, under such system of examination as the President may from time to time prescribe. All officers so detailed shall serve for a period of four years, at the expiration of which time they shall return to duty with the line, and officers below the rank of lieutenant-colonel shall not again be eligible for selection in any staff department until they shall have served two years with the line. That when vacancies shall occur in the position of chief of any staff corps or department the President may appoint to such vacancies, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, officers of the army at large not below the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and who shall hold office for terms of four years. When a vacancy in the position of chief of any staff corps or department is filled by the appointment of an officer below the rank now provided by law for said office, said chief shall, while so serving, have the same rank, pay and allowances now provided for the chief of such corps or department. And any officer now holding office in any corps or department who shall hereafter serve as chief of a staff corps or department and shall subsequently be retired, shall be retired with the rank, pay and allowances authorized by law for the retirement of such corps or department chief: Provided, That so long as there remain in service officers of any staff corps or department holding permanent appointments, the chief of such staff corps or department shall be selected from the officers so remaining therein. Section 27. That each position vacated by officers of the line, transferred to any department of the staff for tours of service under this act, shall be filled by promotion in the line until the total number detailed equals the number authorized for duty in each staff department. Thereafter vacancies caused by details from the line to the staff shall be filled by officers returning from tours of staff duty. If under the operation of this act the number of officers returned to any particular arm of the service at any time exceeds the number authorized by law in any grade, promotions to that grade shall cease until the number has been reduced to that authorized." Section 28 prescribes the method of filling vacancies in the field grades of the line of the army as follows: "Vacancies in the grade of field officers and captain, created by this act, in the cavalry, artillery and infantry, shall be filled by promotion according to seniority in each branch, respectively. Vacancies existing after the promotions have been made shall be provided for as follows: A sufficient number shall be reserved in the grade of second lieutenant for the next graduating class at the United States Military Academy. Persons not over forty years of age who shall have at any time served as volunteers subsequent to April 21, 1898, may be ordered before boards of officers for such examination as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, and those who establish their fitness before these examining boards may be appointed to the grades of first or second lieutenant in the regular army, taking rank in the respective grades according to seniority as determined by length of prior commissioned service; but no person appointed under the provisions of this section shall be placed above another in the same grade with longer commissioned service, and nothing herein contained shall change the relative rank of officers heretofore commissioned in the regular army. Enlisted men of the regular army or volunteers may be appointed second lieutenants in the regular army to vacancies created by this act, provided that they shall have served one year, under the same conditions now authorized by law for enlisted men of the regular army." Section 29 authorizes the President, in order to maintain the enlisted strength of organizations beyond the limits of the United States, to recruit them to 4 per cent beyond the total strength fixed for such organizations. Section 30 authorizes the President to maintain the enlisted force of the several organizations of the army at their maximum strength "during the present exigencies of the service, or until such time as Congress may hereafter otherwise direct." Sections 31 and 32 relate to detachments for recruiting service and to the temporary promotion of officers beyond the convenient reach of examining boards. Section 33 authorizes the retirement as brigadier-generals of the regular army of two brigadier-generals of volunteers (Fitzhugh Lee and James H. Wilson) and the retirement as a major-general of one officer not above the rank of brigadier-general already on the retired list (William R. Shafter). Section 34 permits all honorably discharged officers who served during the war with Spain or subsequently as regulars or volunteers to use the title, and, upon occasions of ceremony, to wear the uniform of the highest grade they have held by brevet or other commission. Section 35 authorizes the Secretary of War to select four sites for permanent camp grounds to be used for joint instruction of troops of the regular army and National Guard.

Sections 36 and 37 provide for the enlistment of native Filipino and Porto Rican troops. The pay and allowances of provisional officers of native organizations shall be those authorized for officers of like grades in the regular army. The pay, rations and clothing allowances to be authorized for the enlisted men shall be fixed by the Secretary of War, and shall not exceed those authorized for the regular army. When, in the opinion of the President, natives of the Philippine Islands shall show fitness for command, the President is authorized to make provisional appointments to the grades of second and first lieutenants from such natives, who shall have pay and allowances to be fixed by the Secretary of War, not exceeding those of corresponding grades of the regular army. Section 37 authorizes the maintenance in Porto Rico of a provisional regiment of not exceeding three battalions of infantry, recruited as far as practicable from the native population. The pay, rations and clothing allowances for the enlisted men not to exceed those authorized for the regular army. The field officers shall be selected from officers of the next lower grades in the regular army and shall, while serving in the higher grades, have the rank, pay and allowances thereof. The company and regimental and battalion staff officers shall be appointed by the President. Enlistments for the Porto Rico regiment shall be made for periods of three years, unless sooner discharged. The regiment shall continue in service until further directed by Congress. Section 38 forbids "the sale of or dealing in beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors by any person in any post exchange or canteen or army transport, or upon any premises used for military purposes by the United States." Section 39 provides that nothing in the reorganization act shall discharge any officer or deprive him of the commission he held at the time of its passage. Section 40 authorizes the President, in his discretion, to change the army ration. Section 41 permits officers and men of the army and navy who are members of military societies founded on service in the Spanish war and Philippine insurrection to wear the badges of such societies on occasions of ceremony.

But the commission may receive claims presented within six months after the termination of said period if the claimants shall establish good reasons for not presenting the same earlier. Service of the petition is to be made upon the Attorney-General, and it shall be his duty to defend the interests of the United States, and he shall, within sixty days after the service of the petition upon him, unless the time shall be extended by order of the commission, file a demurrer, which shall set up all matters of counter claim or defence on the part of the government. An award in favor of any claimant shall be for actual damage only. All awards shall be final unless a new hearing shall be granted, and no new trial shall be had except upon motion made within sixty days of said award. When the commission is in doubt as to any question of law arising upon the facts in any case, it may state the facts and the question of law to the Supreme Court for decision. The powers and jurisdiction of the commission are to continue for two years from March 2, 1901. But the President may, from time to time, prolong the life of the commission for periods not exceeding six months in each instance, if in his judgment such extension is necessary to enable the commission to complete its work.

THE AMERICAN FLAG OR NATIONAL ENSIGN.

The official National ensign contains 45 stars in a blue field, arranged in 6 rows—the 1st, 3d and 5th rows having 8 stars each, and the others having 7 stars each. The garrison flag of the Army is made of bunting, 36 feet fly and 20 feet hoist; thirteen stripes, and in the upper quarter, next the staff, is the field or "union" of stars, equal to the number of States, on blue field, over one-third length of the flag, extending to the lower edge of the fourth red stripe from the top. The storm flag is 20 feet by 10 feet, and the recruiting flag 9 feet 9 inches by 4 feet 4 inches. The "American Jack" is the "union" of the flag, its name originating with the "union" of the English flag at the blending of St. Andrew's Saltire with St. George's Cross. The "narrow pennant" or "whip" has the union composed of thirteen white stars in horizontal line on a blue field, one-fourth the length of the pennant, the remaining three-fourths of a red and a white stripe, each of the same breadth at any part of the taper, with the red uppermost. The Revenue Marine Service flag, created by Act of Congress, March 2, 1799, was originally prescribed to "consist of sixteen perpendicular stripes, alternate red and white, the union of the ensign bearing the arms of the United States in dark blue on a white field." The sixteen stripes represented the number of States which had been admitted to the Union at that time, and no change has been made since. Prior to 1871 it bore an eagle in the union of the pennant, which was then substituted by thirteen blue stars in a white field, but the eagle and stars are still retained in the flag. June 14, the anniversary of the adoption of the "Stars and Stripes," is celebrated as Flag Day in many of the States, especially by the children of the public schools.

LEGISLATURE OF NEW YORK.

The following is a summary of the most important laws enacted by the New-York Legislature in 1901:

The State tax rate was put at 1.20 mills, the lowest since 1854; which, it was estimated, would raise $6,806,699 70. The tax imposed is to be used for these purposes: Maintenance of the canals, $964,282 45; extraordinary repairs and new work on the canals, $850,837 47; payment of canal debt, $737,392 47; support of schools, $4,254,187 31;

total, $6,806,699 70. The Controller of the State estimated that the revenue from indirect State taxes, including a surplus in the State Treasury, would raise $15,511,418 13; which could be applied to the payment of appropriations made by the legislature. It was estimated when the legislature adjourned that its appropriations amounted to about $22,200,000.

The revenue from the indirect taxation laws was increased by the passage of the following laws: First—Imposing a tax of 1 per cent on the par value of the surplus and undivided earnings of savings banks. Expected revenue, $700,000. Second—Imposing a tax of 1 per cent on the gross amount of the premiums paid to insurance companies annually for business done in this State. Expected revenue, $700,000. Third—Imposing a tax of 1 per cent on the surplus, capital stock and undivided profits of trust companies. Expected revenue, $1,300,000. Fourth—An amendment to the General Corporation Tax law providing that to receive the exemption from taxation provided for manufacturers a company must employ 40 per cent of its capital stock in doing a manufacturing business in the State. Expected increase in revenue, $300,000. There was also passed a law, the revenue from which cannot yet be estimated, taxing the shares of stock of banks and banking associations 1 per cent. Lastly there was passed a law imposing a license fee of one-eighth of 1 per cent upon foreign concerns doing business in this State, to be computed upon the basis of the capital stock employed by it within this State, during the first year of carrying on its business in this State; "and if any year thereafter any such corporation shall employ an increased amount of its capital stock within this State, the same license fee shall be due and payable upon any such increase."

REPUBLICAN.

The Republican National Convention began its sessions at Philadelphia, Penn., on June 19, 1900. The ante-convention interest centred in the choice of a Vice-Presidential candidate, the renomination of President McKinley for the first place on the ticket being universally conceded. The Western States, aided by Senator Platt, of New-York, who controlled the delegation from his State, were practically a unit in favoring Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New-York for the second place. The latter was anxious to avoid the nomination, preferring to run for another term as Governor of New-York, and on the afternoon of June 19, the day before the Convention, he issued a statement earnestly requesting that some one else be nominated for Vice-President. Senator Mark A. Hanna, of Ohio, chairman of the National Committee, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, aided Governor Roosevelt in trying to stave off his nomination. Other Vice-Presidential possibilities were John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy; Congressman Dooliver, of Iowa; Lieutenant-Governor Timothy L. Woodruff of New-York and Cornelius N. Bliss, of the same State. The Convention met on June 19 for a short session, which was devoted entirely to preliminary and routine work. Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, the temporary chairman, made a speech. After the Convention's adjournment for the day the New-York delegation indorsed Woodruff for Vice-President. The second day's session—June 20—was devoted principally to the speech of Senator Lodge, the permanent chairman, and the adoption of the platform. Vice-Presidential sentiment had crystallized in favor of Roosevelt, Senator Hanna had faced about and declared for him, and his nomination seemed assured. The Convention completed its work on June 21 by unanimously nominating McKinley and Roosevelt for President and Vice-President respectively. The most striking feature of the Convention from start to finish was the harmony prevalent. McKinley received every vote in the Convention, 926; Roosevelt every vote but his own. The Convention adjourned sine die on June 21.

The Platform.

The platform, which was adopted on June 20, was as follows:

The Republicans of the United States, through their chosen representatives, met in National Convention, looking back upon an unsurpassed record of achievement and looking forward into a great field of duty and opportunity, and appealing to the judgment of their countrymen, make these declarations: The expectation in which the American people, turning from the Democratic party, intrusted power four years ago to a Republican Chief Magistrate and a Republican Congress has been met and satisfied. When the people then assembled at the polls, after a term of Democratic legislation and administration, business was dead, industry paralyzed and the National credit disastrously impaired. The country's capital was hidden away, and its labor distressed and unemployed. The Democrats had no other plan with which to improve the ruinous conditions which they had themselves produced than to coin silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The Republican party, denouncing this plan as sure to produce conditions even worse than those from which relief was sought, promised to restore prosperity by means of two legislative measures—a protective tariff and a law making gold the standard of value. The people by great majorities issued to the Republican party a commission to enact these laws. This commission has been executed, and the Republican promise is redeemed. Prosperity more general and more abundant than we have ever known has followed these enactments. There is no longer controversy as to the value of any Government obligation. Every American dollar is a gold dollar, or its assured equivalent, and American credit stands higher than that of any nation. Capital is fully employed and labor everywhere is profitably occupied. No single fact can more strikingly tell the story of what Republican government means to the country than this—that while during the whole period of one hundred and seven years, from 1790 to 1897, there was an excess of exports over imports of only $383,628-497, there has been in the short three years of the present Republican Administration an excess of exports over imports in the enormous sum of $1,483,537,094. And while the American people, sustained by this Republican legislation, have been achieving these splendid triumphs in their business and commerce, they have conducted and in victory concluded, a war for liberty and human rights. No thought of National aggrandizement tarnished the high purpose with which American standards were unfurled. It was a war unsought and patiently resisted, but when it came the American Government was ready. Its fleets were cleared for action. Its armies were in the field, and the quick and signal triumph of its forces on land and sea bore equal tribute to the courage of American soldiers and sailors and to the skill and foresight of Republican statesmanship. To ten millions of the human race there was given "a new birth of freedom," and to the American people a new and noble responsibility.

We indorse the Administration of William McKinley. Its acts have been established in wisdom and in patriotism, and at home and abroad it has distinctly created and extended the influence of the American Nation.

The Administration Indorsed.

Walking untrodden paths and facing unforeseen responsibilities, President McKinley has been in every situation the true American patriot and the upright statesman, clear in vision, strong in judgment, firm in action, always inspiring and deserving the confidence of his countrymen. In asking the American people to indorse this Republican record and to renew their commission to the Republican party, we remind them of the fact that the menace to their prosperity has always resided in Democratic principles, and no less in the general incapacity of the Democratic party to conduct public affairs. The prime essential of business prosperity is public confidence in the good sense of the Government and in its ability to deal intelligently with each new problem of administration and legislation. That confidence the Democratic party has never earned. It is hopelessly inadequate, and the country's prosperity when Democratic success at the polls is announced halts and ceases in mere anticipation of Democratic blunders and failures.

We renew our allegiance to the principle of the gold standard, and declare our confidence in the wisdom of the legislation of the LVth Congress, by which the parity of all our money and the stability of our currency upon a gold basis have been secured. We recognize that interest rates are a potent factor in production and business activity, and for the purpose of further equalizing and of further lowering the rates of interest we favor such monetary legislation as will enable the varying needs of the season and of all sections to be promptly met, in order that trade may be evenly sustained, labor steadily employed and commerce enlarged. The volume of money in circulation was never so great per capita as it is to-day. We declare our steadfast opposition to the free and unlimited coinage of silver. No measure to that end could be considered which was without the support of the leading commercial countries of the world. However firmly Republican legislation may seem to have secured the country against the peril of base and discredited currency, the election of a Democratic President could not fail to impair the country's credit and to bring once more into question the intention of the American people to maintain upon the gold standard the parity of their money circulation. The Democratic party must be convinced that the American people will never tolerate the Chicago platform.

We recognize the necessity and propriety of the honest co-operation of capital to meet new business conditions, and especially to extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but we condemn all conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, to create monopolies, to limit production or to control prices, and favor such legislation as will effectively restrain and prevent all such abuses.

Trade Conspiracies Condemned.

protect and promote competition and secure the rights of producers, labor is and all who are engaged in industry and commerce.

We renew our faith in the policy of protection to American labor. In that policy our industries have been established, diversified and maintained. By protecting the home market competition has been stimulated and production cheapened. Opportunity for the inventive genius of our people has been secured and wages in every department of labor maintained at high rates, higher now than ever before and always distinguishing our working people in their better conditions of life from those of any competing country. Enjoying the blessings of the American common school, secure in the right of self-government and protected in the occupancy of their own markets, their constantly increasing knowledge and skill have enabled them finally to enter the markets of the world.

Protection.

We favor the associated policy of reciprocity so directed as to open our markets on favorable terms for what we do not ourselves produce, in return for free foreign markets.

Reciprocity.

In the further interest of American workmen we favor a more effective restriction of the immigration of cheap labor from foreign lands, the extension of opportunities of education for working children, the raising of the age limit for child labor, the protection of free labor as against contract convict labor, and an effective system of labor insurance.

Immigration.

Our present dependence upon foreign shipping for nine-tenths of our foreign carrying is a great loss to the industry of this country. It is also a serious danger to our trade, for its sudden withdrawal in the event of European war would seriously cripple our expanding foreign commerce. The National defence and naval efficiency of this country, moreover, supply a compelling reason for legislation which will enable us to recover our former place among the trade carrying fleets of the world.

Shipping.

The Nation owes a debt of profound gratitude to the soldiers and sailors who have fought its battles, and it is the Government's duty to provide for the survivors and for the widows and orphans of those who have fallen in the country's wars. The pension laws, founded in this just sentiment, should be liberal, and should be liberally administered, and preference should be given wherever practicable with respect to employment in the public service to soldiers and sailors and to their widows and orphans.

We commend the policy of the Republican party in maintaining the efficiency of the Civil Service. The Administration has acted wisely in its effort to secure for public service in Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands only those whose fitness has been determined by training and experience. We believe that employment in the public service in these territories should be confined as far as practicable to their inhabitants.

Civil Service.

It was the plain purpose of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution to prevent discrimination on account of race or color in regulating the elective franchise. Devices of State governments, whether by statutory or constitutional enactment, to avoid the purpose of this amendment are revolutionary and should be condemned.

Fifteenth Amendment.

Public movements looking to a permanent improvement of the roads and highways of the country meet with our cordial approval, and we recommend this subject to the earnest consideration of the people and of the Legislatures of the several States. We favor the extension of the rural free delivery service wherever its extension may be justified.

Public Works.

In further pursuance of the constant policy of the Republican party to provide free homes on the public domain, we recommend adequate National legislation to reclaim the arid lands of the United States, reserving control of the distribution of water for irrigation to the respective States and Territories.

We favor home rule for and the early admission to Statehood of the Territories of New-Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma.

The Dingley act, amended to provide sufficient revenue for the conduct of the war, has so well performed its work that it has been possible to reduce the war debt in the sum of $40,000,000. So ample are the Government's revenues and so great is the public confidence in the integrity of its obligations that its newly funded 2 per cent bonds sell at a premium. The country is now justified in expecting, and it will be the policy of the Republican party to bring about, a reduction of the war taxes.

War Taxes.

We favor the construction, ownership, control and protection of an isthmian canal by the Government of the United States. New markets are necessary for the increasing surplus of our farm products. Every effort should be made to open and obtain new markets, especially in the Orient, and the Administration is warmly to be commended for its successful effort to commit all trading and colonizing nations to the policy of the open door in China. In the interest of our expanding commerce we recommend that Congress create a department of commerce and industries, in the charge of a secretary with a seat in the Cabinet.

Isthmian Canal.

The United States consular system should be reorganized under the supervision of this new department, upon such a basis of appointment and tenure as will render it still more serviceable to the Nation's increasing trade. The American Government must protect the person and property of every citizen wherever they are wrongfully violated or placed in peril.

Consuls.

We congratulate the women of America upon their splendid record of public service in the volunteer aid association, and as nurses in camp and hospital during the recent campaigns of our armies in the Eastern and Western Indies, and we appreciate their faithful co-operation in all works of education and industry.

Women in War.

President McKinley has conducted the foreign affairs of the United States with distinguished credit to the American people. In releasing us from the vexatious conditions of a European alliance for the government of Samoa his course is especially to be commended. By securing to our undivided control the most important island of the Samoan group and the best harbor in the Southern Pacific, every American interest has been safeguarded. We approve the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States. We commend the part taken by our Government in the Peace Conference at The Hague. We assert our steadfast adherence to the policy announced in the Monroe Doctrine. The provisions of The Hague Convention were wisely regarded when President McKinley tendered his friendly offices in the interest of peace between Great Britain and the South African republics. While the American Government must continue the policy prescribed by Washington, affirmed by every succeeding President and imposed upon us by The Hague Treaty, of non-intervention in European controversies, the American people earnestly hope that a way may soon be found, honorable alike to both contending parties, to terminate the strife between them. In accepting by the Treaty of Paris the just responsibility of our victories in the Spanish war the President and the Senate won the undoubted approval of the American people. No other course was possible than to destroy Spain's sovereignty throughout the West Indies and in the Philippine Islands. That course created our responsibility before the world, and with the unorganized population whom our intervention had freed from Spain, to provide for the maintenance of law and order, and for the establishment of good government and for the performance of international obligations. Our authority could not be less than our responsibility, and wherever sovereign rights were extended it became the high duty of the Government to maintain its authority, to put down armed insurrection and to confer the blessings of liberty and civilization upon all the rescued peoples. The largest measure of self-government consistent with their welfare and our duties shall be secured to them by law. To Cuba independence and self-government were assured in the same voice by which war was declared, and to the letter this pledge will be performed. The Republican party upon its history, and upon this declaration of its principles and policies, confidently invokes the considerate and approving judgment of the American people.

SILVER REPUBLICAN.

At a convention held at Kansas City July 4 to 6, 1900, the Republicans who bolted the gold standard and favored the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 nominated William J. Bryan for President. There was a strong desire on the part of the convention to nominate Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota, for Vice-President, but after a stormy argument, and a determined effort on the part of the cooler minority to prevent hasty action, Mr. Towne himself personally pleaded against his own nomination. The convention finally left the nomination to the National Committee of the Silver Republican party, which met and nominated Mr. Stevenson. The platform adopted follows:

We, the Silver Republican party, in National Convention assembled, declare these as our principles, and invite the co-operation of all who agree therewith: We recognize that the principles set forth in the Declaration of American Independence are fundamental and everlastingly true in their application to governments among men. We believe the patriotic words of Washington's farewell address to be the words of soberness and wisdom, inspired by the spirit of right and truth. We treasure the words of Jefferson as priceless gems of American statesmanship. We hold in sacred remembrance the patriotism of Lincoln, who was the great interpreter of American history and the apostle of human rights and of industrial freedom, and we declare, as was declared by the convention that nominated the great Emancipator, that the maintenance of the principles promulgated in the Declaration of Independence and embodied in the Federal Constitution, "that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed," is essential to the preservation of our republican institutions. We declare our adherence to the principles of bimetallism as the right basis of a monetary system under our National Constitution, a principle that found place repeatedly in Republican platforms from the demonetization of silver in 1873 to the St. Louis Republican Convention of 1896. Since that Convention a Republican Congress and a Republican President, at the dictation of the trusts and money power, have passed and approved a currency bill which in itself is a repudiation of the doctrine of bimetallism advocated theretofore by the President and every great leader of his party. This currency law destroys the full money power of the silver dollar, provides for the payment of all Government obligations and the redemption of all forms of paper money in gold alone, retires the time-honored and patriotic greenback, constituting one-sixth of the money in circulation, and surrenders to banking corporations the sovereign function of issuing all paper money, thus enabling these corporations to control the prices of labor and property, and increasing the power of the banks to create panics and bring disaster upon business enterprises. The provision of this currency law making the bonded debt of the Nation payable in gold alone changes the contract between the Government and the bondholders to the advantage of the latter, and is in direct opposition to the declaration of the Matthews resolution passed by Congress in 1878, for which resolution the present Republican President, then a member of Congress, voted, as did also all leading Republicans, both in the House and Senate. We demand the repeal of this currency law, and declare that we shall not cease our efforts until there has been established in its place a monetary system based upon the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into money at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, by the independent action of the United States, under which system all money shall be issued by the Government, and all money coined and issued shall be a full legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, without exception. We approve a graduated tax upon incomes; and if necessary to accomplish this, we favor an amendment to the Constitution. We believe that United States Senators should be elected by direct vote of the people, and we favor such amendment of the Constitution and such legislation as may be necessary to that end. We favor the maintenance and the extension wherever practicable of the merit system in public service, appointments to be made according to fitness, competitively ascertained, and public servants to be retained in office only so long as shall be compatible with the efficiency of the service.

Combinations, trusts and monopolies, contrived and created for the purpose of controlling the prices and quantity of articles supplied to the public, are unjust, oppressive and unlawful. Not only do these unlawful conspiracies fix the prices of commodities, but they invade every branch of State and National government with their polluting influences, and control the actions of their employes and dependents, politically, until such control imperils society and the liberty of the citizen. We demand the most stringent laws for their suppression and the most severe punishment of their promoters and maintainers and the energetic enforcement of such laws by the courts. We believe the Monroe Doctrine to be sound in principle and a wise National policy, and we demand a firm adherence thereto. We condemn those acts of the Administration inconsistent with it, and which have tended to make us parties to the interests and to involve us in the controversies of European nations, and especially the recognition by pending treaty of the right of England to be considered in the construction of an interoceanic canal. We are in favor of the speedy construction of the Nicaragua Canal, to be built, owned and defended by the Government of the United States. We observe with anxiety, and regard with disapproval, the increasing ownership of American lands by aliens; and their growing control over our internal transportation, natural resources and public utilities. We demand legislation to protect our public domain, our natural resources, our franchises and our internal commerce; and to keep them free from, and to maintain their independence of, all foreign monopolies, institutions and influences; and we declare our opposition to the leasing of the public lands of the United States, whereby corporations and syndicates shall be able to secure control thereof, and thus monopolize the public domain, the heritage of the people. We approve of the principle of direct legislation, and favor the application of the same to nominations. In view of their great sacrifices made, and patriotic services rendered, we are in favor of liberal pensions to deserving soldiers and sailors, their widows, orphans and other dependants. We believe that enlistment and service should be accepted as conclusive proof that the soldier was free from disease and disability at the time of his enlistment. We condemn the present administration of the pension laws. We tender to the patriotic people of the South African republics our sympathy, and express our admiration for them in their heroic struggle to preserve their political freedom and maintain their national existence. We declare the destruction of these republics and the subjugation of their people to be a crime against civilization. We believe this sympathy should have been voiced by the American Congress, as was done in the case of the French, Greeks, Hungarians, Poles, Armenians and the Cubans, and as the traditions of this country would have dictated. We declare the Porto Rican tariff law to be not only a serious but a dangerous departure from the principles of our form of government. We believe in the republican form of government; and we are opposed to monarchy, and to the whole theory of imperialistic control. We believe in self-government, a government by the consent of the governed; and are unalterably opposed to a government based upon force. It is incontrovertible that the inhabitants of the Philippine archipelago cannot be made citizens of the United States without endangering our civilization. We are therefore in favor of applying to the Philippines the principle we are solemnly and publicly pledged to observe in the case of Cuba. We demand that our Nation's promise to Cuba shall be fulfilled in every particular. There being no longer any necessity for collecting war taxes, we demand relief from the taxes levied to carry on the war with Spain. We favor the immediate admission into the Union of States of the Territories of Arizona, New-Mexico and Oklahoma. We believe the National Government should lend encouragement and assistance toward the reclamation of the arid lands of the United States; and to that end, we are in favor of a comprehensive survey thereof, and an immediate ascertainment of the water supply available for such reclamation, and we believe it to be the duty of the general Government to provide for the construction of storage reservoirs and irrigation works so that the water supply of the arid region may be utilized to the greatest possible extent in the interest of the people, while preserving all rights of the States. Transportation is a public necessity, and the means and methods of it are matters of public concern. Transportation companies exercise an unwarranted power over industries, business and commerce, and should be made to serve the public interests without making unreasonable charges or unjust discriminations. We observe with satisfaction the growing sentiment among the people in favor of the public ownership and operation of public utilities. We are in favor of expanding our commerce in the interest of American labor and for the benefit of all our people by every honest and peaceful means. We are opposed to the importation of Asiatic laborers in competition with American labor; and favor a more rigid enforcement of the laws relating thereto. Our creed and our history justify the nations of the earth in expecting that, wherever the American flag is unfurled in authority, there human liberty and political freedom shall be found. We protest against the adoption of any policy that will change, in the thought of the world, the meaning of our flag. We insist that it shall never float over any ship or wave at the head of any column directed against the political independence of any people of any race or in any clime. The Silver Republican party of the United States, in the foregoing principles, seeks to perpetuate the spirit and to adhere to the teachings of Abraham Lincoln.

NATIONAL LEAGUE OF REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

In St. Paul, Minn., on July 18, 1900, the twelfth National convention of the National League of Republican Clubs was held. The Committee on Credentials reported delegations present from Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indian Territory, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New-Jersey, New-York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, West Virginia and the College League, with 1,410 votes. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Isaac Miller Hamilton, Illinois; vice-president-at-large, Luther W. Mott, Oswego, N. Y.; secretary, D. H. Stine, Kentucky; treasurer, J. B. Wiggins, Pennsylvania. The Committee on Resolutions presented the following report, which was unanimously adopted: Upon the happy and prosperous condition of the entire country the league congratulates the people of the United States. Allegiance is pledged anew to the principles of the Republican party, which, ably and bravely carried into execution by the National Administration, have made these conditions possible. Every action of President McKinley is approved, the Philadelphia platform is indorsed, and it is declared that the Republican party stands to-day, as ever, for positive policies, for a protective tariff, for sound money, for the control and regulation of combinations of capital that have a legitimate purpose and the destruction of those that have an illegitimate purpose; for the retention of every inch of territory that comes to us by honorable treaty and international law, for the development of the marvellous commercial possibilities of the Orient, for the restoration of our merchant marine, and, finally, it stands for the progress of the United States and the uplifting of mankind throughout the world. As representatives of the younger element of the Republican party we have a peculiar pride in the nomination for the Vice-Presidency of Theodore Roosevelt, whom we regard as a lofty and inspiring type of the American statesman and soldier. The incapacity of the Democratic party brought poverty to the door of labor, distrust to the hope of capital and despair to the homes of the poor. Its activity is a threat to the material prosperity of the country, and its triumph will be an individual and public disaster. To prevent this we invoke sobriety of judgment and vigor of action in the coming campaign. The Republican party has ever been a builder. Its every platform has rung with the spirit of progress and hope. Democracy has ever been a destroyer. Its every platform has groaned with the spirit of pessimism and opposition. The American people will never believe that the builder has become the destroyer and the destroyer the builder. We deplore the conditions now existing in China, and we assure the American people that a Republican Administration will protect all our interests, demanding full indemnity for the past and security for the future. As firmly as we believe in America and her institutions we believe the party that will guide and maintain us in the great future is the party of Abraham Lincoln, supported by Ulysses S. Grant and exalted by William McKinley.

DEMOCRATIC.

The Democratic National Convention met at Kansas City, Mo., on July 3, 1900. The chief incident previous to the meeting of the Convention was the exclusion of ex-Senator David B. Hill, of New-York, from the Resolutions Committee. Through the efforts of Richard Croker the New-York delegation on July 3 chose Augustus Van Wyck, of Brooklyn, as their representative on the Resolutions Committee by a vote of 36 to 28 for Hill, eight members of the delegation not voting. The first day of the Convention—July 4—was devoted to routine and preliminary work. Governor Thomas of Colorado, the temporary chairman, and James D. Richardson, the permanent chairman, made speeches. On July 5 William J. Bryan was unanimously nominated for President, W. D. Oldham, of Nebraska, making the chief nominating speech. On this day the platform, containing a specific declaration for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, but proclaiming "imperialism" as "the paramount issue," was adopted. The choice for Vice-President seemed to lie between Charles A. Towne and Adlai E. Stevenson. On July 6—the third day's session of the Convention—Adlai E. Stevenson was nominated for Vice-President on the first ballot. Towne, and Hill against his own protest made from the platform, received votes for the nomination, but Stevenson won it with many votes to spare. The nominations for both President and Vice-President were practically unanimous, there being no contest to speak of on the floor of the Convention. The Convention adjourned sine die on July 6, after nominating Stevenson.

The Platform.

On July 5 the Convention adopted the following platform:

We, the representatives of the Democratic party of the United States, assembled in National Convention on the anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, do reaffirm our faith in that immortal proclamation of the inalienable rights of man, and our allegiance to the Constitution framed in harmony therewith by the fathers of the Republic. We hold with the United States Supreme Court that the Declaration of Independence is the spirit of our Government, of which the Constitution is the form and letter. We declare again that all governments instituted among men derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; that any government not based upon the consent of the governed is a tyranny; and that to impose upon any people a government of force is to substitute the methods of imperialism for those of a republic. We hold that the Constitution follows the flag and denounce the doctrine that an Executive or Congress, deriving their existence and their powers from the Constitution, can exercise lawful authority beyond it, or in violation of it. We assert that no nation can long endure half republic and half empire, and we warn the American people that imperialism abroad will lead quickly and inevitably to despotism at home.

Believing in these fundamental principles, we denounce the Porto Rican law, enacted by a Republican Congress against the protest and opposition of the Democratic minority, as a bold and open violation of the Nation's organic law and a flagrant breach of National good faith. It imposes upon the people of Porto Rico a government without their consent, and taxation without representation.

Porto Rican Law Denounced.

It dishonors the American people by repudiating a solemn pledge made in their behalf by the commanding general of our Army, which the Porto Ricans welcomed to a peaceful and unresisted occupation of their land. It dooms to poverty and distress a people whose helplessness appeals with peculiar force to our justice and magnanimity. In this, the first act of its Imperialistic programme, the Republican party seeks to commit the United States to a colonial policy inconsistent with republican institutions and condemned by the Supreme Court in numerous decisions.

We demand the prompt and honest fulfilment of our pledge to the Cuban people and the world, that the United States has no disposition nor intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction, or control over the Island of Cuba, except for its pacification. The war ended nearly two years ago, profound peace reigns over all the island, and still the Administration keeps the government of the island from its people, while Republican carpetbag officials plunder its revenues and exploit the colonial theory to the disgrace of the American people.

We condemn and denounce the Philippine policy of the present Administration. It has embroiled the Republic in an unnecessary war, sacrificed the lives of many of its noblest sons, and placed the United States, previously known and applauded throughout the world as the champion of freedom, in the false and un-American position of crushing with military force the efforts of our former allies to achieve liberty and self-government. The Filipinos cannot be citizens without endangering our civilization; they cannot be subjects without imperilling our form of government; and as we are not willing to surrender our civilization, or to convert the Republic into an empire, we favor an immediate declaration of the Nation's purpose to give to the Filipinos, first, a stable form of government; second, independence; and third, protection from outside interference such as has been given for nearly a century to the republics of Central and South America. The greedy commercialism which dictated the Philippine policy of the Republican Administration attempts to justify it with the plea that it will pay, but even this sordid and unworthy plea fails when brought to the test of facts. The war of "criminal aggression" against the Filipinos, entailing an annual expense of many millions, has already cost more than any possible profit that could accrue from the entire Philippine trade for years to come. Furthermore, when trade is extended at the expense of liberty the price is always too high.

We are not opposed to territorial expansion, when it takes in desirable territory which can be erected into States in the Union, and whose people are willing and fit to become American citizens. We favor trade expansion by every peaceful and legitimate means. But we are unalterably opposed to the seizing or purchasing of distant islands to be governed outside the Constitution and whose people can never become citizens. We are in favor of extending the Republic's influence among the nations, but believe that influence should be extended not by force and violence, but through the persuasive power of a high and honorable example.

The importance of other questions now pending before the American people is in nowise diminished and the Democratic party takes no backward step from its position on them; but the burning issue of imperialism, growing out of the Spanish war, involving the very existence of the Republic and the destruction of our free institutions, we regard as the paramount issue of the campaign.

The Paramount Issue.

The declaration of the Republican platform adopted at the Philadelphia Convention, held in June, 1900, that the Republican party "steadfastly adheres to the policy announced in the Monroe Doctrine," is manifestly insincere and deceptive. This profession is contradicted by the avowed policy of that party, in opposition to the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine, to acquire and hold sovereignty over large areas of territory and large numbers of people in the Eastern Hemisphere. We insist on the strict maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine in all its integrity, both in letter and in spirit, as necessary to prevent the extension of European authority on these continents and as essential to our supremacy in American affairs. At the same time we declare that no American people shall ever be held by force in unwilling subjection to European authority.

We oppose militarism. It means conquest abroad and intimidation and oppression at home. It means the strong arm which has ever been fatal to free institutions. It is what millions of our citizens have fled from in Europe.

Opposition to Militarism.

It will impose upon our peace loving people a large standing army, an unnecessary burden of taxation, and would be a constant menace to their liberties. A small standing army and a well disciplined State militia are amply sufficient in time of peace. This Republic has no place for a vast military establishment, a sure forerunner of compulsory military service and conscription. When the Nation is in danger the volunteer soldier is his country's best defender. The National Guard of the United States should ever be cherished in the patriotic hearts of a free people. Such organizations are ever an element of strength and safety. For the first time in our history and coeval with the Philippine conquest has there been a wholesale departure from our time honored and approved system of volunteer organization. We denounce it as un-American, undemocratic and unrepudican and as a subversion of the ancient and fixed principles of a free people.

Private monopolies are indefensible and intolerable. They destroy competition, control the price of raw material and of the finished product, thus robbing both producer and consumer. They lessen the employment of labor and arbitrarily fix the terms and conditions thereof; and deprive individual energy and small capital of their opportunity for betterment. They are the most efficient means yet devised for appropriating the fruits of industry to the benefit of the few at the expense of the many, and, unless their insatiable greed is checked, all wealth will be aggregated in a few hands and the Republic destroyed. The dishonest paltering with the trust evil by the Republican party in its State and National platforms is conclusive proof of the truth of the charge that trusts are the legitimate product of Republican policies, that they are fostered by Republican laws, and that they are protected by the Republican Administration in return for campaign subscriptions and political support. We pledge the Democratic party to an unceasing warfare in Nation, State and city against private monopoly in every form. Existing laws against trusts must be enforced and more stringent ones must be enacted providing for publicity as to the affairs of corporations engaged in interstate commerce and requiring all corporations to show, before doing business outside of the State of their origin, that they have no water in their stock, and that they have not attempted and are not attempting to monopolize any branch of business or the production of any articles of merchandise; and the whole constitutional power of Congress over interstate commerce, the mails and all modes of interstate communication shall be exercised by the enactment of comprehensive law, upon the subject of trusts. Tariff laws should be amended by putting the products of trusts upon the free list, to prevent monopoly under the plea of protection. The failure of the present Republican Administration, with an absolute control over all the branches of the National Government, to enact any legislation designed to prevent or even curtail the absorbing power of trusts and illegal combinations, or to enforce the anti-trust laws already on the statute books, proves the insincerity of the high sounding phrases of the Republican platform. Corporations should be protected in all their rights and their legitimate interests should be respected, but any attempt by corporations to interfere with the public affairs of the people or to control the sovereignty which creates them should be forbidden under such penalties as will make such attempts impossible. We condemn the Dingley tariff law as a trust breeding measure skillfully devised to give to the few favors which they do not deserve, and to place upon the many burdens which they should not bear. We favor such an enlargement of the scope of the Interstate Commerce law as will enable the Commission to protect individuals and communities from discrimination and the public from unjust and unfair transportation rates.

We reaffirm and indorse the principles of the National Democratic platform adopted at Chicago in 1896 and we reiterate the demand of that platform for an American Financial System.

American financial system made by the American people for themselves, which shall restore and maintain a bimetallic price level, and as part of such system the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation.

We denounce the currency bill enacted at the last session of Congress as a step forward in the Republican policy which aims to discredit the sovereign right of the National Government to issue all money, whether coin or paper, and to bestow upon National banks the power to issue and control the volume of paper money for their own benefit. A permanent National bank currency, secured by Government bonds, must have a permanent debt to rest upon, and, if the bank currency is to increase with population and business, the debt must also increase. The Republican currency scheme is, therefore, a scheme for fastening upon the taxpayers a perpetual and growing debt for the benefit of the banks. We are opposed to this private corporation paper circulated as money, but without legal tender qualities, and demand the retirement of National bank notes as fast as Government paper or silver certificates can be substituted for them. We favor an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and we favor direct legislation wherever practicable. We are opposed to government by injunction; we denounce the blacklist, and favor arbitration as a means of settling disputes between corporations and their employees.

In the interest of American labor and the upbuilding of the workingman as the cornerstone of the prosperity of our country, we recommend that Congress create a Department of Labor.

Department of Labor, in charge of a Secretary, with a seat in the Cabinet, believing that the elevation of the American laborer will bring with it increased production and increased prosperity to our country at home and to our commerce abroad. We are proud of the courage and fidelity of the American soldiers and sailors in all our wars; we favor liberal pensions to them and their dependents; and we reiterate the position taken in the Chicago platform in 1896, that the fact of enlistment and service shall be deemed conclusive evidence against disease and disability before enlistment.

We favor the immediate construction, ownership and control of the Nicaraguan Canal by the United States, and we denounce the insincerity of the plank in the Republican National platform for an Isthmian canal, in the face of the failure of the Republican majority to pass the bill pending in Congress. We condemn the Hay-Pauncefote treaty as a surrender of American rights and interests, not to be tolerated by the American people. We denounce the failure of the Republican party to carry out its pledges to grant statehood to the Territories of Arizona, New-Mexico and Oklahoma, and we promise the people of those Territories immediate statehood, and home rule during their condition as Territories; and we favor home rule and a territorial form of government for Alaska and Porto Rico. We favor an intelligent system of improving the arid lands of the West, storing the waters for the purposes of irrigation, and the holding of such lands for actual settlers. We favor the continuance and strict enforcement of the Chinese Exclusion law and its application to the same classes of all Asiatic races.

Jefferson said: "Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none." We approve this wholesome doctrine and earnestly protest against the Republican departure which has involved us in so-called world politics, including the diplomacy of Europe and the intrigue and land grabbing in Asia, and we especially condemn the ill concealed Republican alliance with Alliance with England.

England, which must mean discrimination against other friendly nations, and which has already stifled the Nation's voice while liberty is being strangled in Africa.

Believing in the principles of self-government and rejecting, as did our forefathers, the claims of monarchy, we view with indignation the purpose of England to overwhelm with force the South African Republics. Speaking, as we believe, for the entire American Nation, except its Republican officeholders, and for all free men everywhere, we extend our sympathy to the heroic burghers in their unequal struggle to maintain their liberty and independence.

We denounce the lavish appropriations of recent Republican Congresses, which have kept taxes high and which threaten the perpetuation of the oppressive war levies. We oppose the accumulation of a surplus to be squandered in such barefaced frauds upon the taxpayers as the Shipping Subsidy bill, which, under the false pretence of fostering American shipbuilding, would put unearned millions into the pockets of favorite contributors to the Republican campaign fund. We favor the reduction and speedy repeal of the war taxes, and a return to the time honored Democratic policy of strict economy in governmental expenditures.

Believing that our most cherished institutions are in great peril, that the very existence of our constitutional Republic is at stake, and that the decision now to be rendered will determine whether or not our children are to enjoy those blessed privileges of free government which have made the United States great, prosperous and honored, we earnestly ask for the foregoing declaration of principles the hearty support of the liberty loving American people, regardless of previous party affiliations.

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS.

The present Social Democratic party is the result of the amalgamation of the original Social Democratic party, founded on June 13, 1898, at Chicago, Ill., and the Socialist Labor Party, formed some years ago in New-York City. This amalgamation was brought about by the Socialist Labor party, in convention at Rochester, N. Y., in January, 1900, appointing a committee to meet with the convention of the Social Democratic party at Indianapolis, Ind., in March, 1900. This convention appointed a committee, and the two committees met in New-York City on March 25, and submitted to the referendum of both parties a plan of union, which was adopted July 10, and a Provisional Executive Committee chosen. At Chicago, on September 29, the nomination of Eugene V. Debs, of Illinois, for the Presidency, and Job Harriman, of California, for the Vice-Presidency, was ratified. The following platform was adopted:

The Platform.

September 29.—The Social Democratic party of the United States, in convention assembled, reaffirms its allegiance to the revolutionary principles of International Socialism and declares the supreme political issue in America to-day to be the contest between the working class and the capitalist class for the possession of the powers of government. The party affirms its steadfast purpose to use those powers, once achieved, to destroy wage slavery, abolish the institution of private property in the means of production, and establish the co-operative Commonwealth. In the United States, as in all other civilized countries, the natural order of economic development has separated society into two antagonistic classes—the capitalists, a comparatively small class, the possessors of all the modern means of production and distribution (land, mines, machinery and means of transportation and communication), and the large and ever increasing class of wage workers, possessing no means of production. This economic supremacy has secured to the dominant class the full control of the government, the pulpit, the schools, and the public press; it has thus made the capitalist class the arbiter of the fate of the workers, whom it is reducing to a condition of dependence, economically exploited and oppressed, intellectually and physically crippled and degraded, and their political equality rendered a bitter mockery. The contest between these two classes grows ever sharper. Hand in hand with the growth of monopolies goes the annihilation of small industries and of the middle class depending upon them; ever larger grows the multitude of destitute wage workers and of the unemployed, and ever fiercer the struggle between the class of the exploiter and the exploited, the capitalists and the wage workers. The evil effects of capitalist production are intensified by the recurring industrial crises which render the existence of the greater part of the population still more precarious and uncertain. These facts amply prove that the modern means of production have outgrown the existing social order based on production for profit. Human energy and natural resources are wasted for individual gain. Ignorance is fostered that wage slavery may be perpetuated. Science and invention are perverted to the exploitation of men, women, and children. The lives and liberties of the working class are recklessly sacrificed for profit. Wars are fomented between nations; indiscriminate slaughter is encouraged; the destruction of whole races is sanctioned, in order that the capitalist class may extend its commercial dominion abroad and enhance its supremacy at home. The introduction of a new and higher order of society is the historic mission of the working class. All other classes, despite their apparent or actual conflicts, are interested in upholding the system of private ownership in the means of production. The Democratic, Republican, and all other parties which do not stand for the complete overthrow of the capitalist system of production are alike the tools of the capitalist class. Their policies are injurious to the interest of the working class, which can be served only by the abolition of the profit system. The workers can most effectively act as a class in their struggle against the collective power of the capitalist class only by constituting themselves into a political party, distinct and opposed to all parties formed by the propertied classes. We, therefore, call upon the wage workers of the United States without distinction of color, race, sex, or creed, and upon all citizens in sympathy with the historic mission of the working class, to organize under the banner of the Social Democratic party, as a party truly representing the interests of the toiling masses and uncompromisingly waging war upon the exploiting class, until the system of wage slavery shall be abolished and the co-operative Commonwealth shall be set up. Pending the accomplishment of this our ultimate purpose, we pledge every effort of the Social Democratic party for the immediate improvement of the condition of labor and for the securing of its progressive demands. As steps in that direction, we make the following demands: First—Revision of our Federal Constitution, in order to remove the obstacles to complete control of government by the people, irrespective of sex. Second—The public ownership of all industries controlled by monopolies, trusts and combines. Third—The public ownership of all railroads, telegraphs and telephones; all means of transportation; all waterworks, gas and electric plants, and other public utilities. Fourth—The public ownership of all gold, silver, copper, lead, iron, coal and other mines, and all oil and gas wells. Fifth—The reduction of the hours of labor in proportion to the increasing facilities of production. Sixth—The inauguration of a system of public works and improvements for the employment of the unemployed, the public credit to be utilized for that purpose. Seventh—Useful inventions to be free, the inventors to be remunerated by the public. Eighth—Labor legislation to be National, instead of local, and international when possible. Ninth—National insurance of working people against accidents, lack of employment, and want in old age. Tenth—Equal civil and political rights for men and women and the abolition of all laws discriminating against women. Eleventh—The adoption of the initiative and referendum, proportional representation, and the right of recall of representatives by the voters. Twelfth—Abolition of war and the introduction of international arbitration.

POPULIST (Middle of the Road).

At Cincinnati, Ohio, on May 10, 1900, the Middle of the Road Populists nominated Wharton Barker for President and Ignatius Donnelly for Vice-President, and adopted a platform in substance as follows: (1) We demand the initiative and referendum and the imperative mandate or such changes of existing fundamental and statute laws as will enable the people in their sovereign capacity to propose and compel the enactment of such laws as they desire; to reject such as they deem injurious to their interests, and to recall unfaithful public servants. (2) We demand the public ownership and operation of those means of communication, transportation and production which the people may elect, such as railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, coal mines, etc. (3) The land, including all natural sources of wealth, is a heritage of the people, and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs and all lands now owned by aliens should be reclaimed by the Government and held for actual settlers only. (4) A scientific and absolute paper money, based upon the entire wealth and population of the Nation, not redeemable in any specific commodity, but made a full legal tender for all debts and receivable for all taxes and public dues and issued by the Government only without the intervention of banks and in sufficient quantity to meet the demands of commerce, is the best currency that can be devised; but until such a financial system is secured, which we shall press for adoption, we favor the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the legal ratio of 16 to 1. (5) We demand the levy and collection of a graduated tax on incomes and inheritances, and a constitutional amendment to secure the same, if necessary. (6) We demand the election of President, Vice-President, Federal Judges and United States Senators by direct vote of the people. (7) We are opposed to trusts, and declare the contention between the old parties on the monopoly question is a sham battle, and that no solution of this mighty problem is possible without the adoption of the principles of public ownership of public utilities.

PEOPLE'S PARTY (Fusion).

The Fusion wing of the People's party met at Sioux Falls, S. D., on May 10, 1900, and nominated William J. Bryan and Charles A. Towne (of Minnesota) for President and Vice-President, respectively. In the platform the resolutions on imperialism and militarism deplored the conduct of the Administration in the Spanish-American War and denounced its conduct in connection with the Philippines. With reference to Porto Rico it was set forth that the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the American flag are one and inseparable. It was also declared that the island of Porto Rico is a part of the territory of the United States, made so by our promises and the consent of the Porto Ricans themselves. There was a strong resolution of sympathy for the Boers, a declaration against the monopolizing of public land for speculative purposes, a demand for a return to the original homestead policy, a declaration for the placing of all goods controlled by the trusts upon the free tariff list, a condemnation for the Governor of Idaho and the Federal Government in connection with the Cœur d'Alene troubles, and the usual demand for the initiative and referendum. Trusts were denounced, and the Populist method for the control of public utilities, such as the railroads and the telegraphic systems, and of the issuance of money, was recommended as the proper remedy to cope with the trust evil. The gold standard act of the present Congress was denounced in strong terms, and it was asserted that, "while barring out the money of the Constitution, this law opens the printing mints of the Treasury to the free coinage of paper money to enrich the few and impoverish the many." The party was pledged anew "never to cease agitation until the financial conspiracy is blotted from the statute books, the Lincoln greenback restored and the bonds all paid and all corporation money forever retired." The system of issuing injunctions in cases of dispute between employers and employes was under certain circumstances denounced as an evil. The election of President, Vice-President and United States Senators by direct vote of the people was urged, as also were Government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines, home rule in the Territories, the employment of idle labor on public works in time of depression, the payment of just pensions to disabled soldiers and the establishment of postal savings banks.

On August 8 Mr. Towne withdrew, and on August 28 the National Executive Committee named Adlai E. Stevenson in his place.

PROHIBITION.

The Prohibition party held its National Convention at Chicago on June 27 and 28, 1900, and nominated John G. Woolley, of Chicago, for President, over Dr. S. C. Swallow, of Harrisburg, Penn.

Henry B. Metcalf, of Rhode Island, was nominated for Vice-President, and the Convention adopted a platform denouncing the liquor traffic, insisting on straightout prohibition as a National issue and attacking the Administration on the canteen question.

The Platform.

Among other things the platform said:

We propose as a first step in the financial problems of the Nation to save more than a billion of dollars every year, now annually expended to support the liquor traffic and to demoralize our people. When that is accomplished, conditions will have so improved that with a clearer atmosphere the country can address itself to the questions as to the kind and quantity of currency needed.

We reaffirm as true indisputably the declaration of William Windom when Secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Arthur, that "Considered socially, financially, politically or morally, the licensed liquor traffic is or ought to be the overwhelming issue in American politics," and that "the destruction of this iniquity stands next on the calendar of the world's progress." We hold that the existence of our party presents this issue squarely to the American people, and lays upon them the responsibility of choice between liquor parties, dominated by distillers and brewers, with their policy of saloon perpetuation, breeding waste, wickedness, woe, pauperism, taxation, corruption and crime, and our one party of patriotic and moral principle, with a policy which defends it from domination by corrupt bosses and which insures it forever against the blighting control of saloon politics. We face with sorrow, shame and fear the awful fact that this liquor traffic has a grip on our government, municipal, State and National, through the revenue system and saloon sovereignty, which no other party dares to dispute; a grip which dominates the party now in power, from caucus to Congress, from policeman to President, from the rum-shop to the White House; a grip which compels the Chief Executive to consent that law shall be nullified in behalf of the brewer, that the canteen shall curse our Army and spread intemperance across the seas, and that our flag shall wave as the symbol of partnership at home and abroad between this Government and the men who defy and defile it for their unholy gain.

We charge upon President McKinley, who was elected to his high office by appeals to Christian sentiment and patriotism almost unprecedented and by a combination of moral influences never before seen in this country, that, by his conspicuous example as a wine-drinker at public banquets and as a wine serving host in the White House, he has done more to encourage the liquor business, to demoralize the temperance habits of young men, and to bring Christian practices and requirements into disrepute, than any other President this Republic has ever had.

We further charge upon President McKinley responsibility for the Army canteen, with all its dire brood of disease, immorality, sin and death, in this country, in Cuba, in Porto Rico and the Philippines; and we insist that by his attitude concerning the canteen, and his apparent contempt for the vast number of petitions and petitioners protesting against it, he has outraged and insulted the moral sentiment of this country in such a manner and to such a degree as calls for its righteous uprising and his indignant and effective rebuke. We challenge denial of the fact that our Chief Executive, as commander in chief of the military forces of the United States, at any time prior to or since March 2, 1899, could have closed every Army saloon, called a canteen, by executive order, as President Hayes in effect did before him, and should have closed them, for the same reason that actuated President Hayes; we assert that the act of Congress passed March 2, 1899, forbidding the sale of liquor, "in any post exchange or canteen," by any "officer or private soldier" or by "any other person on any premises used for military purposes in the United States," was and is as explicit an act of prohibition as the English language can frame; we declare our solemn belief that the Attorney-General of the United States in his interpretation of that law, and the Secretary of War in his acceptance of that interpretation and his refusal to enforce the law, were and are guilty of treasonable nullification thereof, and that President McKinley, through his assent to and indorsement of such interpretation and refusal on the part of officials appointed by and responsible to him, shares responsibility in their guilt; and we record our conviction that a new and serious peril confronts our country, in the fact that its President, at the behest of the beer power, dare and does abrogate a law of Congress, through subordinates removable at will by him and whose acts become his, and thus virtually confesses that laws are to be administered or to be nullified in the interest of a law defying business, by an Administration and a mortgage to such business for support.

We deplore the fact that an Administration of this Republic claiming the right and power to carry our flag across seas, and to conquer and annex new territory, should admit its lack of power to prohibit the American saloon on subjugated soil, or should openly confess itself subject to liquor sovereignty under that flag. We are humiliated, exasperated and grieved by the evidence, painfully abundant, that this Administration's policy of expansion is bearing so rapidly its first fruits of drunkenness, insanity and crime under the hothouse sun of the tropics; and when the president of the first Philippine Commission says "It was unfortunate that we introduced and established the saloon there, to corrupt the natives and to exhibit the vices of our race," we charge the inhumanity and un-Christianity of this act upon the Administration of William McKinley and upon the party which elected and would perpetuate the same. We declare that the only policy which the Government of the United States can at right uphold as to the liquor traffic, under the National Constitution, upon any territory under the military or civil control of that Government, is the policy of prohibition; that "to establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity," as the Constitution provides, the liquor traffic must neither be sanctioned nor tolerated, and that the revenue policy which makes our Government a partner with distillers and brewers and barkeepers is a disgrace to our civilization, an outrage upon humanity and a crime against God.

We condemn the present Administration at Washington because it has repealed the prohibitory laws in Alaska, and has given over the partly civilized tribes there to be the prey of the American grog shop; and because it has entered upon a license policy in our new possessions by incorporating the same in the recent act of Congress in the code of laws for the government of the Hawaiian Islands. We call general attention to the fearful fact that exportation of liquors from the United States to the Philippine Islands increased in value from $337 in 1898 to $467,198 in the first ten months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900; and that while our exportation of liquors to Cuba never reached $30,000 a year previous to American occupation of that island, our exports of such liquors to Cuba during the fiscal year of 1899 reached the sum of $629,855.

One great religious body (the Baptist) having truly declared of the liquor traffic "that it has no defensible right to exist, that it can never be reformed, and that it stands condemned by its unrighteous fruits as a thing un-Christian, un-American, and perilous utterly to every interest in life," another great religious body (the Methodist) having as truly asserted and reiterated that "no political party has a right to expect, nor should it receive, the votes of Christian men so long as it stands committed to the license system, or refuses to put itself on record in an attitude of open hostility to the saloon;" other great religious bodies having made similar deliverances, in language plain and unequivocal, as to the liquor traffic and the duty of Christian citizenship in opposition thereto; and the fact being plain and undeniable that the Democratic party stands for license, the saloon and the canteen, while the Republican party, in policy and administration, stands for the canteen, the saloon and the revenue therefrom, we declare ourselves justified in expecting that Christian voters everywhere shall cease their complicity with the liquor curse by refusing to uphold a liquor party, and shall unite themselves with the only party which upholds the prohibition policy, and which for nearly thirty years has been the faithful defender of the Church, the State, the home and the school, against the saloon, its expanders and perpetuators, their actual and persistent foes. We declare that there are but two real parties to-day, concerning the liquor traffic—perpetuationists and Prohibitionists; and that patriotism, Christianity, and every interest of genuine and of pure democracy, besides the loyal demands of our common humanity, require the speedy union, in one solid balance at the ballot box, of all who oppose the liquor traffic's perpetuation, and who covet endurance for this Republic.

SOCIALIST LABOR.

The National Convention met in New-York City on June 2, 1900, and nominated Joseph F. Malloney, of Massachusetts, for President, and Valentine Rimmel, of Pennsylvania, for Vice-President on June 6.

The Platform.

It readopted the declaration of principles of 1896, as follows:

June 2.—The Socialist Labor party of the United States, in convention assembled, reasserts the inalienable right of all men to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. With the founders of the American Republic we hold that the purpose of government is to secure every citizen in the enjoyment of this right; but in the light of our social conditions we hold, furthermore, that no such right can be exercised under a system of economic inequality, essentially destructive of life, of liberty and of happiness. With the founders of this Republic we hold that the true theory of politics is that the machinery of government must be owned and controlled by the whole people; but in the light of our industrial development we hold, furthermore, that the true theory of economics is that the machinery of production must likewise belong to the people in common. To the obvious fact that our despotic system of economics is the direct opposite of our democratic system of politics can plainly be traced the existence of a privileged class, the corruption of government by that class, the alienation of public property, public franchises and public functions to that class, and the abject dependence of the mightiest of nations upon that class. Again, through the perversion of democracy to the ends of plutocracy, labor is robbed of the wealth which it alone produces, is denied the means of self-employment, and, by compulsory idleness in wage slavery, is even deprived of the necessities of life. Human power and natural forces are thus wasted, that the plutocracy may rule. Ignorance and misery, with all their concomitant evils, are perpetuated, that the people may be kept in bondage. Science and invention are diverted from their humane purpose to the enslavement of women and children. Against such a system the Socialist Labor party once more enters its protest. Once more it reiterates its fundamental declaration that private property in the natural sources of production and in the instruments of labor is the obvious cause of all economic servitude and political dependence. The time is fast coming when, in the natural course of social evolution, this system, through the destructive action of its failures and crises on the one hand, and the constructive tendencies of its trusts and other capitalistic combinations on the other hand, shall have worked out its own downfall. We therefore call upon the wage workers of the United States, and upon all other honest citizens, to organize under the banner of the Socialist Labor party into a class-conscious body, aware of its rights and determined to conquer them by taking possession of the public powers; so that, held together by an indomitable spirit of solidarity under the most trying conditions of the present class struggle, we may put a summary end to that barbarous struggle by the abolition of classes, the restoration of the land and of all the means of production, transportation and distribution to the people as a collective body, and the substitution of the co-operative Commonwealth for the present state of planless production, industrial war and social disorder; a Commonwealth in which every worker shall have the free exercise and full benefit of his faculties, multiplied by all the modern factors of civilization.

AMERICAN LEAGUE OF ANTI-IMPERIALISTS.

The Liberty Congress of the American League of Anti-Imperialists met at Indianapolis, Ind., on August 16, 1900, and after vigorous opposition by members of the National or "Third Ticket" Convention, who were also admitted as delegates to the Anti-Imperialist Congress, indorsed the candidacy of William J. Bryan for President. The platform and resolutions were adopted by a viva voce vote, and the exact vote will probably never be known. The platform, as adopted, was as follows:

This Liberty Congress of Anti-Imperialists recognizes a great National crisis, which menaces the Republic, upon whose future depends in such large measure the hope of freedom throughout the world. For the first time in our country's history the President has undertaken to subjugate a foreign people and to rule them by despotic power. He has thrown the protection of the flag over slavery and polygamy in the Sulu Islands. He has abrogated to himself the power to impose upon the inhabitants of the Philippines government without their consent and taxation without representation. He is waging war upon them for asserting the very principles for the maintenance of which our forefathers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. He claims for himself and Congress authority to govern the territories of the United States without constitutional restraint. We believe in the Declaration of Independence. Its truths, not less self-evident to-day than when first announced by our fathers, are of universal application and cannot be abandoned while government by the people endures. We believe in the Constitution of the United States. It gives the President and Congress certain limited powers and secures to every man within the jurisdiction of our Government certain essential rights. We deny that either the President or Congress can govern any person anywhere outside the Constitution.

We are absolutely opposed to the policy of President McKinley, which proposes to govern millions of men without their consent, which in Porto Rico establishes taxation without representation, and government by the arbitrary will of a legislature unfettered by constitutional restraint, and in the Philippines prosecutes a war of conquest and demands unconditional surrender from a people who are of right free and independent. The struggle of men for freedom has ever been a struggle for constitutional liberty. There is no liberty if the citizen has no right which the Legislature may not invade, if he may be taxed by the Legislature in which he is not represented, or if he is not protected by fundamental law against the arbitrary action of executive power. The policy of the President offers the inhabitants of Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines no hope of independence, no prospect of American citizenship, no constitutional protection, no representation in the Congress which taxes them. This is the government of men by arbitrary power without their consent. This is imperialism. There is no room under the free flag of America for subjects. The President and Congress, who derive all their powers from the Constitution, can govern no man without regard to its limitations.

We believe the greatest safeguard of liberty is a free press, and we demand that the censorship in the Philippines, which keeps from the American people the knowledge of what is done in their name, be abolished. We are entitled to know the truth, and we insist that the powers which the President holds in trust for us shall be not used to suppress it.

Censorship Condemned.

Because we thus believe, we oppose the re-election of Mr. McKinley. The supreme purpose of the people in this momentous campaign should be to stamp with their final disapproval his attempt to grasp imperial power.

What the People Should Do.

A self-governing people can have no more imperative duty than to drive from public life a Chief Magistrate who, whether in weakness or of wicked purpose, has used his temporary authority to subvert the character of their government and to destroy their National Ideals.

We, therefore, in the belief that it is essential at this crisis for the American people again to declare their faith in the universal application of the Declaration of Recommendations Urged.

Independence and to reassert their will that their servants shall not have or exercise any powers whatever other than those conferred by the Constitution, earnestly make the following recommendations to our countrymen: First, that, without regard to their views on minor questions of domestic policy, they withhold their votes from Mr. McKinley, in order to stamp with their disapproval what he has done. Second, that they vote for those candidates for Congress in their respective districts who will oppose the policy of imperialism. Third, while we welcome any other method of opposing the re-election of Mr. McKinley, we advise direct support of Mr. Bryan as the most effective means of crushing imperialism. We are convinced of Mr. Bryan's sincerity and of his earnest purpose to secure to the Filipinos their independence. His position and the declarations contained in the platform of his party on the vital issue of the campaign meet our unqualified approval. We recommend that the Executive committees of the American Anti-Imperialist League and its allied leagues continue and extend their organizations, preserving the independence of the movement; and that they take the most active part possible in the pending political campaign.

Until now the policy which has turned the Filipinos from warm friends to bitter enemies, which has slaughtered thousands of them and laid waste their country, has been the policy of the President. After the next election it becomes the policy of every man who votes to re-elect him and who thus becomes with him responsible for every drop of blood thereafter shed. The Congress adopted the resolutions as reported by the committee by a viva voce vote. Less than a score of delegates voted against them.

The following resolution, proposed by W. S. Holden, of Chicago, was added to the platform as reported: Resolved, That in declaring that the principles of the Declaration of Independence apply to all men, this Congress means to include the negro race in America as well as the Filipinos. We deprecate all efforts, whether in the South or in the North, to deprive the negro of his rights as a citizen under the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

NATIONAL FARMERS' ALLIANCE AND INDUSTRIAL UNION.

The fourth annual session of the Supreme Council of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union was held in Washington, D. C., on February 6, 7 and 8, 1900, and pledged its support to the candidates chosen by the Democratic party for President and Vice-President, on the following platform: Whereas, The Declaration of Independence, as a basis of a republican form of government that might be progressive and perpetual, "That all men are created equal, that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed,"

We hold, therefore, that to restore and preserve these rights under a republican form of government, private monopolies of public necessities for speculative purposes, whether of the means of production, distribution or exchange, should be prohibited, and whenever such public necessity or utility becomes a monopoly in private hands, the people of the municipality, State or Union, as the case may be, shall appropriate the same by right of eminent domain, paying a just value therefor, and operate them for and in the interest of the whole people.

Public Ownership. We demand a National currency, safe, sound and flexible; issued by the general Government only, a full legal tender for all debts and receivable for all dues, and an equitable and efficient means of distribution of this currency, directly to the people, at the minimum of expense and without the intervention of banking corporations and Finance. in sufficient volume to transact the business of the country on a cash basis: (a) We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the legal ratio of 16 to 1. (b) We demand a graduated income tax. (c) That our National legislation shall be so framed in the future as not to build up one industry at the expense of another. (d) We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all National and State revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the Government economically and honestly administered. (e) We demand that postal savings banks be established by the Government for the safe deposit of the savings of the people, and to facilitate exchange. (f) We are unalterably opposed to the issue by the United States of interest bearing bonds, and demand the payment of all coin obligations of the United States, as provided by existing laws, in either gold or silver coin, at the option of the Government and not at the option of the creditor.

(a) The Government shall purchase or construct and operate a sufficient mileage of railroads to effectually control all rates of transportation on a just and equitable basis. (b) The telegraph and telephone, like the postoffice system, being a necessity for the transmission of intelligence, should be owned and operated by the Government in the interest of the people.

Land Ownership. We demand that no land shall be held by corporations for speculative purposes or by railroads in excess of their needs as carriers, and all lands now owned by aliens should be reclaimed by the Government and held for actual settlers only.

We demand the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people; that each State shall be divided into two districts of nearly equal voting population, and that a Senator from each shall be elected by the people of the district.

Election of United States Senators. Relying upon the good common sense of the American people, and believing that a majority of them, when uninfluenced by party prejudice, will vote right on all questions submitted to them on their merits; and further to effectually annihilate the pernicious lobby in legislation, we demand direct legislation by means of the initiative referendum. We demand free mail delivery in the rural districts. We demand that the inhabitants of all the territory coming to the United States as a result of the war with Spain be as speedily as possible permitted to organize a free government of their own, based upon the consent of the governed.

THIRD PARTY.

About one hundred volunteer delegates from several States met in Carnegie Hall, New-York City, September 5, 1900, and nominated Senator Donelson Caffery, of Louisiana, for President, and Archibald Murray Howe, of Cambridge, Mass., for Vice-President. The Committee on Platform, composed of Professor Francis P. Nash, of Hobart College; Louis D. Lacroix, of Oxford, N. C.; Professor Edward G. Bourne, of Yale; W. F. Lloyd, of this city, and Edward Waldo Emerson, of Concord, Mass., a son of Ralph Waldo Emerson, presented the following platform, which was adopted:

We, citizens of the United States of America, assembled for the purpose of defending the wise and conservative principles which underly our Government, thus declare our aims and purposes: We find our country threatened with alternative perils. On the one hand is a public opinion misled by organized forces of commercialism that have perverted a war intended by the people to be a war of humanity into a war of conquest. On the other is a public opinion swayed by demagogic appeals to factional and class passions, the most fatal of diseases to a republic. We believe that either of these influences, if unchecked, would ultimately compass the downfall of our country, but we also believe that neither represents the sober conviction of our countrymen. Convinced that the extension of the jurisdiction of the United States for the purpose of holding foreign people as colonial dependents is an innovation dangerous to our liberties and repugnant to the principles upon which our Government is founded, we pledge our earnest efforts through all constitutional means, first, to procure the renunciation of all imperial or colonial pretensions with regard to foreign countries claimed to have been acquired through or in consequence of military or naval operations of the last two years. Second, we further pledge our efforts to secure a single gold standard and a sound banking system. Third, to secure a public service based on merit only. Fourth, to secure the abolition of all corrupting special privileges, whether under the guise of subsidies, bounties, undeserved pensions or trust breeding tariffs.

Senator Caffery and Mr. Howe withdrew September 21, and on September 26 it was decided to nominate single electors-at-large wherever practicable. This was done in some States for the benefit of voters who objected to the Republican or Democratic platforms. At the New-York conference the name "National Party" was approved, but the name "Third Party" was admitted to be that most familiar to the general public.

UNION REFORM.

Early in January, 1900, the National Committee of the Union Reform party, which favors direct legislation, appointed a Canvassing Board, which sent out ballots to members of the party for votes for candidates for President and Vice-President. The balloting continued through February and March. In April the Canvassing Board announced that Seth H. Ellis, of Ohio, and Samuel T. Nicholson, of Pennsylvania, had been nominated for President and Vice-President respectively on the platform adopted by the Union Reform party at Cincinnati on March 1, 1899, and reaffirmed by the Ohio State Convention August 22, 1899, as follows: Direct legislation under the system known as the initiative and referendum. Under the "initiative" the people can compel the submission to themselves of any desired law, when, if it receives a majority of the votes cast, it is thereby enacted. Under the "referendum" the people can compel the submission to themselves of any law which has been adopted by any legislative body, when, if such law fails to receive a majority of the votes cast, it will be thereby rejected. The convention adopted an appeal in part as follows: We accept the strong and unanswerable arguments of our friends. We see no need or benefit from party except a party to secure direct legislation. We have attached ourselves to the Union Reform party for direct legislation only. This party, organized by progressive and active men from this and other States at a time when dominant parties had legislated to make the initiation of reform movements impossible, acted whilst we were awaiting an opportune hour. We ask our honest, home-loving fellow citizens to organize in their respective precincts, and to honestly and fairly extend their organization to county and district, and to assist in controlling and extending the party and movement until the desired object is attained. The majority is with us in this desire for direct government, and with this sole purpose they must act at last. The logic of events, the tyranny of the "bosses" and the necessities of the hour assure us. Friends, this securing of a rightful voice is the affair of the individual, of each and every one. Government direct by the people will not come as a voluntary concession from the holders of political power. These controllers of parties will not permit of referendum of acts and expenditures; they will not give to the people initiatory and mandatory rights, because to do so would be to destroy their own useless but lucrative occupations. These party "bosses" who monopolize political opportunity are the allies and supporters of all monopolies. We all believe that conditions can be made better or worse by legislation. The corporations know this and act accordingly. Truly they contribute to the election of candidates, but their great contributions are direct to the machine.

UNITED CHRISTIAN.

At a convention held at Rock Island, Ill., May 1 and 2, 1900, the United Christian party, devoted to the spread of moral and religious ideas in Government, placed in nomination the Rev. S. C. Swallow, of Pennsylvania, for President, and John G. Woolley, of Illinois, for Vice-President. These candidates withdrew, and Jonah F. R. Leonard, of Iowa, and David H. Martin, of Pennsylvania, were nominated in their stead on a platform which declared: We believe the time to have arrived when the eternal principles of justice, mercy and love as exemplified in the life and teachings of Jesus Christ should be embodied in the Constitution of our Nation and applied in concrete form to every function of our government. We deprecate certain immoral laws which have grown out of the failure of our Nation to recognize these principles, notably such as require the desecration of the Christian Sabbath, authorize unscriptural marriage and divorce, license the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and permit the sale of cigarettes or tobacco in any form to minors. As an expression of consent or allegiance on the part of the governed, in harmony with the above statements, we declare for the adoption and use of the system of direct legislation known as the "initiative and referendum," together with "proportionate representation" and the "imperative mandate." We hold that all men and women are created free and with equal rights, and declare for the establishment of such political, industrial and social conditions as shall guarantee to every person civic equality, the full fruits of his or her honest toil, and opportunity for the righteous enjoyment of the same; and we especially condemn mob violence and outrages against any individual or class of individuals in our country. We declare against war and for the arbitration of all National and international disputes. We hold that the legalized liquor traffic is the crowning infamy of civilization, and we declare for the immediate abolition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. We are gratified to note the widespread agitation of the cigarette question, and declare ourselves in favor of the enactment of laws prohibiting the sale of cigarettes or tobacco in any form to minors. We declare for the daily reading of the Bible in the public schools and institutions of learning under control of the State. We declare for the Government ownership of public utilities. We declare for the election of the President and Vice-President and United States Senators by the direct vote of the people. We declare for such amendment of the United States Constitution as shall be necessary to give the principles herein set forth an undeniable legal basis in the fundamental law of our land. We invite into the United Christian party every honest man and woman who believes in Christ and His golden rule and standard of righteousness.

POLITICAL STATE PLATFORMS.

ALABAMA.

April 19, 1900.—The National Administration was approved, and a resolution of confidence in the management by William Vaughan of the affairs of the Republican Republican State Executive Committee was adopted. The question of the selection of a State ticket was left to the next State Executive Committee.

April 26, 1900.—The platform advocates commercial expansion and the extension of trade by freeing it from all burdens. The construction of the Nicaragua Canal is urged and Senator Morgan's position on that question indorsed.

Democratic. The treatment of the Porto Rican situation by Congress is denounced. Trade competition is declared as necessary and combines and trusts are scored. The platform demands the supervision and curbing of combines, and designates as the chief of these the protective tariff of the Republican party. W. J. Bryan is indorsed and his renomination demanded. The reaffirmation of the Chicago platform is demanded and public education is promised the people of Alabama. A resolution was passed by the convention recommending a constitutional convention.

May 30, 1900.—The dispensary system of handling the liquor traffic was declared an improvement over the license system, the proposed constitutional convention was declared inimical to the interests of the people, the administration of Governor Johnston was commended, and it was declared inexpedient to nominate a State ticket, although county tickets, especially for candidates for the Legislature, were urged.

ALASKA (District).

May 15, 1900.—The convention passed a resolution condemning Governor Brady, as follows: "Be it resolved by the Republicans of the District of Alaska, in convention assembled, that the further continuance in office of John G. Brady as Governor of Alaska is inimical to the interests of Alaska and contrary to the wishes of the Republican party, and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States." The convention indorsed President McKinley's Administration; demanded that the territorial form of government be extended to Alaska; declared for the removal of the capital from Sitka to Juneau; asked the Government that a direct cable from Alaska to Puget Sound be laid, and demanded that lighthouses be erected in Alaskan waters forthwith.

Republican.

Democratic. The territorial convention expressed satisfaction with Democratic principles, instructed its delegates to vote for Bryan, and adopted a money plank as follows: "We favor the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or the consent of any other silver nation. We are opposed to the retirement of the greenbacks, and demand that the Secretary of the Treasury, instead of issuing interest bearing bonds for the purchase of gold, shall recognize silver as the money of redemption, and exercise the right to redeem greenbacks, Treasury bonds and all other coin obligations in silver where silver is more convenient."

ARIZONA.

June 8, 1900.—The Territorial convention expressed satisfaction with Democratic principles, instructed its delegates to vote for Bryan, and adopted a money plank as follows: "We favor the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or the consent of any other silver nation. We are opposed to the retirement of the greenbacks, and demand that the Secretary of the Treasury, instead of issuing interest bearing bonds for the purchase of gold, shall recognize silver as the money of redemption, and exercise the right to redeem greenbacks, Treasury bonds and all other coin obligations in silver where silver is more convenient."

Democratic.

Republican. The platform indorsed the Administration, favored expansion, the protection of labor, Government construction and ownership of the Nicaragua Canal, and extension of the merchant marine, and declared opposition to trusts and laws designed to cheat honest voters and enable a corrupt minority to govern.

ARKANSAS.

March 21, 1900.—The platform indorsed the Administration, favored expansion, the protection of labor, Government construction and ownership of the Nicaragua Canal, and extension of the merchant marine, and declared opposition to trusts and laws designed to cheat honest voters and enable a corrupt minority to govern.

July 7.—The nominees and platform of the Philadelphia Convention were indorsed and the National policy commended. On State matters the platform said: "We favor railroads, the prolific mother of all forms of State development; manufactories, the greatest source of wealth to a State; the improvement of highways, the encouragement of capital to invest in our zinc and other mines; a high degree of efficiency for our public school system, and such generous maintenance of the University of Arkansas as shall place it on a plane with the best institutions in the land. We demand that the courts alone shall punish crime. We oppose convict labor when brought into competition with the labor of honest freemen in such a manner as to lessen the demand for such labor or so as to curtail its reward. The constitution of the State should be so amended as to permit, under safe restrictions, cities and incorporated towns to borrow money for the exclusive purpose of improving streets, securing sewers, water, light and such like necessities. We favor the determination of all questions that may arise between employers and employes by a system of impartial arbitration to be provided by law and to be compulsory."

June 27, 1900.—The platform reaffirms the Chicago declaration of 1896, favors strict observance of the Monroe Doctrine, declares for Government construction and ownership of the Nicaraguan Canal, denounces trusts, condemns the Democratic. "death dealing policy of the Republican Administration in the Philippines," insists upon giving freedom to Cuba and demands the same rights for the Philippines and National legislation against trusts.

CALIFORNIA.

May 15, 1900.—"The Republican party of the State of California, by its representatives, pledges itself anew to those principles of domestic and foreign policy which, under a wise administration of public affairs, have brought us prosperity at home and honor abroad. We declare our continued adherence to the policy by which the Republican party has proved itself, in fact as in theory, the friend of labor, and under which our manufactures not only control the home market, but are taking first rank in foreign markets throughout the world. We are in favor of the construction of the Nicaragua Canal under Government control and ownership. We fully appreciate the menace to this country and especially to the Pacific Coast from the continually increasing influx of Asiatic labor and we call upon Congress by appropriate legislation to protect us from this impending danger."

September 6, 1900.—The Philadelphia platform was indorsed, loyal support was pledged to McKinley and Roosevelt, Governor Gage's course was commended, and the Nicaragua Canal project favored. Other planks were: "We favor the conservation of all available waters for the reclamation and irrigation of arid lands, and liberal appropriations by Congress for that purpose, supplemented by the co-operation of the States directly interested. Such policy to be initiated by the collaboration of the Federal and State governments in a thorough investigation of our water supply and the best methods of utilizing the same. We indorse the action that has been taken to secure as a permanent possession for the whole people the great forests situated in our mountain ranges, and earnestly recommend that our Senators and Representatives in Congress support by their votes and influence the establishment of National reservations, in order that these forests may be saved from destruction and our water supply preserved. We demand the prevention of the importation of cheap alien labor, the continuance and re-enactment of the present Chinese exclusion laws and appropriate legislation prohibiting the immigration of Japanese and other contract laborers. We favor the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment providing for the regulation of primary elections and the enactment of such laws as will make it effective and insure fair primaries. We favor appropriate legislation for the permanent improvement of our roads and highways. We fully recognize the importance of the great work that the State University is doing toward the intellectual and industrial development of the State. We recognize also that the demands upon it in both these directions have so outgrown its income as to seriously threaten its usefulness. We therefore pledge our party to an increase of the revenues of the State University through the coming Legislature sufficient to maintain its efficiency."

September 29, 1900.—The National ticket and platform were indorsed, and on State matters the platform favored legislation providing for the preservation within National or State parks of the redwood forests, and the revival of hydraulic mining wherever it can be permitted without injury to other interests. The building of impounding works on the Yuba and other rivers was approved, and the adoption of a broad National policy for the construction of storage reservoirs for the free use of the people was urged. A constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax was favored, and the election of railroad commissioners and members of the State Board of Equalization by vote of the people was demanded. Other planks were: "The growing commerce of our State requires the early completion of the sea wall and Belt Line Railroad on the harbor front of San Francisco and the abolition of all State tolls and a material reduction of all other port charges. We denounce the action of the present Republican National Administration in refusing a right of way to the State for the construction of the Tioga road through the Yosemite National Park. We favor appropriate legislation for the permanent improvement of our roads and highways. We favor reforms in the law relating to the settlement of estates of decedents to lessen the expense of administration thereof."

COLORADO.

May 10, 1900.—Resolutions were adopted which unqualifiedly indorsed President McKinley and his Administration, which was credited with bringing prosperity. They commended the policy pursued in the Philippines and Porto Rico, and expressed the hope that President McKinley would be unanimously renominated. They declared opposition to trusts, while inviting capital to the State. The resolutions also said: "We commend in terms of unqualified praise the attitude of our junior Senator, Edward O. Wolcott, upon all questions affecting the commercial, industrial and financial welfare of our country. Our confidence in him has never been betrayed, and we uphold and sustain him in his every official act." No further mention was made of the financial question.

September 18, 1900.—"The Republican party of Colorado, in convention assembled, renews its allegiance to the National organization, indorses the foreign and domestic policies of our President, William McKinley, and asserts that in point of wisdom, foresight and patriotic devotion to the interests of the people his Administration is unsurpassed in the annals of American history. His splendid official career has inspired confidence at home and admiration abroad. We believe that the perpetuity of American institutions and the future destiny of our country rest largely on the shoulders of our laboring classes; consequently we believe in surrounding the home of the laboring man with every protection known to the law of the land. We believe that every pledge made by a political party, whether in convention or by individual candidate, should be religiously kept, and if the Republican party of Colorado is vested with the authority of government in this State we pledge the party, and also each and every candidate nominated by the party, to the enacting of legislation to carry into effect the following provisions: First, the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment providing for an efficient eight hour law. Second, the complete separation of the government of all cities of the State from any direction or control of the Governor or other State official, and particularly that the city of Denver shall be immediately granted home rule, and that all of its officers and boards shall be elected by the people of that city. Third, the taxation of franchises granted by municipal or other public legislative bodies upon the same basis as provided by law for the taxation of all other kinds of property. Fourth, the complete revision of the revenue laws of the State so that there shall be a single assessing power, and so that all classes of property shall be justly and equably assessed, and so as not to permit of any discrimination in the valuation upon any particular kind of property. Fifth, the revision of the revenue laws of the State so that ample funds at all times shall be provided for the maintenance at the highest possible standard of efficiency of each and all of the State institutions of Colorado. Sixth, the adoption of the merit system in the selection of public employes within this State wherever practicable. Seventh, the construction of good roads and highways and liberal assistance of both State and county for their maintenance. Eighth, the immediate repeal of the present prize fight law. Ninth, the retrenchment in the number and salaries of public officials and the abolition of unnecessary positions. Tenth, that school lands shall not be leased in large tracts to corporations regardless of the rights of settlers or the future welfare of the school fund; that the timber standing on the public school lands of the State shall not be sold without adequate consideration or wantonly wasted, as has been done during the last two years."

September 12, 1900.—Democrats, Silver Republicans and Populists united on a platform declaring opposition to the policy of the Administration, for free silver, and against Imperialism, trusts, and a big standing Army, and favoring the election of Bryan as a reform candidate.

CONNECTICUT.

May 9, 1900.—The platform indorsed the Administration of President McKinley, sustained the gold standard, said the grave crisis of war had been passed without mistake or dishonor, and believed that protection, liberty and the blessings of civilization would accrue to the people of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines under the wise guidance of the Republican party. It said the people ought to hold managers of so-called trusts to strict accountability for exceptional privileges granted them by charter, believed in creating and maintaining the best Navy in the world, and in the encouragement of the merchant marine.

September 5, 1900.—"The Republicans of Connecticut, in convention assembled, hereby declare their unaltered confidence in President William McKinley and in his wise and patriotic administration of the affairs of the Nation, and indorse the Republican candidates for President and Vice-President as wise and able statesmen and brave soldiers, deserving of the support of all voters, and in their declarations of principles set forth in the Republican platform adopted by the Republican National Convention. We reiterate our belief in and adherence to the principle of the gold standard as enunciated in the National Republican platform, and declare that the wise and patriotic men of the United States who voted to establish the stability of our currency upon a gold basis deserve the gratitude of the people. We favor the continuance of a just and reasonable tariff law for the protection of American industries. We approve all that has been done and is being done to establish the rightful sovereign authority of the United States in and over its recently acquired territory, and believe that under the protecting arm of the Government these new possessions will increase in prosperity and wealth and their inhabitants develop into an educated and enlightened people, fit in due time to bear such burdens and responsibilities of government as the law making power of the Nation may find it expedient to intrust to their charge. We declare that trusts which have for their purpose the increasing of the cost of the necessities of life or the decreasing of the wages of labor are contrary to the spirit of our institutions, and that the same should be restrained by appropriate legislation."

September 22, 1900.—After dealing with National questions in the usual way the platform condemned the method of electing State officers by a majority vote in the following terms: "We condemn the present system of representation in the General Assembly, which, together with the method of electing State officers by a majority vote, not by a plurality vote, of the electors, is the source of the strength of an arrogant political machine and an intolerant lobby, and serves to bring the fair name of our State into disrepute. Experience has demonstrated that these evils cannot be cured by constitutional amendments, and we favor as the only feasible methods of reform all steps looking to a constitutional convention."

DELAWARE.

March 21, 1900.—The course of the Administration was sustained, and thanks were extended to both soldiers and sailors for gallant services. Partisan legislation intended to defeat the will of the people was condemned, and monopolies and trade were treated as follows: "We denounce and condemn all combinations or monopolies which stifle fair competition and unjustly increase prices to the consumer. We strongly favor all measures looking toward the enlargement of our foreign markets and the enactment of such legislation by Congress as will restore our merchant marine, so that our imports and exports may be transported in American built, American owned and American manned vessels."

Republican. (REGULAR).

August 21, 1900.—The principal planks adopted were: "The recently amended constitutions of the Democratic States of Mississippi, Louisiana, South Carolina and North Carolina deny the electoral franchise to illiterate black, but not to illiterate white, citizens. We denounce this as a crime against free government and contrary to the spirit, if not the letter, of the Constitution of the United States. We favor all just and honorable measures looking to the adjustment of existing differences among Republicans of Delaware, and in earnest of this we recommend that the nominations of the convention be not confined to those who have not been heretofore acting with us."

April 3, 1900.—The general course of the Administration was approved, and special planks in the platform declared: "That our coasts should be strongly and efficiently defended with the best munitions, weapons, defenses and men attainable for the protection of our people and their property. We also favor a strong and efficient Navy, which is the strongest, best and most effective safeguard from the effect of any foreign force. That all combinations or trusts so-called, whose operation, management and control increase the cost of any article or commodity to the consumer are a menace to the safety of the country and should be so regulated and controlled by proper and adequate legislation; that the Interstate Commerce law ought to be rigidly and impartially enforced, so that the shipper of goods over a shorter haul should not be discriminated against in favor of a shipper of goods over a longer haul."

Republican (UNION).

August 6, 1900.—Special planks declared that the Union Republicans favor a just and economical government in the State of Delaware and pledge the people, if intrusted with power, a correction of the gross abuses in the administration of State and county offices, the making of all elective State and county officers salaried, the maintenance of the present incorporation act of the State, a thorough investigation of the present condition of State and county finances, careful inquiry into the various sources of revenue, the discovery of other legitimate and equitable methods of increasing the income of the State without adding any additional burden to the people, and the establishment of a Bureau of Immigration for the purpose of securing an increase in the population, a reduction of the general tax rate and a greater value therefore to real estate, especially in the lower part of the Commonwealth.

June 19, 1900.—The convention adopted planks mainly in opposition to the Republican policy, declaring that the growth of trusts was a menace to the people, that imperialism and militarism were opposed to the National welfare, and calling for the nomination of William Jennings Bryan for President.

Democratic.

Bryan for President.

September 11.—"We, the Democrats in Delaware, in State Convention assembled, ratify and indorse the declaration of principles promulgated by the National Democracy in the Kansas City Convention, and pledge ourselves, with united and vigorous support, to the candidates there nominated for President and Vice-President of the United States. We recall with gratification the good government enjoyed by the people of Delaware during the many years in which our State affairs have been managed by Democratic officials, and we point to the four years of clean and honorable administration under Governor Tunnell, now drawing to a close, as indisputable evidence that the Democratic party in this State is entitled to the continued confidence and support of our citizens. Deprived of our equal constitutional representation in the Senate of the United States, we congratulate our people that our State interests have been carefully conserved by our sole representative in the highest legislative body in the world, and cordially commend Senator Kenney for his active and successful attention to our National interests. We favor a new system for the registration of voters, and believe that in the place of biennial registration the registration should be permanent in character, so that a voter once registered may be continued on the list of qualified voters without again appearing before the registrar, unless he moves to a new voting precinct. The list of registered voters should be revised every two years by the addition of names of new voters and the striking off of those who have died, removed or become disqualified. In this connection we favor the abolition of the registration fee of $1, which has proved an unsatisfactory and unnecessary tax."

May 9, 1900.—The important planks of the platform adopted were: "We believe that the attitude of President McKinley in regard to the Army canteen deserves the condemnation of all friends of truth and righteousness and should be rebuked at the ballot box by all lovers of law and order. We deplore the extension of the liquor traffic in our new territories and believe that this Christian nation ought to prohibit in our new territory that business which is the sum of all iniquity, mother of all abomination."

FLORIDA.

June 20, 1900.—The platform adopted has for its main features the indorsement of William J. Bryan for President, the denunciation of trusts, demand for the repeal of all war taxes, 16 to 1 ratio of coinage, governmental control of corporations, especially of railroads, direct vote for United States Senators, a graduated income tax and reduction of the tariff to a revenue basis.

Democratic.

GEORGIA.

June 14, 1900.—Ballot reform, honest elections, United States control of the Nicaragua Canal, expansion of trade with foreign countries and the election of United States

Democratic. Senators by direct vote of the people were favored by the convention, and trusts, protection, imperialism, a large standing army and the Porto Rican policy of the Government were condemned. Special planks included the following: "We demand that the 10 per cent tax on State bank issues be repealed, so as to permit a system of local State banks, under such restrictions and by the deposit of such securities as will absolutely protect persons dealing with them."

June 14, 1900.—The platform called for an amendment to the State Constitution providing for the initiative, referendum and imperative mandate, a free ballot, and a fair count, and the public ownership of all public utilities. The fee system and the acceptance of passes by public officials were condemned. The convict labor law was treated as follows: "We emphatically condemn the convict law passed by the Legislature of 1897 as being the enactment of a system more iniquitous than the old lease act. We believe that the State herself should keep possession of her prisoners and should employ them upon the public roads and not allow them to be brought in competition with free labor, and that reformatories be established for juvenile criminals."

Populist.Republican.

The Republican voters of Georgia held no convention in 1900.

HAWAII (Territory).

September 24, 1900.—The convention adopted a platform indorsing President McKinley's Administration and containing many planks dealing with measures of interest to the Territory of Hawaii. Chief among them are declarations in favor of the speedy construction of the Nicaragua Canal and the Pacific cable, and pledges of efforts to secure harbor improvements and good public buildings for the islands.

Republican.

September 24, 1900.—Opposition to the Government of the United States, denunciation of annexation, Hawaii for Hawaiians, and planks referring to local improvements were the principal features of the platform adopted by the Democratic Convention.

Democratic.IDAHO.

July 18, 1900.—"The Republican party of Idaho renews its allegiance to the principles of Republicanism, and declares its unqualified approval of the National platform adopted at Philadelphia, its adherence to the principles represented by the official acts of the Administration of William McKinley, and pledges itself to the support of the same. We are in favor of amending the Constitution of the United States so as to give Congress the power more fully to regulate and suppress trusts, and we denounce the action of the Democratic party in the present Congress, who, by their votes, defeated the proposition to submit such an amendment to the people of the United States for their ratification. We condemn the policy of the present State administration whereby it has sought to deprive a large number of honest settlers in the northern part of the State of their lands taken up under the Homestead laws of the United States; and which has further resulted in losing to the State thousands of acres of valuable timber lands."

July 2, 1900.—"The Silver Republicans of Idaho indorse and adopt the National platform promulgated at Kansas City, July 12, 1900, as our declaration of principles. We declare our adherence to the principle of bimetallism and the use of both gold and silver as the basic money upon which the business of our country should be conducted, and favor the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 regardless of the action of any other nation on earth."

Silver Republican.

June 6, 1900.—The chief plank in the platform was an indorsement of William J. Bryan for President. The resolutions adopted also favored fusion of all reform elements.

Democratic.

July 21, 1900.—"We reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of the People's Party and heartily indorse the platform adopted by our National Convention at Sioux Falls. We congratulate the settlers on our Indian lands on the passage of the Free Homes bill. Within the borders of our State are millions of acres of arid lands and we are in favor of National appropriations to aid in the establishment of a system of reservoirs and canals to irrigate and reclaim said lands. We are in favor of that principle of government known as "Initiative and Referendum" and urge the passage of such laws as will enable the people of this State to pass upon all legislative measures."

July 17, 1900.—The State conventions of the Democratic, Silver Republican and Populist parties effected a fusion, declared for Bryan, free silver, legislative control of trusts, and against the foreign, domestic and financial policy of the Administration.

Fusion.ILLINOIS.

May 9, 1900.—The platform after reaffirming the principles of the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention of 1896 and calling attention to the prosperous condition of the country "under the wise, businesslike and patriotic Administration of President McKinley," proceeded: "We congratulate the people of the country on the enactment into law of the Currency bill, which provides the gold standard as the monetary unit of value. Financial discussions no longer disturb the business conditions of our people, and all business transactions have been placed on a basis that insures protection to capital and encouragement to the employment of labor. . . . Cuba has been made free from Spanish misrule and a stable government established there. Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands have become the possessions of the United States as the inevitable and unavoidable results of that war. We fully indorse the action of Congress and the President in the administration of the affairs in these islands and all legislation respecting the same, and we pledge our allegiance to the Nation's policy relating to them as formulated and carried out by the present Administration. We favor such legislation as will destroy all unlawful combinations of capital formed for the purpose of limiting production or increasing the price of manufactured products. All aggregations of capital formed for this purpose are detrimental to the best interests of trade and hostile to the laboring people." The administration of Governor Tanner was indorsed, and also the public services of United States Senator Culom.

June 27, 1900.—The platform indorsed the National platform of 1896 "in whole and in all its parts." It denounced the National Administration as "the weakest in the history of the Nation," and especially condemned the "cowering attitude of the President and his advisers in refusing consolation and sympathy to the heroic Boers in their struggle for independence";

Democratic.

invoked public condemnation of "an administrative policy which denies to Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands the principle of home rule and self-government and seeks the subjugation of a free and enlightened people for the glory of an imperial policy revolting to our traditions and a defiance to the principles of our Federal Constitution." The new currency law was declared to be the foundation for a "money trust which will have power to control the prices of all property and to stimulate or strangle business." Sympathy is expressed for the Boers, while imperialism is denounced as "necessarily leading to militarism and as wholly foreign to our system of government." Alliances with European nations are "regarded with apprehension." "Trusts and monopolies, formed for the purpose of arbitrarily controlling productions and prices in the interest solely of combined capital, if allowed to go on," the resolutions declared, "can result only in industrial servitude for the mass of the people."

INDIANA.

April 25, 1900.—The platform emphatically indorsed the wise and patriotic Administration of President McKinley. The attitude of the Administration was approved on all points, especially coinage, the open door in China, the administration of insular affairs and the conduct of the Spanish war. Additional anti-trust legislation was favored, both State and Federal, and a plea was made for "just and liberal pensions to all deserving soldiers and sailors." The early construction of the Nicaragua Canal under the direction and exclusive control of the United States Government was recommended, and the enactment and enforcement of laws restricting and preventing the importation of such undesirable foreign population as is prejudicial to free American labor was favored.

June 6.—After instructing its delegates to the National Convention for Bryan and indorsing the principles of the Chicago platform of 1896, the platform condemns the policy of President McKinley's Administration, and on State affairs says: "We call attention to the reform legislation which the Democratic party has given the people of this State, the school book law, the tax laws, the Australian ballot, the fee and salary reform, and the many statutes for the protection of labor. The Republican party is now hypocritically claiming credit for the reduction of our State debt, made possible by the Democratic tax law, the enactment of which it opposed. It has mutilated the Australian ballot and repealed the statute making the bribery of voters a penal offence. In four years of absolute control of State affairs it has failed to pass any effectual legislation against monopolies or trusts, but has uniformly defeated all effort to enact anti-trust laws. We pledge ourselves to an economical administration of State affairs, the non-partisan management of the State institutions, the continuation of the reform work begun by the Democratic party and the enactment and enforcement of State legislation against trusts."

February 22.—After declaring in favor of Government ownership of all lines of transportation, telegraphs and telephones, and municipal ownership of streetcar lines, light and water plants, the resolutions said: "We view with alarm the enormous increase in the assessed value of property for the purpose of taxation in Indiana, and we demand a more rigid economy in the management of State, county and municipal affairs. We favor a State law requiring the letting of all legal advertisements to the lowest bidder. We are opposed to the sale of intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage. We favor the election of the county superintendent by the vote of the people."

May 1.—The platform declared that abolition of the liquor traffic could only be accomplished through a political party. The platform denounced the annulment of the anti-liquor law by the President and members of his Cabinet as being unjustifiable in law and revolutionary and unpatriotic in principle, and charged President McKinley with moral cowardice in refusing to exercise his authority as Commander-in-Chief of the Army to abolish the sale of liquor in the Army canteen, and to prohibit its importation into our newly acquired territory.

IOWA.

August 7, 1901, at Cedar Rapids.—The platform indorsed the administration of President McKinley, both as to foreign and domestic policies. Regarding combinations of capital it said: "We assert the sovereignty of the people over all corporations and aggregations of capital, and the right residing in the people to enforce such regulations, restrictions or prohibitions upon corporate management as will protect the individual and society from abuse of the power which great combinations of capital wield. We favor such amendment of the Interstate Commerce act as will more fully carry out its prohibition of discriminations in rate making, and any modification of the tariff schedules that may be required to prevent their affording shelter to monopoly."

August 21, 1901, at Des Moines.—The platform reaffirmed the national platform adopted July 5, 1900, at Kansas City, with the addition of a plank on State issues, demanding reform in taxation laws, the repeal of the mulct liquor law and the enactment of local option license law, and several other matters.

May 21, 1901, at Des Moines.—The platform declared that it was the first duty of the State to overthrow the liquor traffic, commended the passage of the anti-canteen law and denounced the opponents of the law; declared for woman suffrage, one day of rest in seven and freedom of religious worship.

KANSAS.

May 16, 1900.—Commendation of the course of the Administration was followed by a demand for the enforcement of the Anti-Trust act of 1890, and the railroad question was treated as follows: "The Republican party pledges itself to the Republican. work of securing to the people such legislation, founded in common justice and business sense, as will provide adequate protection against the greed of the corporations without crippling them with unjust exactions. We favor the re-establishment of the Board of Railroad Commissioners with such additional powers as shall render their work effective, and with power to fix and enforce just rates, and recommend the election of this Board by the people. We favor a law which will enable railroad men who are necessarily engaged in running their trains upon Election Day to cast their votes. The operation of trains often makes it impossible under our present voting system for conductors and members of train crews to cast their votes, and their inability to find time from their work to go to the polls thus deprives several thousand people of the State, each year, of the right of suffrage. We pledge ourselves to some measure which will make it possible for these men to enjoy suffrage without embarrassment to their work."

July 24, 1900.—After declaring that the Kansas City platform was regarded as a second Declaration of Independence, the State platform advocated the continuance of the Democratic. Sanitary Board for the protection of the cattle industry, demanded relief from oppression by trusts, with special reference to the Standard Oil Company, and on railroad affairs demanded the abolition of the pass system and the practice of using double headers, or two engines to one train of twice the ordinary size, and said: "There should be created by law a public tribunal clothed with all power necessary for the complete and efficient regulation and control of the railways of the State in their relations to the public and to their agents, servants and employes and to all persons whomsoever, and in all of their conduct and actions in the operation of their roads, and in the prosecution of their business in all things and at all times."

June 20, 1900.—The platform declared: 1. That the liquor traffic is the greatest of all evils, and we demand the total prohibition of the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of alcoholic liquors as a beverage. 2. We affirm our loyalty to the national Prohibition party and its principles as the only party that stands committed to the overthrow of the liquor traffic in State and nation. 3. The right of citizens of the United States to vote should not be denied on account of sex.

July 25, 1900.—After demanding the election of United States Senators by direct vote, a change in the administration of the Pension Bureau, establishment of the initiative and referendum, the platform says: "We demand the withdrawal of all special privileges now granted by law to corporations or individuals, and the application of the principle of government ownership as a remedy for monopolies of every kind. Believing the public work ought to be done by the people in their own interest, we favor the municipal ownership and operation of plants for the supply of water, light, heat and power, and also of all streetcar lines and telephone systems."

KENTUCKY.

July 17, 1900.—The platform, after calling attention to the special election for Governor, continues: "We declare that the only tolerable government is self-government. We

Republican. declare that in this State all men must be free and equal and that the will of the people must be the supreme law of the State. We demand for each child a free school, but we deny that education or accumulated property alone confers the right of suffrage. The first duty of Kentucky citizenship is to repeal the Goebel election law, which is the source and continuing strength of the wrongs done in this State. A vote of confidence next November in men who are all usurpers of office and who have for a year past been acting together to thwart the declared will of the people will be accepted as a vote of confidence in the election law that is a blot on our statute book. The Goebel law must be abolished or republican institutions must be surrendered. The convention invites all friends of civil liberty and social order to unite with the Republicans in Kentucky in securing the repeal of the Goebel election law and the preservation of the liberties of the people."

July 19, 1900.—After indorsing the action of the Kansas City Convention and recommending amendment of the 1898 election law, the platform continues: "We present the people of Kentucky the picture of an army of intimidation, unlawfully quartered in the public buildings of the State; a State Senator, while in the discharge of his duty to the State, stricken down by an assassin's bullet, fired from ambush from the executive building, then occupied by his political adversary, who hoped to profit by his death; that adversary arming, filling and surrounding the building with armed men instructed to defy the civil authorities and prevent search for the assassin; the same political adversary and Republican pretender by force dissolving the legislature in violation of the constitution; attempting by military power to force the legislature to meet in a veritable slaughter pen for the Democratic members; driving its members through the streets of Frankfort at the point of the bayonet; forcibly preventing the legislature from meeting in its lawful and proper place; keeping armed, riotous and disorderly men under the very window of the room where lay dying the assassin's victim; driving the Court of Appeals from the Capitol; by military force defying the writ of habeas corpus; aiding with the soldiery and spurious pardons those lawfully accused of capital crimes to flee from justice; the same Republican pretender fleeing from the State after indictment and remaining a fugitive from justice, protected by an open violation of the constitution of the United States, after having declared to the people of the State: 'I am a citizen of this State, amenable to its laws. I am not a criminal, neither shall I ever be a fugitive from justice. Whenever indicted I shall appear for trial.' And we confidently declare our belief that a majority of people in Kentucky favor the preservation of law and order; of both civil and personal liberty, and the maintenance of the constitutional rights of the people—Democratic doctrine which is the hope and inspiration of every true Democrat. We declare to the world that the mob and the assassin shall not be the arbiters of the rights of the citizens of Kentucky, nor shall the penalty of an appeal to the law and the regular constituted authorities be left at the hands of the assassin. Law and order must and shall prevail in Kentucky."

August 1, 1900.—Both the great parties are denounced, and the Goebel law was attended to as follows: "We point especially to the present condition in Kentucky, where through a vicious and unjust election law made by the Democratic party, and upheld by that party to-day, one-fifth of the voters of the State were disfranchised, the certificate of a Democratic Election Commission, based upon the returns of election officers selected by the Democratic party in every precinct, and showing a plurality for the Republican nominees, being ignored and the State officered by men defeated at the polls. We condemn this Goebel election law as imperialism of the most dangerous character, and denounce the professions of the Democratic party as insincere as long as it is responsible for this blighting imperialism, disfranchising American citizens and depriving them of their constitutional privileges. We declare that this unjust and iniquitous election law should be repealed, and in its stead enacted a law giving all parties fair and just representation at the polls and on the returning boards, through representatives selected by the authorities of the several parties, and so constructed as to make impossible partisan advantage through the manipulation and operation of the laws of the commonwealth."

August 1, 1900.—The national platform was approved, and on the franchise and elections the planks adopted were: "We declare our unalterable opposition to any effort to limit the franchise, holding that the constitution guarantees to every citizen the right to vote and have that vote counted as cast, regardless of wealth, education, color or previous condition of servitude. We declare that the issue of fair elections and that of direct legislation are one and inseparable; that direct legislation through the initiative and referendum is the only possible guarantee that corrupt politicians will not continue their assaults upon popular government."

After the usual planks relative to the liquor traffic, the platform says: "We favor such an amendment to the present constitution of Kentucky and wise revision of the election laws of Kentucky that every citizen, without regard to sex, color, or previous condition of servitude, who can read or write the Declaration of Independence of the United States, shall, on attaining the age of twenty-one years, be allowed an unrestricted ballot, and such ballot shall be turned in as cast. We demand that laws be passed and rigidly enforced excluding from entrance to the United States those who cannot read or write, or who are criminals, paupers or dangerously diseased."

LOUISIANA.

March 5, 1900.—The convention reaffirmed the principles declared by the national party at the St. Louis Convention, and sustained the administration in its policy regarding the results of the Spanish war. The platform continues: "We view with alarm and amazement the growing tendency of the Southern Democracy to eliminate from the electorate by unjust constitutional enactments a large, industrious, loyal and conservative class of our fellow citizens. The Republican party knows no distinction among the suffragans of this country on account of race, color or previous condition. We therefore condemn the action of the Democratic party of Louisiana for creating in the organic law of the State a privileged class of voters, and denounce such a provision as un-American and un-Republican, and ask the patriotic people of the United States to join with us in testing the constitutionality of the law, and to destroy, if possible, its baneful influence upon the growth and progress of the age."

April 30, 1900.—The resolutions declared the State election of April 17 to be one of the most fraudulent ever held in the State. Specific resolutions were: "Resolved, That we approve and indorse the administration of President McKinley, and pledge our delegation to support him for renomination as the Republican candidate for President at the November election. Resolved, That a majority of the voters of the State of Louisiana are Republicans. Our agriculture, commerce, shipping, railroads, steamboats, manufacturing and labor interests are all dependent for prosperity on the policies of the Republican party; that with a fair registration, an honest election and an honest effort the electoral vote of Louisiana can be counted on for the Republican party, and we here and now consecrate ourselves to organize for a grand and determined effort to see that our votes are cast and counted at the next election for the candidates of our choice. Resolved, That the union of the Howell and Herwig factions was induced by the desire that there should be but one regular Republican organization in this State." The Howell committee contested, with the Herwig committee for three years, and finally yielded to a union with it only because it was the recognized organ of the party of this State.

April 30, 1900.—The most important action of the convention was the organization of a State Committee with P. F. Herwig as chairman, and the Executive Committee was authorized to place Presidential Electors in the field. No platform was adopted.

December 20, 1899.—After declaring allegiance to the Chicago platform of 1896 the platform said: "We denounce the monopolistic combinations known as trusts, and demand that the legislature and Congress do pass such laws within the competency of each as shall regulate, restrain and suppress them. We impress upon our Representatives and Senators in Congress the paramount importance of judicious federal aid to the levee system of the Mississippi River; to the jettifying and deepening of Southwest Pass; to the improvement of the great waterways of the West and South, and to the prompt building of a ship canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans—all works of National importance, in which Louisiana is so deeply interested."

Democratic.

June 27, 1900.—The convention indorsed the nominations and platform of the Philadelphia Convention, and the platform adopted by the Lewiston convention of April 19. On State affairs readjustment of the system of State taxation, free popular education, and the creation of the office of State Auditor were favored, and good roads were called for in the following plank: "Good roads enhance the value of property and are potent factors in the development of every community. We favor such action by the State as will bring to the knowledge of local officials the most successful methods of maintaining the roads committed to their care, and promote effective legislation to that end."

July 11, 1900.—"We indorse the principles laid down in the platform adopted by the Democratic National Convention held at Kansas City, July 4, and pledge our unequalled support to Bryan and Stevenson, candidates for the office of President and Vice-President. The Democratic party is, as it always has been, the friend of labor, and we deplore the conditions which have grown up under Republican rule whereby honest toil is deprived of its just share of the wealth which it produces; and we pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to restore it to the high and dignified position to which by nature it is entitled, and toward the accomplishment of this object we favor the enactment of a fifty-eight hour law."

August 6, 1901, at Baltimore.—The platform contained this plank regarding ex-Senator Gorman: "We appeal to all good citizens to unite in defeating the selfish political bosses in their conspiracy, begun with the extra session, to perpetuate themselves and their methods by one-sided elections, and to thwart the first purpose of that conspiracy by defeating the election to the United States Senate of the Democratic leader who dictated the disfranchising election law to a servile Assembly. Their victory would again fasten upon our State the reign of corruption and violence overthrown in 1895, and enable them to intrench themselves for a generation behind a far worse disfranchising election law than the un-American law we are pledged to repeal."

August 1, 1901, at Baltimore.—The chief issue of the campaign was stated as follows in the platform: "The Democratic party represents more than forty thousand majority of the white people of Maryland. They, in common with their brethren of other States in which large masses of colored voters have been injected into the body politic, recognize that the peace, good order, personal safety and proper development of our material interests depend upon the control of the commonwealth by its intelligent white residents."

MAINE.

MARYLAND.

MASSACHUSETTS.

October 4, 1901, at Boston.—The platform expressed deep sorrow at the killing of President McKinley and pledged loyal support to President Roosevelt. It declared that prosperity which "does not reach all the people is not true prosperity. We denounce all laws that confer special privileges on the few. We favor such laws as open the widest opportunity to all."

Republican.

It favored protection and reciprocity, the gold standard and a paper currency "of such flexibility, sufficiency and safety as will meet the changing needs of the season, reduce the charge for the use of credit, increase the employment of labor, and promote the effective competition of our producers and manufacturers with their rivals abroad." It favored also the speedy completion of an isthmian canal, built, owned, operated and protected by the United States Government; government aid in building up the merchant marine, and the enactment of a constitutional amendment giving Congress the power to regulate the hours of labor. It demanded laws to provide an adequate and severe penalty for murdering, assaulting or threatening the life of the President or Vice President. It condemned attempts to disfranchise the negro in some States, commended the consideration of a proper system of initiative and referendum in questions of local interest and indorsed the administration of Governor Crane.

October 3, 1901, at Boston.—The platform lamented the assassination of President McKinley, eulogized his statesmanship and indorsed his last speech at Buffalo. It pledged the convention's good wishes to President Roosevelt. It ignored Bryan and his free silver policy; declared for freer trade by reciprocity and otherwise; the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people; against imperialism and the ship subsidy bill. Regarding trusts it stated: "Whatever may be the economic basis of industrial combinations, federal regulation is urgently needed. We believe that accounts of corporations engaged in commerce between the States should be periodically audited and made public. Unfair competition, designed only to crush a rival by temporary measures to establish monopoly, should be prohibited. All tariff duties upon articles produced by trusts, which stifle competition at home or which favor the foreign at the expense of the American consumers, should be abolished. Minimum railroad freight rates should be based upon the carload lot, and the granting to trusts or other large shippers of any discount from such rates should be strictly prohibited."

MICHIGAN.

February 28, 1901, at Grand Rapids.—The platform indorsed the national and State administrations and denounced former Republican State officials who brought shame and disgrace on the State by dishonesty.

March 6, 1901.—"We denounce the present State legislature generally, as an incompetent and idle body, whose sole business seems to be to obey its Senatorial owner regardless of the public welfare. We denounce it specifically for its recent attempt to deprive the cities of Detroit and Port Huron of home rule; for its flagrant violations of its party pledges to give the people of Wayne and Kent counties primary election reform, at the dictation of an absentee United States Senator, who owes his seat in that body to the use of money in delegate conventions; for its extravagance in State affairs; for its failure to equalize taxation, as repeatedly promised by party platforms. We demand the right of home rule for all municipalities, and the election of United States Senators by the people. We believe that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; and in order that the governed may have that full and free voice in governmental affairs to which they are entitled, we favor the right of direct legislation by the people themselves of the laws under which they are to live. We indorse the efforts of Senator Helme to secure a constitutional amendment to the accomplishment of this reform. We believe that for the proper safeguarding of the rights of the people the minority should be represented on the supreme bench; and we appeal to all good citizens of the State to aid us in the election of a Democrat Justice of the Supreme Court in order to moderate the partisan character of the present bench."

March 6, 1901, at Kalamazoo.—The convention adopted the following resolution:

Prohibition.

"We declare our adherence to the principles of the national and State platforms of the last campaign, believing that the suppression of the liquor traffic is the paramount issue before the American people."

MINNESOTA.

May 18, 1900.—"We, the Republicans of the State of Minnesota in convention assembled, affirm and renew our allegiance to the Republican party and its principles. We indorse the administration of President William McKinley and the Republican.

Republican party, and congratulate the country on the revival of industrial and commercial prosperity brought about as a direct result of the application of Republican principles and policies of government during the present administration. The Republican party is proud of the fact that it has written the gold standard into the law of the land, and that its sound financial policy has contributed largely to the greatest prosperity the American people have ever known, and has raised the credit of the American Government to the highest point ever attained by any nation. The Republican party recognizes that legitimate business, fairly capitalized and honestly managed, has built up our industries at home, given the largest employment to labor and highest wages, and enabled us successfully to compete with foreign countries in the markets of the world. But the Republican party now, as always, is unalterably opposed to all trusts and combinations having for their purpose the stifling of competition and arbitrarily controlling productions or fixing prices. Among other remedies we favor legislation providing for the utmost publicity as to the internal affairs of this class of corporations, and we favor an amendment to the Constitution of the United States granting full power to Congress to protect the people against the evils threatened. We hereby declare our implicit confidence in President William McKinley and the Republican party to meet and solve the questions now before the country growing out of our war with Spain, to the entire satisfaction of the American people, and with justice and humanity to the people of the islands that came under our control because of that war. We declare for liberal legislation for the National defence, for the building of our Navy, for the enlargement of our foreign markets, for the employment of the American workmen in our mines, forests, farms, mills, factories and shipyards." Other planks expressed appreciation of the services of the Minnesota delegation in Congress and favored the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

June 20.—The convention approved the action of the Philadelphia Convention, called for liberal administration of the pension laws, sustained the gold standard, favored the amendment to the Federal Constitution proposed by the Republicans in Congress, granting to both State and Congress the power to define, regulate, control and prohibit monopolies, combinations or trusts in the form of corporations or otherwise, and condemned the obstructive policy of the Democratic party, which, for the time being, defeated the submission of such amendment, and continued: "We favor the speedy passage of the legislation now pending in Congress intended to prevent the sale of oleomargarine for that which it is not, and thereby protect the honest producer and innocent consumer of dairy products from the frauds now being practised upon both; and we therefore earnestly request our Senators and Representatives in Congress to aid by their work and votes in securing the passage of such legislation. The Republican party stands for the principle of fair and equal taxation, and insists that every business, whether owned by corporations or individuals, should bear its just share of the public burden. We heartily approve of the legislation enacted by the last Republican Legislature, known as the "Somerville Law," imposing a tax upon all foreign corporations doing business within this State. We commend the gross earnings system of taxation as to railroads."

MISSISSIPPI.

August 23, 1900.—The convention adopted the following declaration of principles: "We heartily and earnestly indorse and reaffirm the declaration of principles promulgated by the party in convention assembled at Chicago in 1896, and recognize in the Hon. William J. Bryan, of Nebraska, the ablest exponent of these principles, the statesman and patriot, the great tribune of the people. We enter our solemn protest against the encroachment upon governmental affairs by aggregated capital in the form of trusts and combines as being inimical to the best interests of the masses of the people and the cause of free and untrammelled government; and express ourselves as unalterably determined to aid by all possible and proper means in the control or destruction, if necessary, of these enemies of good government. Reviewing the past Democratic history of Mississippi we indorse with pride the administration of her public affairs, and especially we would express our unconditional approval of the clean administration of our present Governor and affirm our unshaken faith in the Democratic principles he has so worthily illustrated in his public life. We express our confidence in the virtue and unimpeachable integrity of the people in the selection of all public servants, and to that end indorse the system of primary elections under proper restrictions for all Democratic nominations, that every man may have a voice in the government under which he lives."

No other State political conventions were held in Mississippi in 1900, the business of the parties being managed by the several executive committees, and no platforms were promulgated.

MISSOURI.

May 16, 1900.—"The Republicans of Missouri in convention assembled call attention, with pride, to the fact that the policies presented by the Republican party in its platform of 1896 have been fully vindicated and its promises all redeemed.

Republican.

We rejoice that we are citizens of a great and powerful Nation, whose achievements in peace and glorious victories in war are without a parallel. We indorse the progressive Administration of William McKinley for the blessings it has bestowed upon the American people in establishing the highest prosperity the country has ever known. We insist that no issue can be paramount to the maintenance of the public credit and the stability of the money for which all labor and products are sold. So long as a political party stands committed to the overthrow of the existing monetary system we call on all conservative men to act with us in keeping that party from power. We congratulate the American people in that the Republican party has kept its beneficent pledge for the maintenance of the gold standard, the standard of the commercial world, and the parity of all our forms of money, without contradiction, by comprehensive, courageous legislation. We favor the extension of self-government to all the people that have lately come under the protection of this country as rapidly as they demonstrate their ability to exercise it. We hold our authority over them to be a solemn trust to be exercised with an eye single to their instruction, development and prosperity. We are unalterably opposed to all trusts and combinations in restraint of trade or having for their purpose in the remotest degree stifling of competition; and we demand such legislation, both National and State, as will effectively protect the public from these evils. And if such legislation cannot be had under present constitutional powers, we demand such amendments to the Constitution of the United States as will suppress such combinations. We favor the immediate enactment of such legislation by Congress as shall make the seas give evidence that American built, American owned and American named ships are carrying our foreign commerce."

June 6, 1900.—The convention reaffirmed allegiance to the time honored principles of the Democratic party as formulated by Jefferson, Jackson and others, declared in favor

Democratic. of equal rights to all, local self-government and strict construction of the Constitution. Tariff for revenue only, reduction of war taxes, removal of tariff on trust manufactured goods, expansion of trade relations, autonomy for Cuba, control of the Nicaragua Canal, and free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, were all favored. Anti-trust laws were promised, the administration of Governor Stephens was commended, taxation of franchises was demanded, and full and hearty support to William J. Bryan was pledged.

MONTANA.

September 6, 1900.—After expressing hearty approval of the platform and nominees of the Philadelphia Convention, declaring for an eight hour workday, inviting investment of capital in the State and declaring that injurious combinations should be forbidden, the platform deals with the Clark case as follows: "We regard with indignation and shame the odium that Republican. was cast upon our State by the corrupt methods that were employed in the election of a Democratic candidate for the Senate of the United States and express our unqualified condemnation of the Republican members of the Sixth Legislative Assembly who cast their votes for William A. Clark. We condemn all bribery, and pledge the Republican party to pursue those who practise it with our laws and our courts."

June 20, 1900.—The Daly wing of the Democratic party adopted a platform denouncing "the action of W. A. Clark in corrupting the late Legislature in assailing the integrity of the Supreme Court, and in attempting to debauch the people of the entire Commonwealth as the colossal crime of the century."

June 21, 1900.—The Clark wing passed resolutions strongly condemning the Daly people and denouncing the resignation of Democratic State officers and Congressmen.

September 19, 1900.—The convention adopted a platform which indorsed the Kansas City platform and candidates, specifically demanding the free coinage of silver. They also indorsed the services of Senator William A. Clark as a member of the Senate, and demand his re-election by the Legislature to meet next January.

NEBRASKA.

August 28, 1901, at Lincoln.—The platform contained this plank: "The Republicans of Nebraska disclaim for the party any sympathy with custodians of public money found guilty of the betrayal of sacred trusts. Without impugning the motives of the Governor in any case, we deprecate any exercise of executive clemency tending to create the false impression that Republican. the Republican party is disposed to condone the unlawful embezzlement of public funds under any circumstances, and we request the immediate recall of the parole granted to Joseph S. Bartley by the Governor." The Governor (a Republican) complied with the convention's request.

September 17, 1901, at Lincoln.—The platform indorsed the national platform of 1900, demanded legislation to exclude anarchists and to suppress anarchy and denounced both the State and National Republican administrations. It declared against the acceptance of free railroad Democratic. passes by public officials.

September 17, 1901, at Lincoln.—The platform indorsed that of the national convention of 1900. It declared against anarchy. It favored increased State taxation of railway properties and declared that the acceptance by any public official of any railway passes or telegraph or express franks should render his office vacant. Democrats and Populists nominated the same ticket.

NEVADA.

September 29, 1900.—Indorsement of the foreign and domestic policy of the Administration and earnest support of the nominees of the Philadelphia Convention were the opening planks in the platform. Trusts were condemned, and the Democratic overthrow of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution denounced. On State matters the platform said: "We believe

Republican. that with an economic system for the storage and the distribution of unappropriated water the productive capacity of Nevada can be enormously increased, and so believing we pledge our nominee for Congress, in the event of his election, to co-operate with the Congressmen from the arid States in seeking to obtain a liberal allowance in the general appropriation bill for the storage and distribution of water under the supervision and control of the States and Territories affected. We favor the lawful use of silver as a money in all manners compatible with the best interests of our Government, and we hereby pledge our nominee for Congress, in the event of his election, to exercise his best endeavors to secure the greatest possible use of silver beneficial to the mining States of this Union, without endangering the financial safety of our country. We reject the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nevada authorizing a lottery as being an attempt to disgrace our State in the sight of the enlightened world. We regard the act upon our statute books legalizing prizefighting as a stigma upon the fair name of our State. We condemn the repeal of the 'Purity of Elections' laws and demand the passage of an act reasonably limiting the expenditure of candidates and prohibiting corrupt practices during political campaigns and at the polls. We declare ourselves in favor of an eight hour workday on all public works, where the State, county or municipality pays for the labor, and in all mines, smelters, mills and all other institutions for the reduction or refining of ores or metals, and we pledge our nominees for the Legislature to work for a law embodying that principle. We condemn the present State administration for its profligacy in creating useless offices with which to reward its supporters."

September 6, 1900.—The convention indorsed the nominations and platform adopted at Kansas City, declared opposition to trusts and condemned the action of the Administration with reference to Porto Rico, the Philippines and the Alaska mining districts. Sympathy for the Boers was expressed, and Senator William M. Stewart was condemned for his defection

Democratic. from the silver cause. Railroad meddling with State affairs was objected to, a State constitutional convention demanded, lotteries and prizefighting condemned, and State regulation of the hours of labor favored. On other subjects the platform said: "We hold that the silver question is still one of the important issues of this campaign, and that it will never be permanently settled until our mints are opened to the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, regardless of the consent of other nations. We congratulate the supporters of Bryan and Stevenson in Nevada, that they are not subjected to the humiliating necessity of abrogating or modifying any plank in their National platform for the accommodation of their Congressional nominee. We believe that water storage for arid lands should be recognized by the general Government as a part of its internal improvement system, and that liberal appropriations should be made for that purpose, and we call attention to the specific declaration in this behalf in our National platform, favoring an intelligent system of improving the arid lands of the West, storing the waters for the purposes of irrigation, and the holding of such lands for actual settlers."

September 6, 1900.—The principal planks of the platform were similar to those adopted by the Democratic convention, and the parties fused on a State ticket. Planks of special interest were: "In line with our opposition to any control

Silver Party. of public utilities by private citizens or combinations of capital, we here declare our emphatic dissent from any proposal to lease the public domain, recognizing in such a step the danger that would inevitably accrue to the honest struggler of limited means. We favor a workday of eight hours on all public works in which the State, county or municipality is the employer. We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people for the reason that such a method of election would return power to the hands where it properly belongs. We submit that with a proper valuation placed upon the property of the State the tax roll should show a valuation of $100,000,000 worth of property, that a true assessment, properly adjusted nearer to the equal value of property, would reduce the average county taxes to perhaps $1 on the hundred, with the State's proportion at about 25 cents on the hundred; and we therefore recommend to all Silver party county conventions that they pledge their nominees to the Legislature to support such measures as will bring about a reform in this direction." Resolutions were added that the resolution condemnatory of Francis G. Newlands be stricken and expunged from the records of the State Central Committee of the Silver party, and that he was entitled to the commendation of the convention for his foresight two years ago, and for his action in opposing the re-election of William M. Stewart because of the latter's treason to the Silver organization in the campaign of 1898, and that the action of the State Central Committee deposing W. E. Sharon from the chairmanship of the State Central Committee be rescinded and expunged from the record.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

April 24, 1900.—"In this convention, which marks the beginning of the Presidential campaign of the year 1900, we, the Republicans of New-Hampshire, congratulate the people upon the honest fulfilment of the pledges made in the Republican National platform adopted at St. Louis in 1896, and Republican. acknowledge the wise statesmanship of our President, William McKinley, under whose guidance the promises have been performed. We intrust the future government of our new possessions to Congress and the President, believing that they may lawfully control and govern them as they deem best, and feeling assured that they will give the islands every measure of local self-government for which they may show themselves fitted. We commend and approve the patriotic impulses of our President, his loyalty to right, his high purpose, his diplomacy, his great achievements for his country and humanity, and urge his renomination at the coming National Convention."

September 11, 1900.—The platform adopted approved of the Republican National Convention, congratulated the country that the Republican party had established by legislation the gold standard, and on the wonderful prosperity during the Administration of President McKinley. It promised a liberal policy in the appropriation of money for public improvement. Good roads, forestry supervision and judicious fish and game laws were advocated. The "old home" idea, inaugurated and advocated by Governor Rollins, was indorsed and liberal appropriations for benevolent and educational purposes were favored. The platform approved all proper efforts to advance the cause of temperance in the home and community.

May 2, 1900.—The convention indorsed the Chicago platform of 1896 and declared unwavering fidelity and adherence to it. Other planks were: "We denounce the Administration for fastening upon the American Republic the guilt of 'criminal aggression' in the Philippines and neglect of 'plain duty' to Porto Rico by depriving her citizens of the right of self-government, by erecting a customs tariff between that island and the States, in utter disregard of distinct pledges solemnly given and of their constitutional rights. We denounce the Republican party for fostering and protecting the criminal trusts, which, dominating the whole field of American industry, are forcing untold millions of tribute from the laboring masses to swell the coffers of plutocracy. We condemn the alliance with Great Britain and imitation of her course of colonial subjugation, which prevent the expression by the Administration at Washington of the deep sympathy of the American people with the South African republics and all other nations struggling for their independence. We favor the adoption of a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people."

August 1, 1900.—The Kansas City platform was indorsed in convention, and the platform continued: "We recognize the solemn and tremendous fact that in the campaign now opened the paramount and overshadowing issues are those of the Republic against the Empire, of the man against the dollar; and we declare our unwavering loyalty and devotion to the Republican Democracy established by the fathers as against the imperial plutocracy set up by Mark Hanna and his coadjutors, and illustrated in the Administration of William McKinley, who, however honest in his personal convictions of 'plain duty,' is too weak and subservient to live up to them for a moment against the dictation of his masters. Our appeal in this campaign is to the reason, the judgment, the conscience and the patriotism of the people—not to their fear, servility, cupidity or avarice. We recognize the value and influence of a fearless and uncorrupted press in the prosecution of the campaign along these lines, and we bespeak for such newspapers in our midst as have bravely and consistently championed the Democratic cause in all emergencies the earnest, practical support of the party, now and always. We heartily indorse the action of the Kansas City Convention and the ticket named. We protest against the cession of an inch of American territory to any foreign Power, and we demand the protection of American citizens and property in all American territory."

NEW-JERSEY.

September 26, 1901, at Trenton.—The platform deplored the death of President McKinley, declared that his achievements and character would link his name with that of Lincoln and indorsed the utterances of his last speech at Buffalo.

Republican.

It says further: "The blow which ended the life of our beloved President was cruel, inhuman and lawless. It was aimed, not at the gentle and lovable McKinley, but at the Republic and the majesty of law which guarantees liberty of person and safety of property. Any doctrine which justifies and encourages assassination is utterly hostile to civilization and the welfare of mankind, and must be no longer tolerated in this country, and we demand that laws, State and National, be enacted for the effective suppression of such teachings. The pledge of President Roosevelt that he will continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley has our unqualified approval, and entitles him to our loyal support. The wisdom, patriotism and courage shown by him in every public capacity in which he has served command the universal confidence of his countrymen. The Republican party, since its organization, has been the friend of labor. Its industrial policies have brought American labor and its compensation to the highest standard ever attained in the world. It pledges itself to maintain the rights and liberties of the working people and protect them from any encroachment thereon." It indorsed Governor Voorhees's administration and called attention to the fact that "under the policy inaugurated by the Republican party in this State, over $800,000 was appropriated at the last session of the Legislature toward the payment of the State School tax, every dollar of which is a contribution toward the reduction of local taxes. More than $1,500,000 of the State's income is now annually disbursed to our various taxing districts as their dividend from a wise administration of State affairs."

October 1, 1901, at Trenton.—The platform ignored Bryan and the money question and, while deploring the death of President McKinley, demanded that adequate laws be enacted to provide for similar cases in the future. It dealt largely with State issues, and denounced the course of the Republican Governor and Legislature and demanded a thorough revision of the State tax laws. Among other planks are these: "Every attempt on the part of organized labor to secure legislation in its interest has been defeated by the Republican party. It has shown that it is hostile to the wage workers of the State. Every important act on the statute books in the interest of labor was placed there by Democratic legislatures. We believe that the true interest of labor and capital lies in a complete comprehension of their respective rights and duties and a common desire to have a complete understanding between them. They are friends, and not foes. Great loss has fallen upon the industrial interest of the State by bitter struggles, which have resulted in strikes and discontent."

The platform extended sympathy to the Boers and declared for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

NEW-MEXICO.

March 17, 1900.—The resolutions adopted by the Territorial convention warmly indorsed the National Administration and that of Governor Otero. They also favored the gold standard, expansion, the bill introduced by Senator Depew to promote the mining interests of the country and the Territorial Judiciary.

Republican.

October 5, 1900.—The convention affirmed allegiance to the Kansas City platform and candidates, condemned the course of the Administration on domestic and foreign matters, and on local questions said: "We condemn the Land Commission of the Territory for its selection and sale of large and valuable tracts of timber land at inadequate prices to favored speculators and corporations and call upon the Secretary of the Interior to exercise close scrutiny of these transactions. We condemn the McKinley Administration for the appointment of an incompetent Governor for New-Mexico, whose disregard for the law and vicious partisanship have brought disgrace upon the good name of our Territory. We favor the passage of a Fellow Servant act by the Legislature of New-Mexico, making railroad companies and other corporations and individuals liable for the death or injury of any of their employes while in the discharge of their duties, when caused by the negligence or fault of said companies, corporations or individuals, or any of their employes, without the negligence or default of the employes so killed or injured. We demand the repeal of the present inadequate road law and the substitution thereof of a satisfactory measure for the construction and supervision of the public highways."

NEW-YORK.

September 4, 1900.—The platform approved the administration of President McKinley and urged voters to continue it in power in view of the great prosperity which had attended its policies, while it called attention to the distress which was prevalent during the Cleveland Administration. Regarding the cry of "imperialism" raised by the Democrats it said: "Neither in the Philippines nor elsewhere will the cause of human liberty look for its champion to a party whose only hope of obtaining power lies in the suppression of human rights and in an organized conspiracy to nullify the guarantees with which the Constitution endeavors to surround the citizen. From thousands of polling places in this election, in which the Democratic party is so much concerned about the 'consent of the governed,' the negro citizen will be excluded by laws so contrived as to keep out the negro Republican while admitting the white Democrat, though both present themselves with similar qualifications except as to color. The party which will not allow the Constitution to follow the flag through the Carolinas, through Mississippi and Texas has no occasion to distress itself about the Constitution's journey four thousand miles across the ocean. There is no middle course between responsibility for the government of the Philippines and abandoning them to be seized by some other power. The Democratic plan of conferring sovereign rights upon the Filipinos and at the same time establishing a protectorate over them is impracticable. It is responsibility without authority." Regarding Republican administration in the State, it said: "The Republican party has been in control of the State for the last seven years. During that time the State has increased greatly in population, thereby causing a relative annual increase in expenditure for many public purposes. This is illustrated in the increased appropriations for the common schools, which in ten years have grown from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. Within the period of Republican control, moreover, the State has assumed the expense of caring for the indigent and insane. That item of expense seven years ago, when the maintenance of charitable institutions was principally a charge upon the counties, amounted, as against the State, to only about $2,500,000. The great reforms inaugurated by State control, which have done so much for the improvement of the condition of the helpless and unfortunate, compelled an expenditure in 1899 of nearly $9,000,000. Notwithstanding these great and increasing burdens, Republican legislation and administration have brought about a gradual lowering of the tax rate until this year it has reached the amazingly low point of one and ninety-six hundredths mills on the dollar of the equalized valuation of real and personal property. This great lowering of the tax rate is due not only to the new Republican laws, placing their just portion of the public burdens upon special interests which have heretofore escaped taxation, but also to careful economies enforced by Republican Legislatures and to the better and more complete execution by Republican administrative officers of laws enacted by Republican Legislatures prior to the present period of complete Republican control, creating special and indirect taxation. These laws were not properly enforced by Democratic State officers. The law taxing corporations, for instance, was enacted in 1880 by a Legislature Republican in both branches, but during the seven years of Democratic administration, from 1887 to 1892, the total sum collected under these laws was only $8,915,090 13, an annual average of $1,273,534 30. During the seven years of Republican administration, from 1894 to 1900, inclusive, the great total of $14,957,563 45 has been collected under these laws, an annual average of $2,136,794 78. The number of corporations reached by the Democratic State officers for the collection of these taxes is 6,122. These laws have been changed since 1893 only in the direction of moderation, and yet so much better is Republican administration that the annual sum collected by Republican State officers is nearly twice as great as that collected under Democratic government. The law taxing estates commonly known as the 'transfer tax' was also a Republican measure. It was enacted in 1885 by a Senate and Assembly both Republican. Under it $25,000,000 has been collected for State purposes since its enactment, but the difference between Republican and Democratic administration is shown by the fact that the sum collected during the seven years of Democratic government amounted to but little more than $9,000,000, as against nearly $16,000,000 collected by Republican State officers during the last seven years. The Raines Liquor Tax law is also a Republican measure. It has been in operation since and including the year 1896. The Democrats have opposed it in every Democratic State platform since its enactment, and have threatened its repeal. This law has brought into the town, city and State treasuries of New-York during the five years of its operation the great sum of $60,788,856. One-third of this sum, $20,262,952, has been applied to State purposes, while the balance of $40,525,904 has by so much reduced local taxation on real and personal property. The amount collected for State purposes in 1900 will exceed $4,250,000. The Republican Legislature has also enacted the franchise tax law, which is now for the first time being put into operation. Its results cannot yet be stated. The taxation of corporations enjoying the use of public property will continue to be as it has been in the past, a policy of the Republicans. The proper policy to be pursued with respect to the canals of the State is a subject of grave concern to the people. Thirty years ago, when the capacity of the canals was less than it is to-day, there was moved over them twice as great a tonnage. The last Republican legislature appropriated the sum of $100,000 to be expended in a thorough and scientific investigation of the cause of this decline in canal traffic and of the character and expense of all the numerous projects that have been proposed for the betterment of the canals and to bring about their greater use. It is the policy of the Republican party, if any further expenditure is to be made upon the canals, except for maintenance, to place before the people the assured facts, together with estimates the accuracy of which can be relied upon. It is obvious, however, that the canal problem is not merely one of an improved waterway. Connected therewith there is another—the problem of more modern transportation methods. This feature, together with the question of economic advantage to the State, should be thoroughly examined." The paragraph relating to the water question announces the belief that in the interest of the health and comfort of citizens the people of the municipalities should own and operate their water supplies, and promises that the Republican party will favor legislation to enable every municipality, the just rights of all being conserved, to enter upon and take under the condemnation laws the watersheds necessary to secure for their inhabitants an adequate water supply.

June 5, 1900.—The platform said, in part: "We favor both gold and silver as the standard money of the country—the money of the Constitution and of our fathers—each to be maintained at a parity with the other in purchasing and debt paying power, which has been the steadfast policy of the Democratic party since the days of Jefferson, who declared that 'the monetary unit must stand on both metals.' We pledge our best efforts to continue the work of monetary reform. We are opposed to that foreign policy of the present National Administration, commonly known as 'imperialism,' which contemplates schemes of conquest and the establishment of colonial governments in accordance with British theories and practices, demands large standing armies for purposes of subjugation, impoverishes the people with war; public expenditures, creates hordes of officials to rule over peoples who should be permitted to rule themselves, disregards the principles of the Declaration of Independence and materially changes the nature of our republican form of government. We earnestly protest against the wrongs, the usurpations and suicidal follies involved in such an un-American policy. There is no place for subject colonies under the American flag. The Constitution does not contemplate the establishment of colonial systems. We demand that our solemn ante-war pledges made by Congress to Cuba and to the world should be speedily fulfilled in good faith, thereby preserving our National integrity and honor. We maintain that the Constitution follows the flag over every integral part of the United States, affording to its inhabitants the protection and benefits of its guarantees of life, liberty, habeas corpus, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, trial by jury and uniform tariff laws. A Republican Congress has no more right to establish or govern a territorial or colonial system outside of the Constitution than it has to create a king. We demand that every part of our possessions shall be governed according to American precedents and American principles. Our plain duty is to abolish all customs tariffs between the United States and Porto Rico, and give her products free access to our markets. We condemn President McKinley and a Republican Congress for a flagrant violation of this plain duty, and for their hypocrisy and inconsistency. We express our unqualified opposition to those immense combinations of capital commonly known as 'trusts,' which are concentrating and monopolizing industry and business, crushing out independent producers of limited means, destroying competition, restricting opportunities for labor, artificially limiting production, raising prices, and by reason of their alarming multiplication throughout the country are rapidly creating a condition which is becoming intolerable. These trusts and combinations are the direct outgrowth of the policy of the Republican party, which has created, fostered and protected them. It receives their support and solicits and accepts their prodigal contributions to aid its retention in power, and it is therefore incapacitated and unwilling to abolish and destroy them, or even to properly regulate and restrict them. The Democratic party pledges itself that if intrusted with power in either the State or the Nation it will devote its best energies to the relief of the people from these oppressive monopolies. We are in favor of an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by the people of the respective States. The Democracy of New-York favors the nomination of William J. Bryan, of Nebraska, for President of the United States."

September 12, 1900.—The Democratic party of the State of New-York, in convention assembled, declares as follows: "We pledge ourselves anew to the principles and policies of Jeffersonian Democracy and indorse the platform adopted by the last Democratic National Convention. We recognize the truth of the declaration of that Convention that the burning issue of imperialism, growing out of the Spanish war, involves the very existence of the Republic and the destruction of our free institutions. We regard it as the paramount issue of the campaign. Upon this issue, therefore, we invite all citizens of our State to promote the election of a Democratic President, however they may differ upon National issues which at this time are inferior in rank. In the presence of this momentous peril to our land and to the cause of Democratic and industrial self-government we are confident that the patriotic citizens of this State, faithful to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, will not permit themselves to be divided upon any difference of belief or judgment as to any other question of governmental policy. The issue now paramount includes the question of the perversion of the power of Government to the exclusive benefit of favored classes, or of the substitution of government by syndicate for government of, by and for the people. . . . We condemn the corporate combination known as the Ice Trust and denounce all combinations of capital known as trusts as inevitably and intolerably unjust to both producer and consumer. By substituting for the natural laws of commerce the arbitrary dictates of selfish greed prices are reduced to the producer and increased to the consumer to the extreme limit to provide enormous dividends upon fictitious capital values. To accentuate the evil, the policy of trusts, in restricting production, deprives thousands who under legitimate conditions would be profitably employed of all opportunity to earn a livelihood in the calling or occupation to which they have been trained. The direct effect of these immense combinations of capital in control of every industry is to destroy all individual enterprise, and to rob the young men of the country of the free field and fair competition which in Democratic times constituted the great glory of the Nation and permitted the advancement and independence of our youth without any favoritism and without any other requisite aids than merit, honesty and industry. The hope of former days has departed from the young men of the land. The outlook promises only that what they are to-day that they shall remain to the end of their lives. The savings of their labor and frugality during a lifetime promise no relief from present drudgery in even the distant future. Turn where they may to improve their condition, they encounter the crushing rivalry of aggregated millions, and the inequality of the contest for improved conditions for the individual renders the contest hopeless. The day of individual opportunity must be restored, and to achieve this laudable public endeavor the Democratic party is pledged in both State and Nation. We favor economy in public expenditure and a reduction of the volume of appropriations to the needs of efficient government. . . . We favor the principle of taxing public franchises, and condemn the failure of the Republican administration to enforce in good faith the franchise tax laws already enacted. We pledge the Democratic party to the prompt enactment and honest execution of just and equitable methods of taxing such franchises. We believe in local self-government and in the right of the several municipalities to conduct their purely local concerns without legislative interference, or charter tinkering for partisan purposes. We denounce the action of recent Republican legislatures in habitually overruling the vetoes by Democratic city authorities of local legislation submitted for their approval, disregarding the merits of such vetoes and the obligation of the Constitution. We favor such reform in legislative methods as will make impossible such forgeries of laws as were perpetrated in the legislature of 1900, to the great scandal of the people of the State. We favor a reasonable and just excise law under which there shall be restored to the several localities the local supervisor of the liquor traffic, now totally destroyed by a system which, under the guise of regulating the traffic, takes away from the people all power of controlling or regulating it in their respective neighborhoods and builds up a political machine to prey upon this traffic for partisan ends. We condemn the canal policy of the Republican party as ruinous to the commerce of the State. The wasteful and fraudulent expenditure of $9,000,000 and the failure to punish those implicated therein is a blot upon the administration of the canals meriting the rebuke of a plundered and betrayed people. We pledge the Democratic party to an economical and honest administration of canal affairs. The complete abandonment of the canal problem by the Republicans is a surrender of the commercial interests of the State to the unrestricted exactions of the railroads. We believe the canals should be maintained, and with economical expenditure improved to the conditions which permit their operation as competitors in freight transportation and as factors in the limiting of freight rates and the prevention of unjust discrimination between shippers."

After a clause calling for a strict enforcement of all labor laws, and protesting against the assumption by the Republican leaders that the Republican party is the friend of labor, the platform continues: "We condemn the legislation known as the Ramapo Water bill, passed by a Republican legislature and approved by a Republican Governor, which granted to this favored corporation such extraordinary power as to place at its mercy many cities and villages which have not yet acquired their own supply of water, or, having acquired it, desire to increase such supply, and we pledge the Democratic party to a correction of the evil, and to the prevention of its repetition by the enactment of such laws as may be necessary. We favor the ownership by the several municipalities of their own water supply and the general principle of municipal ownership of public utilities."

"As the improvement of the rural highways adds to the comfort and welfare of the people and materially aids the producers of the State by affording more easy access to market, increasing the value of farm property, we favor liberal expenditures by the State for the construction and maintenance of such roads. And we favor organized movements having for their object the building and improvement of the highways, roads and bicycle paths. We favor the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people."

June 6, 1900.—A declaration of principles was adopted which was substantially the same as that of 1896. Special resolutions censure President McKinley for the troubles with the miners in Idaho, as well as "the Free Silver Bryanistic Governor Steppen-berg, the Silver Republican State Auditor Sinclair and the Socialist Labor. Populist Governor Smith of Montana," besides various judges and labor leaders, including Samuel Gompers and Eugene V. Debs.

NORTH CAROLINA.

May 2, 1900.—The convention declared vigorous opposition to negro domination, and instructed the delegates to the Philadelphia Convention to vote for Republican. McKinley, pledged support to the National Administration, favored expansion, the gold standard and protection.

April 12.—The platform favored peaceful commercial expansion, denounced the Republican party's legislation on the currency question, declared against legislation by which the people in territory acquired by the United States are taxed without representation and deprived of the protection afforded

Democratic. by the principle that the Constitution follows the flag, and on tariff and taxes said: "We denounce the tariff legislation of the Republican party which has increased the burdens of taxation upon our consumers and increased the powers of the trusts and monopolies to rob the people. Believing that under our present method of Federal taxation more than three-fourths of our National revenues are paid by people owning less than one-fourth of the property of the country, we protest against such inequality and injustice, and in order to remedy to some extent this great wrong we favor an income tax and favor all constitutional methods to sustain it."

April 18, 1900.—The platform reaffirmed the platform adopted at St. Louis in 1896 and instructed the delegates to the National Convention at Sioux Falls on May 9 to vote for Bryan, condemns the Democratic Legislature of 1893 for: (1) its expenditures, (2) its legislation, (3) passage of the constitutional amendment, and on the amendment says: "The constitutional ques-

People's. tion presented by the proposed amendment is one that must be determined by the judgment and conscience of each individual voter. Therefore, we do not make it a party question. We state the evils and dangers and leave the voters of all parties to pass their verdict in the light of these facts. The question is above party and no one should be more active and anxious in our judgment to defeat it than the rank and file of the Democratic party."

NORTH DAKOTA.

May 16, 1900.—The Committee on Resolutions indorsed the McKinley Administration congratulated themselves on the prosperity existing in the State, reaffirmed their belief in sound money, approved the State's representatives, commended the North Dakota volunteers for valiant service in the Philippines, condemned trusts, hoped for the adoption of legislation to restrict them, and favored extension of Oriental markets.

Republican. September 25, 1900.—The convention ratified the National platform, commended the Administration of President McKinley, favored such legislation as will destroy all unlawful combinations of capital formed for the purpose of limiting production or increasing the price of manufactured products, complimented the North Dakota volunteers upon the splendid record in both the Cuban and Philippine wars, congratulated the people of the country upon the enactment into law of the currency bill, which provides the gold standard as the monetary unit of value, and favored the present prohibition law and a faithful enforcement of the same as well as all other laws of the State, especially those in the penal and criminal codes and their strict and impartial enforcement in all parts of the State at all times.

June 6, 1900.—The convention adopted the following: "Resolved, That we reaffirm our allegiance to the fundamental principles embodied in the Constitution of the United States. That we are opposed to the Republican policy of mill-Democratic. itarism, colonialism and alliance with any foreign power, opposed to territorial expansion by force of arms, and that we are in favor of trade expansion to the fullest extent. That we are opposed to taxation without representation. That it is our plain duty to abolish all customs duties between ourselves and Porto Rico. That we are opposed to the Republican principle of protection, which makes it possible for combinations to restrict trade and eliminate competition, by fostering trusts and monopolies. We are in favor of the election of United States Senators by popular vote. We are in favor of an economical administration, equitable adjustment of the burden of taxation, and we favor an amendment to the Constitution of the United States conferring upon Congress the power to tax incomes."

July 19, 1900.—"We, the Democrats of North Dakota, in delegate convention assembled, hereby renew our allegiance to those immortal principles of human rights enumerated by Jefferson, defended by Jackson and in their latest form incorporated in the Democratic platform of 1900. We announce our unqualified approval of every principle embodied in that platform. We send greetings to our ideal leaders, William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, and Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, and pledge them and the principles for which they stand the loyal support of North Dakota in the National election. The Republicans have been in control of all branches of our State government for the last six years, and we challenge them to defend themselves against the following charges and specifications: First—You have recklessly and prodigally conducted the business of the State, thereby largely and unnecessarily increasing the State taxes and imposing unnecessary and unjust burdens upon the taxpayers. Second—You have carried upon the payroll employees and clerks who have drawn salaries without rendering service. Third—You have discriminated in favor of corporations and against the people. Fourth—Your party has been dominated by a machine which has used it for the promotion of individual and selfish interests. Fifth—You have defeated for renomination State officers for the sole reason that they endeavored faithfully to carry out your pledges to the people in relation to corporations. Sixth—Recognizing the truth of the above charges, the delegates who attended your last State convention failed to indorse the present State administration, expressed no regret for its actions in the past, and made no promise for amendment in the future.

OHIO.

June 25, 1901, at Columbus.—The platform indorsed the administrations of President McKinley and Governor Nash. It demanded the strengthening of the navy, the speedy construction of the isthmian canal and the renewal of the Chinese Exclusion act and denounced the crime of lynching and the restriction of franchise rights in certain of the States. It urged liberal pension legislation and the strict enforcement of the law giving veterans the preference in public employment. Regarding labor and capital, it said: "We recognize the right of both labor and capital to combine when such combinations are wisely administered for the general good, but combinations which create monopolies to control prices or limit production are an evil which must be met by effective legislation, vigorously enforced. The only legislation, national or in Ohio, on this subject has been enacted by the Republican party, and that party can be safely trusted to deal with this problem."

July 10, 1901, at Columbus.—The platform studiously avoided reference to William J. Bryan and his free silver platform. It denounced the McKinley Administration generally and demanded the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine, tariff reform and a strong navy. Tom L. Johnson's planks regarding State taxation were adopted in part, as follows: "The acceptance of free passes or other favors from railroads by public officers or employees shall be made adequate grounds for vacating the offices held by them. All public service corporations shall be required by law to make sworn public reports, and the power and duty of visitation and public report shall be conferred upon the proper State and local auditing officers, to the end that the true value of the privileges held by these corporations shall be made plain to the people. Steam and electric railroads and other corporations possessing public franchises shall be assessed in the same proportion to their salable value as are farms and city real estate."

Democratic.

July 31, 1901, at Columbus.—The features of the platform were as follows: The laudation of Bryan and the reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform. Planks were also inserted calling for the public ownership of all public utilities; that all money of whatever kind shall be issued by the government without the intervention of banks; that the "money trust, the parent of all trusts," shall be destroyed, for "without a money aristocracy there can be no imperialism."

OKLAHOMA.

October 5, 1900.—The Republican convention vigorously attacked the territorial government provided by President McKinley and refused to indorse the Administration. Special attention was paid to alleged irregularities

OREGON.

April 13, 1900.—Loyalty to the gold standard was affirmed, the policy of the Administration, particularly regarding the Philippines, was indorsed, and declarations were made favoring State control of combinations and trusts, retrenchment in public expenditures, a constitutional amendment increasing the number of Supreme Court Judges and the election of United States Senators by direct vote, and submission to the people of a constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum, and opposing any measure looking to the leasing of the public domain for grazing purposes to the detriment of settlers.

April 13.—Sixteen to one, an income tax, direct election of United States Senators, the initiative and referendum, Government ownership of the telegraph, and municipal ownership of municipal franchises were all favored. The general course of the Administration was condemned, sympathy with the Boers was expressed, and militarism, the Dingley tariff, trusts and extravagance in State expenditures were denounced.

April 12, 1900.—The platform demanded direct legislation by the initiative and referendum and the imperative mandate, Government ownership of all public utilities as the only means of destroying trusts, that the right to make and issue money is a sovereign power to be maintained by the people, and that all money, whether metallic or paper, should be issued and its volume controlled by the Government, and not by or through banking corporations, and should be a full legal tender for all debts, both public and private.

April 13, 1900.—Among other things the platform said: "We believe the passage of an employers' liability act applicable to railroad companies, similar to such acts adopted in other States, by which the doctrine of fellow service and that of an employer being liable to one servant for the negligence of another, should be enacted; and we also believe that where an injury is caused by the negligence of a master, the mere fact that the servant knew of the negligence and continued in the employment should not defeat recovery."

The two chief planks in the platform were: "Resolved, That while there are many other reforms regarding which we hold firm convictions, and upon which we, as a party, could unanimously agree, we believe it to be the part of wisdom to concentrate our efforts upon the one issue which clearly outweighs in importance all other issues combined—the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. Resolved, That in the accomplishment of this one clearly defined purpose, we invite to party fellowship all those who on this one issue with us agree, in the full belief that the party thus created will be endowed with the requisite wisdom, patriotism, courage and ability to take up and speedily settle all social, financial, economic, industrial and territorial questions that may present themselves."

PENNSYLVANIA.

August 21, 1901, at Harrisburg.—The platform indorsed the administration of President McKinley and continued, in part: "We congratulate the people of Pennsylvania on the splendid prosperity which they now enjoy. The farmer, the mechanic, the laborer and the professional man all either have or may have remunerative employment. We regret that under such prosperous conditions contests should arise between capital and labor, but we hope and believe that these disputes will be finally settled on an equitable basis that will do full justice to the contending parties. The right of capital to make proper and legal combinations has been recognized by legislative enactments in many of the States, and this carries with it the right of labor to organize in proper and legal ways for its protection and advantage; but neither capital nor labor has the right to resort to violence or illegal methods to redress wrongs or obtain rights. The spirit of mediation and concession should prevail in all disputes between capital and labor. We are amused, rather than concerned, by the declarations of the late Democratic State Convention, for we readily recognize, as all the people must, the co-operation of certain newspapers in their preparation, which papers, failing in their attempt to disrupt the Republican party, have crawled under the tents of the Democracy, with their stale and false charges, and succeeded in having them adopted as a Democratic platform. The platform of the late Democratic State Convention will be found in the files of the so-called yellow journals during the past few months. We believe in surrounding the press with every constitutional guarantee vouchsafed to it since the foundation of our government, but it is a public menace that these constitutional guarantees should be so misused as to have permitted many of our newspapers to have degenerated into a yellow journalism such as is detrimental to any State or country. We charge the so-called yellow journals with being subsidized by the full-page advertisements which they carry. The advertiser is permitted to dictate their policy, and at his behest these newspapers have perverted the news columns and the editorial page from being an honest record of daily events to a labored attempt to misrepresent facts."

The platform closed with paragraphs commending the administration of Governor Stone and the laws enacted by the late legislature, and expressed a deep sense of the great debt which the commonwealth owes to Senators Quay and Penrose.

September 24, 1900, at Philadelphia.—The platform among other things demands: "Restriction of crime by faithful and fearless administration of law; a pure and non-partisan judiciary; equitable and reasonable assessment for purposes of taxation; no free gifts of public franchises to private ownership; the right of municipalities to self-government so far as consistent with the welfare of the State."

August 15, 1901, at Harrisburg.—The platform, among other things, says: "We invite all political parties, all organizations of men heedful of the public welfare and all Pennsylvanians to join us in a crusade for the purification of the polluted channels of public authority. We deplore, with all good men, the need of making the question of common honesty and decent administration an issue to divide the people of a great State, but to this deplorable necessity we have been brought by the outrages of Republican machine government." It denounces the course of the Republican legislature and charges it with profligacy, corruption and reckless disregard of all obligations.

RHODE ISLAND.

October 15, 1901, at Providence.—The platform paid a tribute to the memory of President McKinley and pledged support to President Roosevelt. It commended the policy of the protective tariff and demanded the maintenance of the gold standard, the building of the isthmian canal, owned, operated and protected by the United States Government; legislation to restore the pre-eminence of the merchant marine, stipulating that government aid shall be extended in such a way as to benefit all citizens, and not merely favor individual interests. It condemned the disfranchisement; demanded legislation, both State and federal, to deal with anarchy and an adequate penalty for attempts on the lives of the President and Vice-President, and denounced lynching. On State issues it called for legislation to develop the State's fisheries; an adequate system of highways; free transfers on all roads having franchises in the highways, and indorsed Governor Gregory's administration.

October 15, 1901, at Providence.—The platform denounced the Republican administration of the State, charged the legislature with venality in giving away public franchises without benefit to the State and with the waste of public money; demanded a new constitution, reform in tax laws, including franchise taxation like that of New-York, and a law limiting the work of motormen and conductors to ten hours in twelve. National issues were ignored.

October 10, 1901, at Providence.—The platform appealed to the American people to rally against anarchy by suppressing the liquor haunts "wherein, in so large a measure, anarchy is bred." It demanded representation on election boards; Prohibition. condemned the opposition to the law abolishing the army canteen and demanded woman suffrage.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

October 3, 1900.—Nominations made and the platform adopted by the Philadelphia Convention were indorsed and the course of the Administration approved. Other planks were: We condemn the Democratic party for its illegal and unjust election laws, for its blind partisanship in the selection of commissioners and managers of election and for its boasted policy of disfranchising 100,000 voters of the right of suffrage, and we point out to the world that this is imperialism run mad."

May 1, 1900.—The convention viewed with alarm the increasing power of the trusts, condemned the financial legislation of the Republican majority in Congress, denounced the imperialistic policy of the Administration, called for the recognition of Porto Rico on the same basis with the other territories, Democratic. demanded that Cuban pledges be fulfilled, and closed the platform with sympathy for the Boers.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

May 23, 1900.—The State convention indorsed the Administration, declared against trusts, favored a constitutional amendment enlarging the powers of Congress to deal with them, indorsed the passage of the free homes bill and the currency legislation by Congress, and favored expansion.

July 12, 1900.—The Democratic and Populist conventions agreed upon a fusion State ticket on a platform opposing imperialism, sympathizing with the Boers, indorsing the action of the Kansas City Convention, and declaring against trusts, Fusion. combines, protection, militarism and expansion.

TENNESSEE.

April 20, 1900.—The Brownlow and Evans wings of the party held conventions, each adopting a platform indorsing the Administration of President McKinley, the Evans convention adding a plank condemning the action of the Brownlow convention. The Brownlow delegates were seated at the National Convention.

May 11, 1900.—The convention adopted a platform declaring against expansion and trusts. Opposition to the gold standard and protection were also vigorously expressed. Resolutions reaffirming the Chicago platform and instructing delegates to vote for Bryan for President were adopted. Democratic.

TEXAS.

September 19, 1900.—Resolutions eulogistic of the Administration of President McKinley were incorporated in the platform, and Congressman Hawley's course was indorsed. Proposals from the Middle-of-the-Road Populists for fusion were rejected.

August 10, 1900.—The platform indorsed the action of the Kansas City Convention, favored the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, favored Government ownership of the Nicaragua Canal, indorsed the actions of Governor Sayers and the State Legislature, called for equalization of taxation, favored a law forbidding any candidate seeking a nomination hiring workers at primaries, and favored liberal appropriations for educational purposes. Other planks were: "Recognizing that Texas is the natural gateway for the commerce of the trans-Mississippi States, we commend our Senators and members of Congress for their earnest efforts toward obtaining Federal aid in deepening our harbors and improving our waterways, and we urge them to use all honorable means to further these enterprises."

UTAH.

May 10, 1900.—The platform congratulated the farmer, the miner, the manufacturer, the merchant, the wool grower and, above all, the laborer, who depends upon employment for the means to live. Republican.

September 6, 1900.—"We, the representatives of the Democratic party of Utah, in convention assembled, reaffirm our faith in the principles of liberty and justice, the Declaration of Independence, and every constitutional safeguard designed to preserve and perpetuate the blessings of free government. We stand for the old Republic, to preserve it in all its integrity. We favor progress and expansion by peaceable methods to people who are fit for association in the sisterhood of the Republic; but we oppose expansion by conquest and the subjugation of peoples unfit for our citizenship."

VERMONT.

June 27, 1900.—The platform reaffirmed allegiance to Republican principles, ratified the action of the Philadelphia Convention, and continued: "We believe the Republican party is the only party in which true political reforms can be inaugurated and carried forward to completion; It is the only party establishing and perfecting by legislation a safe financial system based and grounded upon gold as the standard; the only party which has maintained a tariff giving us a remarkable business prosperity and great commercial expansion, the only party which can successfully appeal for support to the business interests of our country. This should be a campaign of business conservatism against financial heresies; of present prosperity against certain prospect of adversity in case of a change of policy. While opposing unlawful conspiracies and combinations of capital our party is favorable to the encouragement of commercial enterprise, and is the true friend of labor."

June 14, 1900.—The platform declared in favor of an income tax, election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, immediate construction of the Nicaragua Canal, controlled and protected by this country, and no entangling alliances, either secret or open, with England or any other country. The general policy of the Administration was condemned, and on State affairs the repeal of the prohibition law was demanded.

VIRGINIA.

August 22, 1901, at Roanoke.—The platform denounced all attempts to discriminate in favor of or against citizens of Virginia on account of race or color. It protested against the proposition to confer the rights of suffrage on unworthy persons on account of the merits or the achievements of their ancestors as tending to create a privileged class and discrimination against others equally worthy. It favored the right of suffrage being left as fixed by the present constitution of Virginia with such laws and guarantees as will secure to every qualified voter a free ballot and fair count. It declared its unalterable opposition to criminal trusts and to every illegal combination of capital, but waged no war on combinations of capital for legitimate purposes, and arraigns the Democratic party of Virginia, which has had control of the State government for fifteen years, for its failure to enact any law or take any steps to control, prevent or punish such criminal trusts and illegal combinations of capital.

August 14, 1901, at Norfolk.—The platform praised the Democratic State administration, promised further improvement of the public school system and the fostering of the fish and oyster industry of the State and favored the enactment of a State law modifying the fellow servant doctrine so as to impose "a just and reasonable liability on hazardous transportation companies in respect to their employees." It declared opposition to "criminal trusts" and charged the Republican party with failure to enforce existing laws and to enact new ones against the trusts.

WASHINGTON.

August 15, 1900.—The platform declared for loyalty to the flag, the gold standard, protection and reciprocity, government ownership and operation of a Nicaraguan Canal, expansion of trade and commerce, suppression of the Philippine rebellion, and the early construction of a Pacific cable owned and operated by the Government. It opposed relinquishing any portion of the Territory of Alaska, and favored the election of United States Senators by popular vote.

May 20, 1900.—The delegates chosen by the convention were instructed for Bryan and the platform, after declaring against the policy of the Administration, on both foreign and domestic affairs, and approving the

WEST VIRGINIA.

July 11, 1900.—"The platform indorsed the action of the Philadelphia Convention, denounced the present State apportionment, and the counting out of Republican officials who were honestly elected, and declared unalterable opposition to the payment of any part of the Virginia debt. Other planks were: "We express our confidence in the firm but wisely conservative attitude of the National Administration in its determination to preserve the treaty rights and all other rights of Americans acquired in China under the law of nations. We indorse the firm avowal of the National Government to hold to accountability for loss or damage inflicted upon American citizens the authority in the empire chargeable with the maintenance of law and order and the guardianship of the life, property and rights of Americans. We commend the passage of the eight hour law, and its prompt enforcement by the State administration. We earnestly favor the enactment of all just and proper laws for the benefit and protection of labor."

June 6, 1900.—The convention advocated the nomination of W. J. Bryan, denounced imperialism, declared against the policy of the Administration regarding Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, viewed with alarm the growth of militarism, insisted on the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine, sympathized with the Boers, condemned the gold standard law. On State matters the Virginia debt was not recognized as a just claim.

WISCONSIN.

April 25, 1900.—"We reaffirm the principles popularly approved and indorsed at the last National election, and commended and justified by subsequent events. We hereby express our profound gratification that the present Congress of the Republican.

United States, conformably to these principles by formal legislative enactment, has established as a permanent standard of value the gold coin of the Nation. We indorse the strong, brilliant and progressive Administration of our President, William McKinley, under which our National domain has been enlarged, new lustre added to our arms and unparalleled increase of wealth and prosperity secured to the country, and we rely upon our party to deal with and solve the problems that have come to us as a result of the Spanish war in a manner that will reflect credit upon the party and redound to the honor and strength of the Nation."

August 8, 1900.—The convention indorsed the action of the Philadelphia Convention, demanded that caucuses and conventions for the nomination of candidates for office be abolished by legislative enactment, and that all candidates for State, legislative, Congressional and county offices be nominated at primary election upon the same day by direct vote under the Australian ballot; and on other State topics said: "We heartily indorse the action of the last Legislature on the pass question, and demand that the next Legislature take such further action as shall be necessary to submit the constitutional amendment proposed and passed at the last session of the Legislature to a vote of the people for final ratification. We approve the action of the last Legislature in imposing strict regulations upon lobbying at the State Capitol, and demand such further legislation as shall restrict the lobby to legitimate argument before legislative committees. We demand the enactment and enforcement of laws making character and competency requisites for service in our penal and charitable institutions. We believe that the demand for better highways made by the farmers of Wisconsin should be encouraged by the State as favoring an improvement of great practical value for agricultural interests."

August 22, 1900.—After approving the action of the Kansas City Convention the platform declared: "We denounce the attitude which the McKinley Administration has assumed toward the gigantic aggregations of capital commonly known as trusts. We believe that these are a menace to industrial freedom; that they destroy competition, decrease production, increase prices and have thrown a large army of men out of employment. We believe that the declaration of the Republican party on this question is not sincere, as is evidenced by the fact that during four years of control of the legislative machinery no effective steps have been taken to control, regulate or prevent the organization of trusts, and for the further reason that many of the leaders of the Republican party are themselves promoters and organizers of these destructive combinations. We favor legislation equalizing the tax laws of the State upon the basis of constitutional uniformity, and a revision of the laws relating to transportation rates and license fees of quasi-public corporations. We declare our opposition to the present system of double taxation and demand that taxes be justly and equitably levied upon all property within the State, whether owned by corporations or individuals, without discrimination or favor, excepting such property of religious, fraternal and benevolent associations as is now expressly exempt by law."

August 23, 1900.—The platform declared: "We demand the prohibition of the manufacture, sale, exportation, importation and transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. We declare that no substantial reform can be made by legislative enactment for pure primary and general elections so long as the saloon debauches the citizen and breeds the purchasable voter."

September 2, 1900.—Some of the specific demands: 1. The fixing of a normal working day in all industries which are working under the factory system. The working day there shall not exceed eight hours. Also an unbroken rest for at least thirty-six hours for every wage worker every week. 2. Prohibition of the employment of children under sixteen years of age.

Social Democratic.

The employment of women at night in factories and workshops to be also forbidden. 3. School education of all children under sixteen years of age to be compulsory, gratuitous and accessible to all, by public assistance in meals, clothing, etc., whenever necessary. Free maintenance of such pupils, male or female, in higher educational institutions after sixteen years of age as are judged to be fitted for further education. 4. LABOR LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

The United States statutes at large provide for a Department of Labor at the seat of government, to be in charge of an officer designated the Commissioner of Labor.

Labor Commissioner.

The general design and duties of the Department of Labor are to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor, in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and especially upon its relation to capital, hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual and moral prosperity. The information collected by the Commissioner is given to the public through three vehicles—an annual report, special reports (when in the judgment of the Commissioner such reports are essential) and a bimonthly bulletin. Sixteen annual reports, nine special reports and thirty-six bulletins have been published. It is the duty of the Commissioner to collect and present in annual reports statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the Territory of Hawaii.

In an article entitled "Employer and Employee Under the Common Law," published in the U. S. Department of Labor Bulletin No. 1, pages 98 and 99, the common law on the subject of boycotting, as laid down by the courts, is stated as follows: "Every one has the right to work or to refuse to work for whom and on what terms he pleases, or to refuse to deal with whom he pleases; and a number of persons, if they have no unlawful object in view, have the right to agree that they will not work for or deal with certain persons, or that they will not work under a fixed price or without certain conditions. The right of employees to refuse to work, either singly or in combination, except upon terms and conditions satisfactory to themselves, is balanced by the right of employers to refuse to engage the services of any one for any reason they deem proper. The master may fix the wages, and other conditions not unlawful, upon which he will employ workmen, and has the right to refuse to employ them upon any other terms. In short, both employers and employees are entitled to exercise the fullest liberty in entering into contracts of service, and neither party can hold the other responsible for refusing to enter into such contracts. It has been held, however, that employers in separate, independent establishments have no right to combine for the purpose of preventing workmen who have incurred the hostility of one of them from securing employment upon any terms and by the method commonly known as black-listing debarring such workmen from exercising their vocation, such a combination being regarded as a criminal conspiracy. On the other hand, a combination of employees having for its purpose the accomplishment of an illegal object is unlawful; for instance, a conspiracy to extort money from an employer by inducing his workmen to leave him and deterring others from entering his service is illegal; and an association which undertakes to coerce workmen to become members thereof or to dictate to employers as to the methods or terms upon which their business shall be conducted by means of force, threats or intimidation, interfering with their traffic or lawful employment of other persons is, as to such purposes, an illegal combination. Unlawful interference by employees, or former employees, or persons acting in sympathy with them, with the business of a railroad company in the hands of a receiver renders the persons interfering liable to punishment for contempt of court."

The U. S. Statutes at Large provide that the service and employment of all laborers and mechanics employed by the Government of the United States, by the District of Columbia, or by any contractor or sub-contractor upon any of the public works of the United States, or of the District of Columbia, shall be limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day. Also, that it shall be unlawful for any officer of the United States, or of the District of Columbia, or for any contractor or sub-contractor as above described, to require or permit any such laborer or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency. (Chap. 352, acts of Congress, 1891-'92.) In 1887 Congress provided by act that eight hours should constitute a day's work for letter carriers in cities or postal districts connected therewith, and if any letter carrier should be employed a greater number of hours per day he should be paid extra for the same. (Chap. 308, acts of Congress, 1887-'88.)

All persons of the Government service as per diem employees are allowed the following holidays, for which they shall receive pay the same as on other days; January

Holiday Pay.

1, February 22, May 30 (Memorial Day), July 4, first Monday in September, Labor Day (to employees of the Government, Printing Office only), December 25, and such days as the President may appoint as days for national thanksgiving. (Resolution No. 5, acts of Congress, 1884-'85, and Resolution No. 6, acts of Congress, 1886-'87).

Chapter 370, acts of Congress, 1897-'98, provides that when a controversy arises between a common carrier, engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, and its employees, which interrupts or threatens to interrupt its business, the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commissioner of Labor shall, upon the request of either party, communicate with the parties and try by mediation and conciliation to settle the controversy, and if their efforts are unsuccessful they shall then try to bring about an arbitration of said controversy; that if the effort at mediation as above does not succeed the controversy may, by the consent of the parties, be submitted to the arbitration of a board of three persons, one to be named by the employing carrier, one to be named by the employes, and the third to be chosen by the two first named, or, if they cannot agree on any one, then by the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Commissioner of Labor; that a majority of said arbitrators may make a valid and binding award, which must be found and filed in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of the United States for the district wherein the controversy arose or the arbitration was entered into, within thirty days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator; that the submission of the controversy shall be in writing and signed by both parties, and must be filed with the award and with a transcript of all the testimony; that these papers so filed in court with the award shall have the force and effect of a bill of exceptions; that the award shall be final and conclusive upon both parties unless set aside by the court for error of law apparent on the record; that the award shall go into practical operation and judgment shall be entered thereon at the expiration of ten days from the filing unless, within said ten days, either party shall file exceptions thereto for matter of law apparent upon the record; that at the expiration of ten days from the judgment of the Circuit Court upon exceptions taken as above, judgment shall be entered in accordance with the decision of the court unless, within said ten days, either party shall appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals; the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals shall be final; that employes dissatisfied with the award must not quit the employer before the expiration of three months from and after the making of the award without giving thirty days' notice in writing of their intention, and that an employer so dissatisfied must not, on account of said dissatisfaction, dismiss an employee before the expiration of said three months without giving the same notice; that during the pendency of such arbitration it shall not be lawful for the employer party to such arbitration to discharge employes parties thereto, except for inefficiency, violation of law or neglect of duty, nor for the employes to unite in, aid or abet strikes against said employer, and that for a period of three months after an award under such an arbitration it shall not be lawful for an employer to discharge employes, except for the causes aforesaid, without giving thirty days' notice in writing of his intention so to do, nor for any employes, during a like period, to quit the service of the employer without just cause without giving a like notice; that each member of such board of arbitration shall receive a compensation of $10 per day for the time he is actually employed and also his travelling and other necessary expenses.

THE STEEL STRIKE.

The technical beginning of the steel strike was June 30, 1901, when the annual scale with the wage departments of the American Tin Plate Company, the American Steel Hoop Company and the American Sheet Steel Company expired. Negotiations for adjustment of the annual wage scale continued, however, until July 15, when the wage conference at the Hotel Lincoln, Pittsburg, adjourned sine die, bringing the question at issue to a focus. The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers declared that the settlement could only be reached under a basis restoring to the association ranks as union plants the mills at Scottdale, Saltsburg and Apollo, Penn., classified as non-union by the American Sheet Steel Company, and for which the company declined to sign the wage scale. The sheet company later consented to abandon its claim to some of these mills and to agree to a provisional scale for the tinplate plant at Donora, Penn., the only non-union tinplate mill in the United States. To the concession submitted by the United States Steel Corporation, which came into the case as the directing head of all the interested companies, the Amalgamated Association replied that the claim for the three sheet mills was a simple restoration of former union mills and that the workers, by virtue of extending their organization into long established plants that were unorganized, had a claim for a further concession. The hoop and cotton tie plants formerly owned by the J. Painter & Sons Company and William Clark's Sons Company, Pittsburg, and the Lindsay & McCutcheon plant in Allegheny, across the river, had been organized, and the Amalgamated Association declared that these plants should be included. The claim was refused, and these mills were ordered idle by President Theodore Shaffer. This added the hoop mill workers to the tinplate and sheet mill hands, and from that point the strike spread to the plate and tube and iron rolling mills everywhere the association had jurisdiction over the workers, except at Bay View, Wis., and South Chicago, Ill. The production of iron and steel in all forms fell off at the rate of 1,300,000 annual tons for practically ten weeks. When the strike closed, September 14, the Amalgamated Association had lost not only the mills for which the fight began, but a number of others that had been undisputedly union plants. The average wages of the sheet and tin mill hands is approximately $5 a day, and at the beginning of the strike, when only these men were involved, the loss in wages was relatively high. The first order from the Amalgamated Association threw idle 42,000 skilled men, with probably 60,000 as the total of all concerned. Later, when the strike spread outside the tin and sheet mills, the number of men engaged in the strike was in excess of 150,000. The Amalgamated Association estimates that the average wages of these men was approximately not less than $3 a day. The strikers made a complete surrender at all points, the United States Steel Corporation stipulating that no negotiations could take place until all the men were at work. When the mills resumed the proposition was made by the steel corporation that the scales of the future for the sheet and tinplate plants should run three years, instead of one. The corporation consented to continue the union scale of wages at the organized mills.

THE ALBANY STRIKE.

The employees of the United Traction Company, a corporation controlling the street railways in the cities of Albany, Troy, Watervliet, Cohoes and Rensselaer, early in May, 1901, demanded that the men employed at night should have their wages increased and that additional pay should be given some other employees. The company refused to grant the demands. On May 7 the motormen and conductors employed in Albany ceased working; on May 8 their example was followed by those in Troy. The company made no attempt to run cars in either city until May 14, when two cars were run in Albany. One of the cars was run from one part of the city to another, but the second one was blockaded near the Quail-st. barns of the company, and was unable to proceed. Several thousand persons had gathered about the barns, and when the second car came out of one of the barns it was followed by a riotous throng. Stones were thrown through its windows, the motorman dragged from the car and severely injured, and the car's further progress impeded by the placing of blocks of stone upon the track. Sheriff McCreary, of Albany County, sought the aid of the National Guard of the State in maintaining peace in the city of Albany, and consequently the 10th Battalion, of Albany, was ordered out on May 14 to protect the barns of the railway company, and the 23d Regiment, of Brooklyn, and the 2d Regiment, composed of the State's military companies in Troy and neighboring places, was ordered to Albany. By the evening of May 15 2,500 militiamen had been assembled in Albany, and several cars of the street railway company, guarded by the soldiers, traversed the city on May 16. Late in the afternoon of May 16 as a car loaded with soldiers of the 23d Regiment was running along Broadway, in Albany, near the Union Railway Depot, persons standing upon the sidewalk of the street threw stones at the occupants of the car. The motorman and soldiers were struck by the stones, and finally, the attack continuing, the officer in command gave the order to fire into the crowd. By this volley E. Le Roy Smith, of the shoe manufacturing firm of Smith & Herrick, and William M. Walsh, a plumber, were mortally wounded, both dying subsequently from their wounds. Mr. Smith and Mr. Walsh had been conversing upon a matter of business, and took no part in the attack upon the soldiers. On May 18 the strike was settled, the United Traction Company and its employees making a compromise by which the latter received a small increase in wages.

THE BANKRUPTCY LAW.

The Bankruptcy Law passed by both houses of the LVth Congress and approved July 1, 1898, provides a complete system for the administration of the affairs of bankrupts and the distribution of their property among their creditors, uniform throughout the United States and administered by the United States courts, in place of the different systems formerly in existence in the various States administered by State courts. In bankruptcy proceedings a bankrupt debtor may turn over all his property to the court to be administered for the benefit of his creditors, and then get a complete discharge from his debts. A bankrupt may of his own motion offer to surrender his property to the administration of the United States court and ask for his discharge in voluntary bankruptcy, or creditors may apply to the court to compel a bankrupt to turn over his property to be administered under the act for the benefit of the creditors in voluntary bankruptcy. The bankrupt who has turned over all his property and conformed to the provisions of the act is entitled to a judgment of court discharging him from any future liability to his creditors. Extended powers are given by the law for the taking possession and the administration of the assets, among others, to allow and disallow all claims against bankrupt estates, appoint receivers and take the necessary measures for the preservation and charge of the property of a bankrupt; to arraign, try and punish bankrupts, officers and other persons and the agents, officers, members of the board of directors or trustees or other similar bodies of corporations for violation of the act; to authorize the business of the bankrupt to be conducted for limited periods; to cause the assets to be collected and reduced to money and distributed, and substantially determine all controversies in relation thereto; to enforce obedience to lawful orders by fine or imprisonment, and to extradite bankrupts from one district to another. The proceeding once inaugurated by the filing of a petition by the bankrupt and the adjudication in bankruptcy having been made, the Court proceeds to take charge of the bankrupt's property, and administer the same for the benefit of the creditors, and determine all questions which may arise in regard to the rights of the bankrupt or the creditors, either as against the bankrupt or as between themselves in accordance with the above prescribed powers. A trustee is appointed, either selected by the creditors at a meeting called for that purpose or, in case they fail to select a trustee, one is appointed by the Court. His duty is to collect the property, realize on the same in such manner as may be for the best interests of all concerned, and ultimately distribute the same among the creditors in such proportions as they may be adjudicated to be entitled thereto. As all questions, both of law and fact, in relation to the property or the rights of the various parties must be decided in the bankruptcy proceeding, it is provided that referees be appointed, who are charged with the duty of hearing the allegations and testimony of all parties and deciding all such questions that may arise. Each case, as it comes up, is assigned to some referee, whose duty it is to adjudicate and pass upon all such questions arising therein in the first instance, the right being reserved to any parties to appeal from the decision of the referee to the United States District Court. The duties of the referee are substantially of a judicial character, and he occupies much the position of a judge of primary resort, subject to an appeal to the Court, and is required to take the same oath of office as that prescribed for judges of the United States courts. By Section 38 of the act, the referee is invested with jurisdiction to consider all petitions referred to him by the clerks, make adjudications or dismiss the petition; exercise the powers vested in courts of bankruptcy for the administering of oaths to and the examination of witnesses, and for requiring the production of documents in proceedings before him, except the power of commitment, and, in the absence of the Judge, to exercise all his powers for taking possession and releasing the property of a bankrupt, and to perform such part of the duties of the courts of bankruptcy as they may prescribe by rules and orders, excepting only questions arising on applications of bankrupts for compositions or discharges. All questions in regard to the property or assets or rights of the creditors and persons interested come before the referee for hearing and determination, subject to the right of appeal. After the rights of all parties have been ascertained and determined, and the property has been realized upon, it is distributed among the creditors. Provision is made in the act for allowing bankrupts to compromise or settle with their creditors by a proceeding known as composition proceedings, whereby, if a bankrupt and a majority of his creditors agree upon some basis of settlement, the same, if approved by the Court, shall become binding upon all creditors. The decision of the question as to the approval of compositions and granting discharges to a bankrupt from his debts is specifically reserved by the act to the judges of the United States courts; but the Court, by virtue of its general powers, may refer such matters to the referee to take testimony and report to the Court his opinion thereon. The aim of the act has been to make the expense of the proceedings depend largely upon the amount of the property involved, and the compensation of the referees is fixed substantially at 1 per cent on the amount distributed to the creditors in ordinary cases, where the assets are distributed by the Court, and one-half of 1 per cent in composition cases, and the trustees who have charge of the actual management of the bankrupt's property receive as compensation such commissions on amounts paid out by them as dividends as the Court may allow, not to exceed, however, 3 per cent on the first $5,000, 2 per cent on the second $5,000, and 1 per cent on all sums in excess of $10,000. Detailed provisions are made in the act for giving notice to all creditors and other persons interested in the estate of the pendency of the proceedings, the payment and declaration of dividends and other matters, and providing methods whereby all parties interested may be heard on all subjects arising in the course of the proceedings.

CIVIL SERVICE LAWS.

The term "Civil Service Act" refers to an act of Congress "to regulate and improve the Civil Service of the United States," approved January 16, 1883, which gave the power to the President to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, three persons, not more than two of whom shall be adherents of the same party, as a Commission, with authority to prescribe regulations in pursuance of and for the execution of the provisions of the rules and of the Civil Service Act. The terms used in the regulations are: "Classified Service," referring to all that part of the executive Civil Service of the United States included within the provisions of the act; "Grade," referring to a group of employees or positions in the classified service arranged upon a basis of duties performed without regard to salaries received; "Class," referring to a group of employees or positions in any grade arranged upon the basis of salaries received, and "Excepted Position," referring to any position within the provisions of the Civil Service Act, but excepted from the requirement of competitive examination or registration for appointment thereto. The rules promulgated by the President on May 6, 1896, as amended July 27, 1897, and May 29, 1899, show that almost everything in the District of Columbia between the grade of mere laborer or workman and the grade of Presidential appointment is included in the classified service. The following places are brought into the classification outside the District of Columbia: All executive officers and employees who are serving in a clerical capacity or whose duties are in whole or in part of a clerical nature; or in the capacity of a watchman or messenger, or physician, hospital steward, nurse, or whose duties are of a medical nature; or as draughtsman, civil engineer, steam engineer, electrical engineer, computer or fireman; or in the service of the Supervising Architect's office in the capacity of superintendent of construction or of repair, or foreman; or in the service of the Treasury Department in any capacity. The latter section shows that outside the District of Columbia, as well as within the District, everything in the Treasury Department is classified. Within the classified branches positions excepted from the requirements of competitive examination include deputy collectors of internal revenue, office deputy marshals, pension examining surgeons, private secretaries, certain customs service deputies, certain inspectors in the Interior Department and other miscellaneous positions to the number of about seven thousand. About six thousand classified positions in the navy yards are subject to the registration system, and about as many others of similar nature in the War Department are to be so subjected. In branches of the service outside the District of Columbia connected with other departments the classification is somewhat more restricted. No person shall be appointed to or be employed in any position which has been or may hereafter be classified under the Civil Service act until he shall have passed the examination provided therefor, or unless he is especially exempt from examination by the provisions of the act or the rules made in pursuance thereof. It is provided that examinations shall be held at such places and on such dates as the Commission shall deem most practicable to subserve the convenience of applicants and the needs of the service. On July 27, 1897, President McKinley promulgated an amendment to Rule II restricting the power of removal from competitive positions, which, as further amended on May 29, 1899, reads as follows: "No removal shall be made from the competitive classified service except for just cause and for reasons given in writing; and the person sought to be removed shall have notice and be furnished with a copy of such reasons, and be allowed a reasonable time for personally answering the same in writing. Copies of such reasons, notice and answer, and of the order of removal, shall be made a part of the records of the proper department or office; and the reasons for any change of rank or compensation within the competitive classified service shall also be made a part of the records of the proper department or office." Every applicant for examination must be a citizen of the United States, must be of proper age, and must make his application under oath, up to a form prescribed by the Commission, to be accompanied by such certificates as may be required. The age limitations are fixed by the Commission, and vary for different branches of the service. Every competitor who attains an average percentage of 70 or more is eligible for appointment to the position for which he has been examined. Competitors whose claims to preference under the veteran laws have been allowed, and who attain an average of 65 or over, shall be placed, in the order of their average percentages, at the head of the register of eligibles. This class is limited to persons who served in the military or naval service in the Civil War and were honorably discharged therefrom. The usual term of eligibility is one year from the date on which the name of the eligible is entered upon the register. When vacancies occur in classified positions the appointing or nominating officer requests certification to him of the names of eligibles for the position vacant, the certification being of the three names then at the head of the register of eligibles, and which names must not have been three times certified to the department or office in which the vacancy exists. From among those thus certified the appointment is made. Certificates for appointments of persons in or on direct detail from any department or office in Washington, D. C., are made so as to maintain as nearly as possible the apportionment of such appointments among the several States and Territories and District of Columbia upon the basis of population.

There are four States having State Civil Service laws. The system in New-York was originally established by Chapter 354 of the Laws of 1883, which was amended ing very considerably the area of their operation. An act was passed by the Legislature of Massachusetts in 1884. In these two States every city is included within the general system.

ILLINOIS—Act passed in 1895, permitting the several cities to establish the system by popular vote. In pursuance of this act, rules were adopted by large popular majorities in the cities of Chicago and Evanston.

WISCONSIN—There is a similar State act applying to cities of the first class, and in actual operation, therefore, only in the city of Milwaukee. In several other States Civil Service rules are in operation in isolated cities, established commonly by amendments to their charters.

PHILADELPHIA—Examinations are provided by the so-called "Bullitt bill." Persons admitted to competition must, however, be satisfactory to the appointing officer, and the examinations are conducted by boards within the departments, so that in actual operation the system amounts practically to nothing.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., and SEATTLE, WASH., have rules applying to all branches of the city service, recently placed in operation through charter amendments adopted by popular vote. Similar rules are in operation as the result of charter amendments coming from legislative enactment or from charter commissions in Columbus, Ohio, and New-Haven, Conn. In Portland, Ore., and Louisville, Ky., there are rules applying to certain departments, but not to all.

NEW-YORK STATE—The original act followed closely the form of the Federal act. It provided for the classification of all State offices and for the various departments of cities of 50,000 and over. The application of the system to cities, however, was permissive merely. In 1884 the latter provision was made mandatory and was amended to include all cities in the State. This, with various amendments—principal among which were the reactionary provisions of the so-called "Black Act" of 1897—remained in force until suspended by the act of 1899. The general Civil Service statutes of the State were reinforced very materially by an amendment to the State Constitution prepared by the Constitutional Convention of 1894 and adopted by the people. This provision, which embodies in concise terms the essential principles of the reform, is as follows: "Appointments and promotions in the Civil Service of the State, and of all the civil divisions thereof, including towns and villages, shall be made according to merits and fitness, to be ascertained so far as practicable by examinations which, so far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that soldiers and sailors of the late Civil War shall be entitled to preference in appointment and promotion, without regard to their standing on any list from which appointments or promotions shall be made." The original rules and classification of New-York City were drawn under the permissive act of 1883 and under the supervision of a commission of experts appointed by Mayor Edson in 1884. Rules were adopted in the same manner and at about the same time in Buffalo and Brooklyn. In 1896, through the action of the Commission appointed by Mayor Strong, the application of the rules was greatly extended, until, excepting heads of departments, not more than sixty positions were omitted from the competitive classification. The system of labor registration was also adopted. There were approximately 40,000 positions in the municipal Civil Service on January 1, 1898, of which number 9,000 in the educational department were subject to a separate system. The classifications included 7,000 in the police force, 6,000 in the labor service under the registration system and the remainder, for the most part, in the general competitive schedules. The competitive schedules embraced positions of every character, both clerical, technical and professional. Examinations were conducted by a board of nine examiners, chosen with especial reference to their expert ability, and the examinations generally were of the most practical character. The rules required that the higher places should be filled by promotion, unless the appointing officer certified to the Civil Service Commission that none in the lower grades were fit for the higher duties to be performed. Through careful work the system had been well developed and placed on a highly satisfactory basis. During the period from January, 1898, until the passage of the general act of 1899, these rules were very much modified under authority claimed to be derived from the greater New-York charter. A great deal of laxity was permitted in the matter of temporary appointments in the absence of eligible lists; persons dismissed at any time within the previous three years were permitted to be appointed without examination; the scope of selection from the eligible list was materially broadened. On July 11, 1899, the charter rules were superseded by rules framed in pursuance of the new law, which were put in force by the State Board after the failure of the Mayor to promulgate them. These restore all of the essential features of the genuine merit system omitted from the charter rules, and are expected in future to keep the city service on a fairly competitive basis open to all citizens. Stringent inhibitions upon payment of salaries to persons improperly appointed, reinforcing those previously in force, add to the effectiveness of the system. Since the adoption of the act of 1899 new rules have been framed for Buffalo, Albany and other large cities, which are well calculated to give effect to the existing constitutional and statutory provisions, and that will firmly maintain the "merit system" in these other parts of the State, and on June 16, 1900, through the action of the State Board and Governor Roosevelt the offices in five of these were included: New-York, Kings, Queens, Richmond and Erie.

In all of the principal foreign countries an entrance examination, both mental and physical, is required before appointment in the civil service. The tenure of office is, as a rule, permanent, or during good behavior, and after the employee has become incapacitated by reason of age, length of service or physical infirmity he is retired with a pension, the amount of which varies, in proportion to length of service, from one-sixth to four-fifths of actual salary. In some countries it is optional with the employee to retire after fifteen years of service, while in other countries from thirty to thirty-five years of service are required before retirement. The salaries paid to clerks and other subordinate employees are lower than those paid by the United States Government; but in the principal countries the salaries of higher officials—such as heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions—are, as a rule, higher than those paid in the United States. The hours of labor vary in the different countries. In the far Northern as well as in the tropical and semi-tropical countries the hours of labor are short; in nearly all of the countries, as well as in the United States, the hours of postal employees are longer than those of other governmental employees. The time allowed for luncheon, the amount of annual leave with pay, and the amount of sick leave with pay, vary in the different countries; in some the time for luncheon or rest, or amount of annual leave, is fixed according to the grade of the employee, the higher grade of employees being allowed more time than those of inferior rank; many of the countries are more liberal in regard to sick leave than the United States. An unusually large number of holidays is allowed, especially in Oriental countries; these holidays are, as a rule, religious ones—Christmas and New Year's being generally observed in the European countries; in some countries, however, national events are also celebrated. In some countries females are not employed at all, while their employment in other countries is, as a rule, limited to work of teachers, telegraph operators and positions in the postal service. In Morocco salaries are made up from bribes and presents, and employes hold their places as long as they can squeeze enough money out of subordinates to satisfy their superiors.

PASSPORT REGULATIONS.

The law forbids the granting of a passport to any person who is not a citizen of the United States. A person who has made only the declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States cannot receive a passport. No one but the Secretary of State may grant and issue passports in the United States. A citizen of the United States desiring to procure a passport while he is temporarily abroad should apply to the diplomatic representative of the United States in the country where he happens to be; or, in the absence of a diplomatic representative, to the Consul-General of the United States; or, in the absence of both, to the Consul of the United States. The necessary statements may be made before the nearest consular officer of the United States. To procure a passport a written application, in the form of an affidavit, must be made, which must be attested by an officer authorized to administer oaths, and if he has an official seal it must be affixed: if he has no seal, his official character must be authenticated by certificate of the proper legal officer. The applicant signs by mark, two attesting witnesses to his signature are required; he is also required to state his age, the place of his birth, his occupation, place of permanent residence, and that he goes abroad for temporary sojourn and intends to return to the United States to reside and perform the duties of citizenship therein. He must also take the oath of allegiance, and the application must be accompanied by a certificate from at least one credible witness as to the identity of the applicant, and other facts, and also by a description of the person applying. An application containing the information indicated will be sufficient evidence in the case of native citizens. A person born abroad, whose father was a native citizen of the United States, must show, in addition to the above, that his father was born in the United States, resided therein and was a citizen at the time of the applicant's birth. A naturalized citizen is required, in addition to giving information as above, to transmit his certificate of naturalization, or a duly certified copy of the court record thereof, with his application. It will be returned to him after inspection. He must state in his affidavit when and from what port he emigrated to this country, what ship he sailed in, where he has lived since his arrival in the United States, when and before what court he was naturalized, and that he is the identical person described in the certificate of naturalization. The signature to the application should conform in orthography to the applicant's name as written in his certificate of naturalization. The wife or widow of a naturalized citizen must, in addition to other statements required, transmit for inspection her husband's certificate of naturalization, must state that she is the wife (or widow) of the person described therein and must set forth the facts of his emigration, naturalization and residence, as required in the rule governing the application of a naturalized citizen. The child of a naturalized citizen claiming citizenship through the naturalization of the parent must state that he or she is the son or daughter, as the case may be, of the person described in the certificate of naturalization, which must be submitted for inspection, and must set forth the facts of emigration, naturalization and residence, as required in the rule governing the application of a naturalized citizen. A passport expires two years from the date of its issuance. A new one will be issued upon a new application, and, if the applicant be a naturalized citizen, the old passport will be accepted in lieu of a certificate of naturalization, if the application upon which it was issued is found to contain sufficient information as to the naturalization of the applicant. When the applicant is accompanied by his wife, minor children, or servant, who is an American citizen, it will be sufficient to state the fact, giving the respective ages of the children and the citizenship of the servant, when one passport will suffice for all. For any other person in the party a separate passport will be required. A woman's passport may include her minor children and servant under the above named conditions. Professional titles will not be inserted in passports. By act of Congress approved March 23, 1888, a fee of $1 is required to be collected for every citizen's passport. That amount in currency or postal money order should accompany each application. Orders should be made payable to the disbursing clerk of the Department of State. Drafts or checks will not be accepted. Blank forms of application will be furnished by the Department to persons who desire to apply for passports, upon their stating whether they are native or naturalized citizens or claim through the naturalization of husband or parent. Communications should be addressed to the Department of State, Passport Division, and each communication should give the postoffice address of the person to whom the answer is to be directed. The Secretary of State may refuse to issue a passport to any one who he has reason to believe desires it for an unlawful or improper purpose, or who is unable or unwilling to comply with the rules. Passports are not required in the Argentine Republic, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Chili, Colombia, Costa Rica, Denmark and possessions, Great Britain and possessions, Guatemala, Honduras, Japan, Liberia, Mexico, Nicaragua, Norway, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal and possessions, Salvador, Sweden nor Uruguay. It is recommended, however, that Americans intending to visit those countries be provided with passports for convenience to travel without interruption. The laws of the following countries require that every foreigner must be provided with a passport before entering their domains: Austria-Hungary, Dominican Republic, Germany, Greece, Hayti, Netherlands and possessions, Persia, Rumania, Russia, Servia, Turkey and possessions and Venezuela. As a general rule it is wise for persons intending travelling abroad, outside of British dominions, where passports are never demanded, to provide themselves with passports before leaving the United States. Persons intending to enter Russian or Turkish territory should have their passports visé (countersigned) by a Russian or Turkish Consular representative in this country before sailing. There is now mailed by the State Department, with each passport issued to a naturalized citizen, an unofficial statement showing what his status will be under the laws of the country of his origin if he returns.

NATURALIZATION LAWS.

DECLARATION OF INTENTION.—An alien seeking naturalization as a citizen of the United States must declare on oath before a Circuit or District Court of the United States, or a District or Supreme Court of the Territories, or a court of record of any of the States having common law jurisdiction and a seal and a clerk, at least two years before his admission, that it is, bona fide, his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign State or ruler, and particularly to the one of which he may be at the time a citizen or subject.

OATH ON APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION.—At the time of his application for admission he must also declare on oath, before some one of the courts above specified, "that he will support the Constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, State or sovereignty, and particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, State or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject."

CONDITIONS OF CITIZENSHIP.—It must appear to the satisfaction of the court to which the alien has applied for final admission that he has resided continuously within the United States for at least five years, and in the State or Territory where the court is held at least one year, and that during that time "he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same."

TITLES OF NOBILITY.—If the applicant bears any hereditary title or belongs to any order of nobility, he must make an express renunciation at the time of his application.

SOLDIERS.—Any alien, twenty-one years of age, or over, who has served one year, or over, in the Regular or Volunteer Army of the United States and has been honorably discharged, may, upon application to a court as specified above, proof of one year's residence, good moral character and honorable discharge, be admitted a citizen of the United States.

SEAMEN.—Seamen who have declared their intention to become citizens, and who, subsequently to such declaration, have served three years on board a merchant vessel of the United States, may be admitted to citizenship.

NAVY OR MARINE CORPS.—Any alien, twenty-one years of age, or over, who has served five years, or over, in the United States Navy, or United States Marine Corps and has been honorably discharged, may, upon application to a court as specified above, proof of good moral character, five years' service and honorable discharge, be admitted a citizen of the United States.

WIFE.—A wife becomes a citizen by her husband's naturalization, if she might herself be lawfully naturalized.

MINORS.—Any alien under the age of twenty-one, who has resided in the United States three years next preceding his twenty-first birthday, and has continued to reside therein up to the time he makes application to be admitted a citizen, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one, and after he has resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted a citizen; but he must make a declaration on oath and prove to the satisfaction of the court that for the two years next preceding it has been his bona fide intention to become a citizen.

CHILDREN OF NATURALIZED CITIZENS.—The children of persons who have been duly naturalized, being under twenty-one at the time of the naturalization of their parents, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens.

CITIZENS' CHILDREN BORN ABROAD.—The children of persons who now are or have been citizens of the United States are considered as citizens, though they may be born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States.

CHINESE.—The Naturalization laws of the United States have never allowed other than "free white persons" and "persons of African nativity or descent" to be naturalized. The naturalization of Chinamen is also expressly prohibited by Section 14, Chapter 126, Laws of 1882.

PROTECTION OF NATURALIZED CITIZENS.—Section 2,000 of the Revised Statutes of the United States expressly declares that "all naturalized citizens of the United States while in foreign countries are entitled to, and shall receive from this Government the same protection of person and property which is accorded to native born citizens."

THE RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.—The right to vote is conferred by the State, naturalization by the United States. In several States aliens who have declared their intentions enjoy the right to vote equally with naturalized or native born citizens. But the Federal Naturalization laws apply to the whole Union alike, and no alien may be naturalized until after five years' residence, except an honorably discharged soldier or a person whose parents have been naturalized while he was under twenty-one years of age, as above recited. Even after five years' residence and due naturalization he is not entitled to vote unless the laws of the State confer the privilege upon him.

PENSION LAWS, ETC.

To obtain a pension the applicant must file a claim with the Commissioner of Pensions, Washington, D. C. In a claim by the soldier he should set forth all his military or naval service, giving dates of enlistment and discharge. The prime requirement to establish a claim under act of July 14, 1862, usually termed the general law, is to show that the disability for which pension is claimed had its origin while in the service and line of duty; that it has existed as a disabling cause from date of discharge, and now exists in a degree pensionable under the law. In a claim under the act of June 27, 1890, the essential requirements are: A service of ninety days or more, an honorable discharge therefrom and proof that the disability for which pension is claimed is not due to claimant's own vicious habits, but it need not necessarily be of service origin. In a widow's claim it is necessary to show her legal marriage to the soldier, the date of his death, and, under the general law, that it was due to some cause of service origin. She must also show that she has remained his widow. If there are children of the soldier under sixteen years of age at the date of his death, their names should be given and the date of birth of each clearly shown. If any have died the date should be proved. In a widow's claim under the act of June 27, 1890, the requirement as to service is the same as under an invalid claim, and in addition thereto she must show a legal marriage to the soldier prior to the passage of the act, the fact of soldier's death (but it need not be shown to be due to service), her continued widowhood and that she is without other means of support than her daily labor. The act of May 9, 1900, amending the act of June 27, 1890, gives title to widows who are without means of support other than their daily labor and a net annual income of $250. A minor child's title to pension accrues only on the death or remarriage of the widow, which fact must be shown, in addition to the requirements in widow's claim. A dependent mother must show her relationship to the soldier, his celibacy, that he contributed to her support, that his death was due to some cause of service origin, the date of his death, and, under the general law, that she was dependent upon him at the date of his death. Under the act of June 27, 1890, it is only necessary to show dependence at date of filing claim and since then. A dependent father must show relationship by legal marriage to soldier's mother, the date of soldier's birth and of the mother's death, in addition to the requirements in the mother's claim. Applications rejected by a Board of Pension Surgeons may be reconsidered on the evidence of two physicians that disability exists. Pensions for privates range from $6 to $30 a month in most cases, though $72 a month is granted to those who have lost both feet or both eyes, and $100 a month to those who have lost both hands. The number of pensioners on the rolls in each State and Territory on June 30, 1901, and the total amount paid during the fiscal year ended on that date, was as follows:

COPYRIGHT IN THE UNITED STATES.

Under the International Copyright act (approved March 3, 1891; took effect July 1, 1891) any United States citizen, or citizen or subject of foreign nations granting copyright to United States citizens on substantially the same basis with their own citizens, or which become parties to an international agreement for reciprocity in copyright, may secure for twenty-eight years the sole liberty of printing, reprinting, publishing, completing, copying, executing, finishing and vending his work; and, in case of a dramatic composition, of publicly performing or representing it, or causing it to be performed or represented by others. This term of security is renewable for fourteen years more. The right of citizens or subjects of a foreign nation to copyright in the United States, on January 1, 1896, had been extended by Presidential proclamations to Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, Denmark and Switzerland. On February 27, 1896, copyright benefits were extended to citizens of Mexico by proclamation of the President; on May 25, 1896, to citizens of Chili; on October 19, 1899, to those of Costa Rica, and on November 20, 1899, to those of the Netherlands (Holland) and possessions. A bill of Congress, signed by the President January 6, 1897, makes an injunction against the unlawful production of a play obtained in a United States District Court operative in all districts, instead of only in the one in which it is granted, as formerly. It also makes the unlawful production of a play punishable by imprisonment, under certain conditions. To aid in having the law strictly complied with, so that no question can arise as to the validity of the entry recorded, and that the application shall be in such a form that the Copyright Office can, upon its receipt, promptly make the entries desired, and thus avoid delay through the necessity for correspondence, an application form has been prepared, which can be obtained by addressing "Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Washington, D. C." By application to the same office a pamphlet giving directions for securing copyrights, etc., may be obtained. The law imposes a penalty of $100 upon any person who shall insert the notice of copyright, or words of the same purport, upon any book or other article which has not been copyrighted, whether such article be subject to copyright or otherwise; or who shall knowingly issue or sell any article bearing a notice of United States copyright which has not been copyrighted in the United States; or who shall import any book, photograph, chromo or lithograph, or other article bearing such notice of copyright or words of the same purport, which is not copyrighted in this country. The president of the American Copyright League is Edmund Clarence Stedman, and the secretary is R. U. Johnson, No. 33 East 17th-st., New-York City, N. Y.

TRADE-MARK LAWS.

The following classes may obtain registration: (a) Any person, firm or corporation domiciled in the United States or located in any foreign country which, by treaty, convention or law, affords similar privileges to citizens of the United States, and who is entitled to the exclusive use of any trade-mark and uses the same in commerce with foreign nations or with Indian tribes. (b) Any citizen or resident of this country wishing the protection of his trade-mark in any foreign country the laws of which require registration in the United States as a condition precedent. An application for the registration of a trade-mark will consist of a statement or specification, a declaration or oath, and drawing, which must follow rules laid down. These should be preceded by a brief letter of advice requesting registration and signed by the applicant. The statement should announce the full name, citizenship, domicile, residence, and place of business of the applicant (or, if the applicant be a corporation, under the laws of what State or nation incorporated), with a full and clear specification of the trade-mark, particularly discriminating between its essential and non-essential features. It should also state from what time the trade-mark has been used by the applicant, the class of merchandise, and the particular goods comprised in such class to which the trade-mark is appropriated, and the manner in which the trade-mark has been applied to the goods. The declaration should be in the form of an oath by the person, or by a member of the firm, or by an officer of the corporation, making the application, to the effect that the party has at the time of filing his application a right to the use of the trade-mark described in the statement; that no other person, firm, or corporation has a right to such use, either in the identical form or in such near resemblance thereto as might be calculated to deceive; that such trade-mark is used in lawful commerce with foreign nations or Indian tribes, one or more of which should be particularly named; and that it is truly represented in the fac-simile presented for registry. The oath may be taken within the United States before a notary public, justice of the peace, or the judge or clerk of any court of record. In any foreign country it may be taken before the secretary of a legation or consular officer of the United States, or before any person duly qualified by the laws of the country to administer oaths, whose official character shall be certified by a representative of the United States having an official seal. A fee of $25 is required on filing application, except in cases named in the following: Owners or trade-marks for which protection has been sought by registering them in the Patent Office under the act of July 8, 1870 (declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States), may register the same for the same goods, without fee, on compliance with the foregoing requirements. With each application of this character a specific reference to the date and number of the former certificate is required. Applicants whose cases were filed under the act of 1870, either prior to or since the decision of the Supreme Court declaring it unconstitutional, which are now pending before the office, are advised to prepare applications in conformity with the law and foregoing rules. On the receipt of such an application, referring to the date of the one formerly filed, all fees thereon will be duly applied. Those who have paid only $10 as a first fee are advised that the law does not provide for a division of the legal fee of $25, and that the remainder of the entire fee is required before the application can be entertained.

POSTAL INFORMATION.

CLASSES OF DOMESTIC MAIL MATTER.—Domestic mail is divided into four classes, as follows: First Class—Letters, postal cards, private mailing cards and matter wholly or partly in writing, whether sealed or unsealed (except manuscript copy accompanying proof sheets or corrected proof sheets of the same), and all matter sealed or otherwise closed against inspection. Rates of postage—Two cents per ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards, one cent each. Private mailing cards with written messages, conforming to Government cards in size and weight, and to the regulations prescribed by the Postmaster-General, one cent each. On "drop" letters two cents per ounce or fraction thereof, when mailed at letter-carrier offices or for delivery by the Rural Free Delivery Service, and one cent per ounce or fraction thereof at other offices. Second Class—Newspapers and publications issued at stated intervals as often as four times a year, bearing a date of issue and numbered consecutively, issued from a known office of publication, and formed of printed paper sheets, without board, cloth, leather or other substantial binding. Such publications must be originated and published for the dissemination of information of a public character, or devoted to literature, the sciences, art, or some special industry. They must have a legitimate list of subscribers approximating 5 per cent of the number of copies regularly issued and circulated, and must not be designed primarily for advertising purposes, or for circulation free, or at nominal rates, or have the characteristics of books. Rate of postage—For publishers and news agents, one cent a pound or fraction thereof. For others than publishers and news agents, one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof. Third Class—Books, periodicals and matter wholly in print (not included in second class), proof sheets, corrected proof sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same. Rate of postage—One cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. Seeds, scions, cuttings, roots and plants, and also correspondence of the blind printed in raised characters, and sent unsealed are mailable at third class rates. The insertion of the date, name of the addressee and sender in writing, does not impair the rights of a circular to the third class. Fourth Class—Merchandise—namely, all matter not embraced in the other three classes, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag, or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service, and not above the weight provided by law. Rate of postage—One cent per ounce or fraction thereof, but on seeds, cuttings, roots, scions and plants, one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

PAYMENT OF POSTAGE.—On first class matter the postage should be fully prepaid, but if two cents in stamps be affixed the matter will be dispatched with the deficient postage rated thereon, to be collected of addressee before delivery. Packages of first class matter exceeding four (4) pounds in weight must be fully prepaid; but letters and packages of first class matter weighing less than four (4) pounds when prepaid one full letter rate, will be dispatched and the deficiency collected of the addressee on delivery. On second class, third class and fourth class matter the postage must be fully prepaid.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT.—A package must not exceed four pounds in weight, unless it be a single book. Second class matter and fully prepaid first class matter are not subject to the four pound limitation.

REGISTRY SYSTEM.—All mailable matter may be registered if fully prepaid with ordinary postage stamps, but not matter addressed to fictitious names, other than legitimate trade names, initials or box numbers, or bearing vague and indefinite addresses. The registry fee is eight cents, in addition to the postage, both of which must invariably be prepaid.

MONEY ORDER SYSTEM.—The following are the fees for domestic money orders: For orders not exceeding $2 50, 2c.; exceeding $2 50 and not above $5, 5c.; exceeding $5 and not above $10, 8c.; exceeding $10 and not above $20, 10c.; exceeding $20 and not above $30, 12c.; exceeding $30 and not above $40, 15c.; exceeding $40 and not above $50, 18c.; exceeding $50 and not above $60, 20c.; exceeding $60 and not above $75, 25c.; exceeding $75 and not above $100, 30c. The maximum amount of a single order is $100. International money orders may be issued up to $100, which is the maximum, and the rate is 10 cents on each $10 or fraction thereof, except that domestic rates are charged for orders drawn on Canada, Cuba and the Philippines, and that for Mexican orders only one-half of regular international fee is exacted. Postal conventions are now in operation for the exchange of money orders between the United States and the following countries: Great Britain, Switzerland, Germany, France, Italy, Canada, Newfoundland, Jamaica, New South Wales, Victoria, New-Zealand, Queensland, Cape Colony, Windward Islands (Barbados, Grenada, St. Vincent and St. Lucia), Leeward Islands (Antigua, St. Christopher-Nevis, Dominica, Montserrat and the Virgin Islands), Belgium, Portugal (including the Azores and Madeira), Tasmania, Sweden, Norway, Japan, Denmark, Netherlands, Bahama Islands, Trinidad and Tobago, Austria, Hungary, British Guiana, Luxembourg, Bermuda, South Australia, Salvador, Chili, Honduras, Egypt, Hong Kong, British Honduras, Cuba, Russia, Mexico, Bolivia and Apia (Samoa).

SPECIAL DELIVERY.—The regulations governing "rapid" or "special delivery" provide that any article of mailable matter bearing a 10-cent special delivery stamp in addition to the lawful postage is entitled to immediate delivery on its arrival at the office of address, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 11 p. m., if the office be of the free delivery class, and between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., and to the arrival of the last mail, provided this be not later than 9 p. m., if the office be other than a free delivery office. To entitle such a letter to immediate delivery the residence or place of business of the addressee must be within the regular letter-carrier limits of a free delivery office, and within one mile of any other office. Special delivery stamps are not available for the payment of postage, nor can ordinary postage stamps be used to secure immediate delivery of mail matter.

FOREIGN POSTAGE RATES.—The rates of postage to all foreign countries and colonies (except Canada and Mexico) are as follows:

Letters, 15 grams ($\frac{1}{2}$ ounce).....	5 cents.
Postal cards, each.....	2 cents.
Double postal cards, each.....	4 cents.
Newspapers and other printed matter, per 2 ounces.....	1 cent.
Commercial papers:
Packets not in excess of 10 ounces.....	5 cents.
Packets in excess of 10 ounces, for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof.....	1 cent.
Samples of merchandise:
Packets not in excess of 4 ounces.....	2 cents.
Packets in excess of 4 ounces, for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof.....	1 cent.
Registration fee on letters or other articles.....	8 cents.

Ordinary letters for any foreign country (except Canada and Mexico) must be forwarded whether any postage is prepaid on them or not. All other mailable matter must be prepaid, at least partially. Matter mailed in the United States addressed to Canada or Mexico is subject to the same postage rates and conditions as it would be if it were addressed for delivery in the United States. Full prepayment is required upon all registered articles; and postage upon all articles other than letters is required to be prepaid, at least in part. If the postage is not prepaid in full, double the amount of the deficiency will be collected of the addressee when the article is delivered. The rate on "commercial papers" per 2 ounces is the same as for "printed matter," except that the lowest charge on any package, whatever its weight, is five cents. The rate on samples of merchandise per 2 ounces is also the same as for "printed matter," except that the lowest charge on any package, whatever its weight, is two cents.

Articles of every kind and nature which are admitted to the United States domestic mails are admitted to the mails exchanged between the United States and the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai, China; subject, however, to the following rates of postage, which must be prepaid, in all cases, by means of United States postage stamps on all articles, except official correspondence in "penalty" envelopes: First-class matter, 5 cents for each one-half ounce or fraction of one-half ounce. Postal cards, single, 2 cents each; double, 4 cents each. Second and third class matter, and samples of merchandise not exceeding twelve ounces in weight, 1 cent for each two or fraction of two ounces. Fourth-class matter, 1 cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. Packages of third and fourth class matter (except single volumes of printed books) must not exceed four pounds in weight. Registration fee, 5 cents; no additional charge for return receipt. Articles other than letters in their usual and ordinary form must not be closed against inspection, but must be so wrapped or inclosed that they may be readily and thoroughly examined by postmasters and customs officers. Articles addressed for delivery at the following places in China, namely: Chefoo (Yentai), Chin Kiang, Chung Kiang, Hankow, Hang Chow, Ichang, Kaiping, Kaigan, Kinkiang, Nanking, New-Chwang, Ningpo, Ourga, Peking, Shanghai, Taku, Tientsin, Wenchow, Wuchang, Wuhu and Yentai, are transmissible in the mails made up at San Francisco, Seattle and Tacoma for the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai; but at places other than Shanghai additional charges for postage may be collected of the addressees upon the delivery of the articles.

PARCELS POST.—The first parcels post convention between the United States and any country in Europe was signed between the United States and Germany on August 20, 1899, and went into operation October 1. It was the beginning of a postal service by means of which articles of merchandise may be exchanged by mail between the two countries, provided they are put up in packages which do not exceed eleven pounds in weight. The postage rate for parcels going from the United States to Germany is fixed at 12 cents for each pound or fraction of a pound. The rate in Germany on parcels for the United States is fixed at 2 marks 40 pfennigs a parcel, whatever its weight, but a reduced rate of 1 mark 60 pfennigs may be adopted for a parcel not exceeding in weight one kilogram, equivalent to two pounds three ounces. Provision is made for customs declaration and payment. The United States had parcels post conventions with several countries in Central and South America and the West India Islands, but this was the first convention made with any country in Europe. The law empowers the Postmaster-General to make such conventions by and with the advice and consent of the President.

POSTAGE RATES BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND ISLAND POSSESSIONS.—All mail matter sent between the United States and Cuba, the Island of Guam, the Philippine Archipelago, or Tutuila (including all adjacent islands of the Samoan group which are possessions of the United States) or from one to another of these islands is subject to the United States domestic classification, conditions and rates of postage. Note 1. To insure prompt delivery, mail matter sent to persons in the United States service should include in the address the complete designation of the organization, company or regiment, vessel, or other branch of the service to which the addressee belongs; and the postage thereon should be fully prepaid. Note 2. By act of Congress, the United States postal laws and regulations, and all domestic postal conditions (including payment of postage with United States postage stamps) are in effect to, from and within the Island of Porto Rico. Note 3. By act of Congress, the Hawaiian Islands became a Territory of the United States June 14, 1900; consequently, the United States postal laws and regulations, and all domestic postal conditions (including payment of postage with United States postage stamps) shall, from that date, be in effect to, from and within the Territory of Hawaii. Note 4. In this order the Island of Porto Rico and the Territory of Hawaii are included in the term "United States"; and the Island of Guam, the Philippine Archipelago, and Tutuila are included in the term "Island Possessions" of the United States. The United States domestic classification, conditions and rates of postage apply to all mail matter sent by or addressed to persons in the United States service (military, naval or civil) in Cuba; provided: (a). That such mail matter sent by persons in the United States service in Cuba addressed to persons in the United States or any of its island possessions, must be indorsed so as to show the branch of the service to which the sender belongs, as, "Soldier's letter" (or mail), "Sailor's letter" (or mail), etc.; and when sent by a civil employee, "Postal Service letter" (or mail), "Customs Service letter" (or mail), etc. (b). That such mail matter addressed to persons in the United States service in Cuba, when sent by persons in the United States or any of its island possessions must bear, in addition to the name of the addressee, the complete designation of the organization, company and regiment, vessel or other branch of the service to which the addressee at the place of address, belongs; and the postage thereon should be fully prepaid. Mail matter, whatever its class addressed to persons in the United States service, serving in the United States, or any of its island possessions, or en route to or from the United States, or any of its island possessions, whose change of address is caused by official orders, will be transmitted as rapidly as possible until it reaches the addressee; the actual location of the addressee for the time being is considered as the original destination of the piece of mail matter; such transmission is not considered as "forwarding" in the sense in which that word is used in the Postal Service, and no additional postage is required therefor. Letters sent by soldiers, sailors and marines in the United States service in Cuba, Guam, the Philippine Archipelago or Tutuila, addressed to places in the United States, when indorsed "Soldier's letter," "Sailor's letter" or "Marine's letter," may be dispatched to destination without prepayment of postage, and only the single rate of postage shall be collected on delivery. In pursuance of the President's order of November 4, 1899, unsealed packages and parcels of mailable matter containing only articles designed as gifts or souvenirs, and with no commercial purpose and not for sale, sent by persons in the United States service (military, naval or civil) in Porto Rico, Guam, the Philippine Islands, or Cuba, to members of their families in the United States; and unsealed packages of mailable matter of the same personal character, sent from the United States to officers, soldiers, sailors and others in the public service in said islands, shall be transmitted through the mails and delivered subject only to domestic postal rates and regulations; provided, that no such package shall exceed four pounds in weight, and each shall be indorsed on the outside, in a conspicuous place, with the word "Gift" or "Souvenir," or the equivalent thereof; and that when sent from said islands to the United States each such package shall be so marked as to show the branch of the service to which the sender belongs, and be countersigned by a commissioned officer or a postmaster; and that when sent from the United States to said islands each such package shall show the branch of the service to which the addressee belongs. Postmasters are directed to advise senders of such packages of the provisions of this section, and otherwise see that full instructions are given for its proper execution. United States postage stamps are valid for the payment of postage in the island possessions; and the overprinted postage stamps of the island possessions are accepted in payment of postage wherever United States postage stamps are valid.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Women have equal suffrage with men at elections in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho. In Kansas women possess school and municipal suffrage. In some form, mainly as to bonds or school elections, women may vote in the following States and Territories: Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New-Hampshire, New-Jersey, New-York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin. The Cape Colony, the Russian colonies in Siberia, North Australia, Iceland, Canada and Tasmania have municipal woman suffrage. The Isle of Man, Pitcairn Island, South Australia, West Australia and New-Zealand have full woman suffrage.

In England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales women vote for all elective officers except members of Parliament. In France the women teachers vote for women members of all boards of education, and in 1898 women engaged in commerce were given the right to vote for judges of the tribunals of commerce. In Sweden women vote for all elective officers except Representatives; also, indirectly, for members of the House of Lords. In Norway women have school suffrage. In Russia women householders vote for all elective officers and on all local matters; in Finland for all elective officers. Property holding women in Westphalia, Schleswig-Holstein and Brunswick may vote by proxy at local elections, and for members of provincial diets. Women who are landed proprietors may vote in Bohemia by proxy for members of the Imperial Parliament and the local diet. In Saxony women vote on same terms as men; married women by proxy, single women directly. Women have municipal suffrage in Moravia by proxy. In Austria-Hungary they vote by proxy for all elective officers. In Croatia and Dalmatia women vote at local elections in person. In Italy widows with property vote by proxy for members of Parliament. In Prussia women vote by proxy at local elections and for members of provincial diets. In Belgium women taxpayers have municipal suffrage by proxy, and in Luxemburg for members of the Legislature also. In Switzerland women real estate owners have local suffrage in the Canton of Berne. In Rumania women taxpayers have municipal suffrage by proxy.

ANTI-WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

There was no open action against the granting of suffrage to women by the women of the country until the New-York Constitutional Convention was held at the State Capitol in May and June, 1894. The women who favored the granting of the franchise claimed that while only a few women openly espoused the cause all the other women silently favored it or were indifferent. For this reason they were gaining ground with legislators. In order to contradict the error, and to give to the members of the Constitutional Convention a correct knowledge of the desires of the women of the State, an organization of women opposed to the granting of suffrage to women was founded in Brooklyn, N. Y., with such women as Mrs. Lyman Abbott, Mrs. William Putnam, and others as well known, at its head. This was quickly followed by an organization in Albany, N. Y., headed by Mrs. John V. L. Pruyn, Mrs. William Bayard Van Rensselaer and about 200 other prominent women. New-York followed with an organization headed by Mrs. Francis M. Scott, Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Elihu Root, Mrs. Douglas Robinson and others equally prominent. In a few weeks thousands of names of women over twenty-one years old were enrolled in protest to the proposed amendment, Albany sending over 8,000 names.

After the adjournment of the convention the organizations, with the exception of the one at Albany, disbanded. Later it was believed advisable to reorganize as a State association, with headquarters at New-York. That was done, and auxiliaries were formed in the different judicial districts. This association has kept posted on the workings of the suffragists. Mrs. Francis M. Scott is still honorary chairman, with a standing committee of one hundred representative women.

Massachusetts had, for a score of years prior to 1894, a number of women who worked quietly and anonymously in opposition to the granting of suffrage to the women of that State. When New-York organized openly Massachusetts followed with an organization, which rapidly spread from the confines of Boston and Charlestown over the whole State, so that now they have 27 branch associations. New-York has five auxiliaries in five judicial districts. The National organization was established, with Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of New-York, and Mrs. Henry M. Whitney, of Boston, as chairmen of the interstate committees.

The following account of the defeats of the suffrage for women in 1901 was prepared by Mrs. George Phillips, of No. 165 West Eighty-second-st., New-York, secretary of the New-York State Association Opposed to the Extension of the Suffrage to Women:

CALIFORNIA—March 9 a bill for women to vote upon issuance of school bonds or levy of school taxes was defeated by a vote in the House of 21 to 14.

NEW-MEXICO—February 25 a woman suffrage resolution was defeated in the House by a vote of 21 to 2.

ARIZONA—March 8 a woman suffrage bill was defeated in the House by a vote of 17 to 7.

SOUTH DAKOTA—February 14 a resolution to submit the question of woman suffrage to the people was shelved in the Senate by a vote of 26 to 17.

KANSAS—March 2 the bill giving women the right to vote for Presidential electors was defeated by a vote in the Senate of 23 to 14.

INDIANA—The House passed a bill for an amendment giving women the suffrage, which was promptly killed by the Senate because "less than 10 per cent of the women care to exercise it."

WISCONSIN—March 12 a bill for woman suffrage was killed in the Senate without the formality of debate.

ILLINOIS—April 27 the House of Representatives killed the measure framed to extend women's suffrage to township elections.

CONNECTICUT—June 6 a bill for woman suffrage was rejected in concurrence with the Senate by a vote of 119 to 53.

MASSACHUSETTS—March 15 the House defeated a proposition for woman suffrage by a vote of 156 to 53.

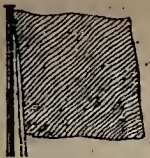

Within the last six years four States have been organized to oppose the extension of the suffrage to women, as follows: New-York, March, 1895; Massachusetts, May, 1895; Illinois, May, 1897; Oregon, 1899. In 1900 the women of Victoria, Australia, organized on similar lines and for the same purpose.

WEATHER BUREAU FORECASTS AND STORM WARNINGS.

The Weather Bureau furnishes, when practicable, for the benefit of all interests dependent upon weather conditions, the "Forecasts" which are prepared daily at the Central Office in Washington, D. C., and certain designated stations. These forecasts are telegraphed to stations of the Weather Bureau, railway officials, postmasters, and many others, to be communicated to the public by means of flags or steam whistles.

The flags adopted for this purpose are five in number, and of the forms and colors indicated below:

EXPLANATION OF WEATHER FLAGS.

No. 1. White Flag.	No. 2. Blue Flag.	No. 3. White and Blue Flag.	No. 4. Black Triangular Flag.	No. 5. White Flag with bl'k sq. in centre.

Clear or fair weather.	Rain or Snow.	Local Rain or Snow.	Temperature.	Cold Wave.

When No. 4 is placed above No. 1, 2, or 3, it indicates warmer; when below, colder; when not displayed, the temperature is expected to remain about stationary. During the late spring and early fall the cold wave flag is also used to indicate anticipated frosts.

EXPLANATION OF WHISTLE SIGNALS.

A warning blast of from fifteen to twenty seconds duration is sounded to attract attention. After this warning the longer blasts (of from four to six seconds duration) refer to weather, and shorter blasts (of from one to three seconds duration) refer to temperature; those for weather are sounded first.

Blasts.	Indicate.	Blasts.	Indicate.
One long.....	Fair weather.	One short.....	Lower temperature.
Two long.....	Rain or snow.	Two short.....	Higher temperature.
Three long.....	Local rain or snow.	Three short.....	Cold wave.

By repeating each combination a few times, with intervals of ten seconds, liability to error in reading the signals may be avoided. As far as practicable, the forecast messages will be telegraphed at the expense of the Weather Bureau; but if this is impracticable, they will be furnished at the regular commercial rates and sent "collect." In no case will the forecasts be sent to a second address in any place, except at the expense of the applicant. Persons desiring to display the flags or sound the whistle signals for the benefit of the public should communicate with the Weather Bureau officials in charge of the climate and crop service of their respective States, the central stations of which are as follows: Montgomery, Ala.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Little Rock, Ark.; San Francisco, Cal.; Denver, Col.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Atlanta, Ga.; Boise, Idaho; Springfield, Ill.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Des Moines, Iowa; Topeka, Kan.; Louisville, Ky.; New-Orleans, La.; Baltimore, Md. (for Delaware and Maryland); Boston, Mass. (for New-England); Lansing, Mich.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Columbia, Mo.; Helena, Mont.; Lincoln, Neb.; Carson City, Nev.; New-Brunswick, N. J.; Santa Fe, N. M.; Ithaca, N. Y.; Raleigh, N. C.; Bismarck, N. D.; Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma, Okla. (for Oklahoma and Indian Territory); Portland, Ore.; Philadelphia, Penn.; Columbia, S. C.; Huron, S. D.; Nashville, Tenn.; Galveston, Tex.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Richmond, Va.; Seattle, Wash.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Cheyenne, Wyo. There are also storm and hurricane warnings, the combinations being made with a white triangular flag, a red triangular flag and a square red flag with a black square in the centre. With the square flag below the red triangular flag, it foretells northeast winds; the square flag above the red triangular foretells southeast winds; the square flag below the white triangular, northwest winds; the square flag above the white triangular, southwest winds; two square flags—one above the other—indicate a hurricane.

THE TRIBUNE FRESH AIR FUND.

Organized in 1877; incorporated in 1888. Its object is to send children of the New-York poor into the country for a summer vacation of two weeks. Hospitable country people receive them, not as boarders, but give them food and lodging and freedom of the country grounds. The fund is dependent upon voluntary contributions. The following table shows the condition of the work from the beginning:

OPENING OF OKLAHOMA INDIAN RESERVATIONS.

In accordance with a proclamation by President McKinley promulgated July 8, 1901, the Kiowa-Comanche and the Wichita-Caddo Indian reservations, in South-western Oklahoma, were declared open for settlement on August 6, 1901, under the homestead laws. These four Indian reservations contained 3,712,503 acres of land, or an area of 5,800 square miles. The new territory is a part of Oklahoma, and its people are governed by Oklahoma laws. The proclamation declared the reservation opened under entirely different plans than have heretofore been used in free land openings. On July 10 land offices at Lawton and El Reno were ready to receive applicants for land. Non-citizens, married women, unless deserted by husbands, minors and persons owning more than 160 acres of land were forbidden rights of registering. Before the registration booths closed on July 26, 167,006 people had registered. They came from all parts of the United States. From July 26 to August 6 those who had registered were allowed to look over the new country. On July 29 at El Reno the drawing for land began. Two great wheels had been constructed. Three men appointed by the Secretary of the Interior conducted the drawing. They were Patrick Dyer, of St. Louis; Frank Dale, of Guthrie, Okla., and W. A. Richards, Assistant Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington. The drawing lasted four days. James H. Woods, a clerk in a hardware store at Weatherford, Okla., drew first prize in the Lawton land district, and John Holcomb, a cotton buyer of Pauls Valley, I. Ter., drew first prize in the El Reno land district. The four reservations had been divided into two land districts to assist the officials having charge of the drawing. Miss Mattie H. Beals, a telephone girl of Wichita, Kan., drew second prize in the Lawton district. These three farms were the choice of all the thirteen thousand farms opened to homestead entry. Woods's farm is worth about $30,000, the others about $20,000 each. They cannot sell this land for fourteen months; meanwhile these prices may decrease.

Three towns were laid out by the government. They were Lawton, Anadarka and Hobart. The new country is divided into three counties. Lawton is the metropolis of the new country, having three weeks after the opening 15,000 inhabitants. On the morning of August 6, the day the country was officially opened, it contained 7,000 people. There are three thousand Indians living in the reservations, all of whom have been placed on allotments. They are members of the Kiowa, Comanche, Apache, Wichita and Caddo tribes. The population of the new country was 65,000 three weeks after the opening.

ORGANIZATION OF THE LEADING CHURCHES.

STATISTICS OF RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The following table of statistics of the churches in the United States, for 1900, was compiled by H. K. Carroll, D. D. The figures are obtained by deducting from the totals for the several denominations the returns for missions, etc., in other countries; and thus is done to make the statistics conform to the United States Census of 1900, which is the only complete basis of comparison:

POPULATION OF CITIES OF 25,000 OR MORE.

The following statistics, prepared under the direction of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population of the Census Bureau, gives the population of the 159 cities having 25,000 inhabitants or more in 1900, according to the official count of the returns of the Twelfth Census, taken as of June 1, 1900. The 159 cities combined have a population in 1900 of 19,694,625, as compared with a population for the same cities of 14,855,489 in 1890, and of 9,933,927 in 1880. The absolute increase in the population of these cities from 1890 to 1900 was 4,839,136, or 32.46 less than the absolute increase from 1880 to 1890, when it was 4,921,562. The percentage of increase in population of the 159 cities from 1890 to 1900 was 32.5, as against 49.5 from 1880 to 1890. In 1880 there were but twenty cities which contained more than 100,000 inhabitants, but in 1890 this number had increased to twenty-eight, and in 1900 to thirty-eight. In 1900 there are seventy-eight cities of 50,000 inhabitants or more as compared with fifty-eight in 1890 and thirty-five in 1880. The combined population in 1900 of the nineteen cities of the first class is 11,795,869, as against a population in 1890 of 8,579,106, representing an increase during the ten years of 2,916,704, or 32.8 per cent. The same cities showed an increase from 1880 to 1890 of 2,567,452, or 40.6 per cent. The nineteen cities of the first class comprise New-York, which, with more than 3,000,000 inhabitants, properly stands by itself; two cities, Chicago and Philadelphia, each of which has a population in excess of 1,000,000; three cities, St. Louis, Boston and Baltimore, which have a population of 500,000 each; five cities, Cleveland, Buffalo, San Francisco, Cincinnati and Pittsburg, which have a population of between 300,000 and 400,000 each; and eight cities, New-Orleans, Detroit, Milwaukee, Washington, Newark, Jersey City, Louisville and Minneapolis, which have a population of between 200,000 and 300,000 each. The nineteen cities of the second class have a combined population in 1900 of 2,412,538, and show an increase of 33.3 per cent from 1890 to 1900, as against an increase of 79.2 per cent from 1880 to 1890. The forty cities of the third class have a combined population in 1900 of 2,709,338, as against a population in 1890 of 2,067,169, which is equivalent to an increase during the decade of 31 per cent, as compared with an increase of 51 per cent during the preceding ten years. The eighty-one cities of the fourth class have a combined population in 1900 of 2,776,940, having gained since 1890 676,351 in number, or 32.2 per cent, as against an increase of 68.7 per cent from 1880 to 1890.

In the work entitled "Railway Runs" there are records of scores of American trains making runs, with from four to eighteen cars, at from 42 to 68.59 miles an hour. This includes: Oregon Short Line, train of eight cars, making 50.52 miles per hour; Rio Grande Western, train of nine cars, 44.25 miles an hour; "Royal Blue Limited," on the Baltimore and Ohio, 53.3 miles an hour; "Congressional Limited," on the Pennsylvania, 53.3 miles an hour; "West Jersey and Seashore," on the Pennsylvania, with five cars, 68.59 miles an hour; "Lake Shore Limited," on the New-York Central, with eight cars, 48.2 miles an hour; "Empire State Express," with four cars, 59.2 miles an hour. The regular schedule time of the "Empire State Express" for 216.21 miles is 214 minutes, or at the rate of 60.62 miles per hour, and this time is made with great regularity.

The average speed of ten regular daily trains between New-York and Buffalo, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington during October, 1901: Buffalo, 41.98 miles an hour; Boston, 41.27 miles an hour; Philadelphia, 46.59 miles an hour; Washington, 45.28 miles an hour.

Speed of trains between New-York and Chicago, via the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is the short line, and the mileage of which is 912 miles: Twenty-eight hours' through time gives 32.57 miles per hour; twenty-seven hours' through time gives 33.77 miles per hour; twenty-six hours' through time gives 35.07 miles per hour; twenty-four hours' through time gives 38 miles per hour.

FOREIGN RAILWAY RUNS.

The following records are copied from "Railway Runs in Three Continents," by J. T. Burton-Alexander:

In August, 1898, the Caledonian Railway of Scotland was making the run between Perth and Aberdeen at the rate of 52.94 miles an hour, with eight cars, and between Edinburgh and Carlisle at the rate of 50.16 miles an hour, with eleven cars, and in January, 1899, between Perth and Larbert Junction at the rate of 47.31 miles an hour, with thirteen cars.

In January, 1899, the Scotch Express on the Midland Railway ran from Wellingbrough to St. Pancras, with eleven cars, at the rate of 54.16 miles an hour.

In November, 1900, the Great Northern Railway of England, the "Flying Scotchman," ran from Grantham to King's Cross, with eight cars, at the rate of 53.4 miles an hour.

In July, 1899, the Eastern Railway of France, Calais to Bale Express, with ten cars, made a speed of 47 miles an hour.

In August, 1899, the Northern Railway of France, Limited Express, with three sleeping cars, one baggage car and one dining car, made the run from Douai to Calais Pier at a speed of 50 miles an hour.

On November 8, 1899, the Calais-Paris Express, 11 a. m. boat train, with nineteen coaches, ran from Amiens to Paris at the rate of 51.79 miles an hour.

In October, 1900, North of France, boat express, Paris to Calais, with eight coaches, made 57.3 miles an hour.

In December, 1899, the Adriatic of Italy Railway, from Arezzo to Rome, with nine cars, made 45.15 miles an hour.

In Australia several trains on the principal lines made from 39.6 to 40.4 miles an hour.

In August, 1900, on the Canadian Pacific, the Metropolitan Limited, from Ottawa to Montreal, with one parlor car, two day coaches and one composite car, ran at the rate of 54.2 miles an hour.

PROGRESS IN SCIENCE.

The use of Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy has been officially authorized by the British naval authorities, and has been adopted by the Lloyds maritime agency for reporting incoming ships at a number of points on the English, Scotch and Irish coasts. A station for this purpose has also been established on Nantucket Island, in this country, under the auspices of "The New-York Herald." The steamships of several transatlantic lines have been equipped with the necessary apparatus, and now can communicate with land stations at a distance of fifty or one hundred miles. By these means the safe arrival on our coast of a big liner is known several hours before she is sighted at Fire Island or Sandy Hook. Business messages from passengers to people on shore can be dispatched in the same manner, and much time is thus saved. And ships meeting in midocean can exchange news, although invisible to each other. On land Marconi has sent messages for a distance of 350 miles.

Prior to 1901 no lines for the transmission of electric power attained a length of 100 miles, nor was a higher voltage (or pressure) used than 40,000. A line from the head waters of the Yuba, in California, has been opened to Oakland, a suburb of San Francisco, which is 142 miles long, while a temporary extension to San Jose increases the distance to 184 miles. The current is now sent, or will soon be, at 60,000 volts.

Early in 1900 it was announced that the Bell Telephone Company had bought the patents of Professor M. I. Pupin, of New-York City, on apparatus for increasing the efficiency of a telephone line, whether in the air or under water. It is said that in one form or another the inventor received, or is to receive, nearly $500,000. As yet, however, the company is not making any open use of the system.

Other Electrical Advances.

Two new storage batteries have attracted attention within the year. The "chloride" cell, which was the most efficient one known in 1900, weighed 124 pounds for every horsepower hour of capacity. An electric automobile equipped therewith could scarcely travel more than twenty or twenty-five miles without a fresh charge. The so-called "exide" battery, weighing sixty-two pounds per horsepower hour, has come into extensive use during the last year. Thomas A. Edison has also taken out patents on a cell which is radically different from those of the old lead and dilute acid type. He uses nickel and iron in it, and his fluid is alkaline. He claims that his battery will weigh a trifle less, for the same service, than the "exide," but as yet it has not been publicly tested, and some doubts are entertained concerning its efficiency.

A series of experiments were instituted, late in the year, on a short railway reaching from Berlin, Germany, to Zossen, in order to test the use of "three-phase" alternating currents. This is the same general system as that introduced on a railway in Northern Italy in 1900, but the equipment of the two roads differed in important details. In Italy a current was generated at 20,000 volts, transmitted to sub-stations at that pressure, there reduced to 3,000 volts, and then fed into car motors adapted thereto. There were two overhead wires, and one line of rails was used as the third conductor. In Germany there were three overhead wires, one above another. The current was generated at 10,000 or 12,000 volts, and transmitted at that pressure to the cars. Under each of the latter was a "transformer," which reduced the voltage to 1,150 for steady running and 1,800 for starting.

The most important aeronautic event of the year 1901 was a voyage nearly eight miles in length in Paris with an airship devised and navigated by a young Brazilian, Santos-Dumont. For two years he had been trying to win a prize of $20,000, offered by a Frenchman named Deutsch, for this achievement. It was required that the ship should start from a certain suburb, come to and go around the Eiffel Tower, and return to the starting point inside of thirty minutes. M. Santos-Dumont performed the feat on October 19, a few seconds inside of the prescribed time. His average speed was equal to fifteen or sixteen miles an hour, and beats the best previous record. The airship was a gasbag shaped like a sweet potato, 111 feet long and 20 feet in diameter at the middle. From a light framework below was suspended a saddle, in which the acrobat rode, and also an exceptionally light gasolene motor, of seven horsepower, which drove a propeller like that of a steamship.

At about the same time the Count de la Vaulx started in a balloon from Toulon in the hope of crossing the Mediterranean and landing in Algiers, 500 miles away. After moving southward before a light breeze for a day, he was carried to the west and then to the northwest. Threupon he was picked up by a naval vessel, which accompanied him, and brought home. He managed to keep aloft nearly forty-eight hours.

In Germany last summer Dr. Suring attained an elevation of 33,800 feet, or six and a half miles.

Two years' news from Peary was received when the relief ship Erik came back in the autumn of 1901. In the spring of 1900 he explored the north coast of Greenland, turned a cape in latitude 83:30, fifteen minutes higher than that reached by Lockwood, and pushed far enough to the southeast to complete a survey. Then he started toward the Pole over the pack ice, reached latitude 83.50 (the highest attained by man in the Western Hemisphere), and there was thwarted by open water. In April, 1901, after having wintered at Fort Conger, he started north by way of Cape Hecla, on Grinnell Land, which lies west of Greenland. His dogs soon gave out, and he was forced to return. He remained in the arctic region for a fresh campaign in 1902, but sent his ship Windward, as well as the relief ship, back to civilization. Mrs. Peary, who went north on the Windward in 1900, returned with it. Nothing has been heard from the Norwegian, Sverdrup, who went up in the Fram in 1893. Robert Stein, who was taken to Ellesmere Land by the Diana in 1899, came back in the Windward.

No less than three expeditions started for the antarctic regions in 1900. The British party went in the ship Discovery, built expressly for this service. Her commander is R. F. Scott, a torpedo lieutenant of the navy. Dr. George Murray is at the head of the scientific staff. The Discovery sailed from England in August, and touched at Melbourne late in the autumn. Her field of investigation lies south of the Pacific and East Indian oceans, and is embraced between longitude 90 east of Greenwich and 60 degrees west. A German expedition, led by Dr. Ehrich von Drygalski, started about a month later. It will survey the seas and coast between the longitude of Greenwich (a little west of the Cape of Good Hope) and 90 degrees east. An attempt will be made to open communication with the British explorers in Victoria Land, south of Australia. From Gothenburg, Sweden, another party sailed on October 16, in charge of Dr. Otto Nordenskiöld, nephew of a famous arctic explorer, Adolf Erik Nordenskiöld. It planned to touch at the Falkland Isles and Terra del Fuego, and to devote its attention to the region immediately south of the Atlantic and to the south-west of Cape Horn. W. S. Bruce, a Scotchman, had hoped to take out still another expedition last year, but was disappointed.

In medical and surgical practice the past year has been marked by vigorous campaigns for the suppression of mosquitoes (which are recognized agents in propagating yellow fever and malaria), an increased use of cocaine injections into the spine to produce anæsthesia of the lower limbs, and a more extensive employment of electricity for curative purposes. Some improvements have been made upon Finsen's electric arc apparatus for treating lupus and other skin diseases, and both the arc and X rays have been tried in fighting cancer. While enough cases are not yet reported to give a positive assurance, some of the results are highly gratifying. Massage with electrically excited vacuum tubes has also been found to have a highly beneficial influence on consumption, rheumatism and a variety of other maladies.

Several bacteriologists have thought that they had discovered the germ of cancer, but without fully convincing the medical profession. Professor H. K. Gaylord, of Buffalo, N. Y., recently found what he believes is this organism, and the announcement has inspired much confidence.

At an international congress in London last summer to study problems connected with tuberculosis Dr. Koch created a sensation by avowing his belief that this disease could not be communicated from man to beast, nor from beast to man. The utterance evoked a storm of protest, but it has reopened the question for investigation.

The most significant event in shipbuilding was the use of the Parsons steam turbine on a good sized passenger boat on the Clyde. Hitherto the only marine applications of this novel motor have been on a small experimental craft, the Turbina, and two torpedo boat destroyers, the Viper and Cobra, both of which foundered at sea in heavy weather last year. The passenger boat referred to, the King Alfred, proved the serviceability of the system for merchant vessels.

Among the notable naval trials were those of two Russian vessels, the Retvizan, a battleship built by the Cramps at Philadelphia, and the Novik, a cruiser constructed in a German yard. The former sustained a speed of 18.8 knots for twelve hours, and the latter made over twenty-six. In the respective classes these speeds are without precedent.

The trans-Siberian railway has been completed, and opens direct communication from Europe to Vladivostok, on the Pacific.

An improvement has been effected in color photography by Brasseur and Sampaolo which facilitates the production of three separate plates for printing in colored inks with an ordinary press from a single negative. The latter is obtained by a method invented by Joly and McDonough some years ago, and involves the use of a screen on which are ruled very narrow lines in the primary hues.

Progress in the use of high explosives for war purposes has been made on both sides of the Atlantic, and, curiously enough, by two brothers. Hudson Maxim has invented a substance nearly or quite as powerful as gun cotton which can be put inside a shell and fired from a cannon without prematurely blowing up. Even the shock of striking a ship's armor will not explode the charge. Hence it is possible to lodge it in a vessel's vitals and then fire it with a time fuse. Sir Hiram Maxim, in England, alleges that by adding a little vasoline to "lyddite," the explosive which wrought such havoc in the Boer war, he can "tame" it so that it will behave in an equally satisfactory manner.

A company has been formed, with General Josepa Wheeler at its head, to manufacture both small arms and large cannon which shall not kick much, if any. Many inventors have tried to secure this result, so that sportsmen and infantry soldiers would not lame their shoulders, and so that carriages for heavy guns could be made lighter. But it looks as if the system adopted by this company was superior to all others.

Shells carrying high explosives (like dynamite) have been fired with compressed air from a 15-inch gun for a distance of three miles without damage until the projectile bit the target. Louis Gathmann's shell fuse, designed to permit the use of high explosives fired direct from a cannon with service powder, failed twice in succession to ignite the charge in the shell, and his plan has been rejected by the authorities.

DISASTERS OF THE YEAR.

THE JACKSONVILLE FIRE.

Fire devastated Jacksonville, Fla., on May 3, 1901. It destroyed a section in the business and best residential part of the city nearly two miles long by from one-half to three-quarters of a mile wide. Thousands of people were rendered homeless, and one of the best business cities of the South became a veritable wreck. The fire started a few minutes past noon. Some of the dry fibre spread on a platform at Cleveland's fibre factory, at the corner of Madison and Davis sts., caught fire; the negro laborers attempted to put it out without success, and then rang an alarm. The fire spread rapidly. The extent of the burned district was 455 acres, comprising 146 city blocks. Seven lives were lost. The loss was about $15,000,000; insurance about $4,754,000. All the county and city buildings, all the white and colored schoolhouses and churches in that section were burned, the opera house and all the main hotels save the New Duval (that was saved by hard work); the new government building near by was saved. Following is a partial summary of the losses: Public buildings and churches, $1,900,000; stores on north side of Bay-st., $900,000; stores on south side of Bay-st., $1,000,000; Forsyth-st. stores, $800,000; Main-st. stores and dwelling houses, $500,000; more valuable residences, $875,000; smaller residences, probably 2,000, $2,300,000; personal effects, $2,500,000; merchandise stock of large concerns, $2,000,000; merchandise stock of smaller concerns, $900,000; street railways, $30,000; telephones, etc., $50,000, and pavements, $100,000. Many other losses cannot be estimated. All the city's beautiful shade trees were killed, bridges burned, etc. Appeals for aid were made, and $175,000 was received; of this New-York City contributed $50,000, the State of Florida, $20,000, and $20,000 was received from the old yellow fever fund. The rebuilding started within sixty hours.

THE ERZERUM EARTHQUAKE.

An earthquake on November 16 devastated Erzerum, the principal city of Armenia, in Asiatic Turkey. One thousand houses were destroyed and fifteen hundred damaged. Several people were killed.

THE WABASH WRECK.

One of the worst wrecks in the history of the Wabash Railroad occurred at Seneca, Mich., on the night of November 27. An emigrant train came into collision at full speed with a regular passenger train. The loss of life was estimated at seventy-five, but could not be accurately determined, as many bodies in the emigrant train, the wreck of which caught fire, were completely incinerated. A misunderstanding of orders was the cause of the accident.

THE WEST VIRGINIA FLOOD.

Floods ravaged the Pocahontas coal field region in West Virginia on June 23. The town of Keystone was nearly swept away. The loss of life was estimated at seventy. The property loss reached several millions.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.

President William McKinley was shot by an anarchist, Leon Czolgosz, Friday, Sept. 6, in the Temple of Music of the Pan-American Exposition, at Buffalo. The President lived a little more than a week, and died at 2:15 a. m. Saturday, Sept. 14. The body was buried at Canton, Ohio, the home of the President, Thursday, Sept. 19, at 3:30 p. m. The assassin was executed at the State Prison, at Auburn, Tuesday, Oct. 29, and his body was destroyed.

The President was shot while holding a public reception in the Temple of Music. Czolgosz had concealed his pistol by bandaging it in his hand with a handkerchief. He fired two shots. The first struck the upper part of the breastbone and glanced off. The second penetrated the abdomen.

The President was taken to a hospital on the grounds. An operation was performed by Dr. M. B. Mann, assisted by Drs. P. M. Rixey, Herman Mynter and Eugene Wasdin. Dr. Roswell Park joined the other doctors later in consultation. The bullet was found to have passed through the stomach and lodged somewhere in the muscles of the back. It could not be found. The wounds were sewed up, and the President was taken to the home of John G. Milburn, president of the exposition. Vice-President Roosevelt was called from the Isle of Motte, near Burlington, Vt. Members of the Cabinet were also sent for. Until Thursday, Sept. 12, the President appeared to be improving, and on Tuesday, Sept. 10, his physicians announced that he had passed the crisis. Mr. Roosevelt left Buffalo for the Adirondacks.

There was a sudden change for the worse at 2 a. m. Friday, Sept. 13, and in a few hours the President began to sink. In spite of restoratives the President at 8:30 o'clock that night became unconscious. His last words were: "It is God's way; His will be done." Mr. Roosevelt, on learning the news on Mount Marcy, made a perilous midnight ride through the woods, and reached Buffalo Saturday at 1:30 p. m. He was sworn in as President by Judge Hazel at 3:35 p. m. An autopsy showed that the President had died from gangrene poisoning. The bullet was not discovered.

Services were held at the Milburn home Sunday morning, and the body was taken to the City Hall, where it lay until 10:30 p. m. The body was taken from the City Hall on Sept. 16 and carried to Washington on a special funeral train. It was laid in the White House until Tuesday morning, when it was carried to the Capitol, followed by an imposing cortege. State services were held in the rotunda of the Capitol. The body then lay in state, and was later taken to Canton. Services were held at the President's old home on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 19, and the body was placed in the receiving vault at 3:30 p. m. At this hour trains and ferryboats, factories and almost every form of industry stopped for a moment as if in prayer.

The trial of Czolgosz began on Sept. 23 before Justice T. C. White, at Buffalo. He was sentenced to death on Sept. 26. He was prosecuted by District-Attorney Thomas Penney, and defended by ex-Judge Loran L. Lewis and ex-Judge Robert C. Titus, who were assigned by the court.

UNITED STATES INSULAR GOVERNMENTS.

As a result of the war with Spain in 1898 there were brought within the sovereignty of the United States nearly ten million people and about 125,000 square miles of territory. The possessions thus acquired, whose political status is defined as "territory belonging to the United States," are the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and Guam. The Hawaiian Islands were annexed by joint resolution of Congress in the course of the war with Spain, July 8, 1898. Tutuila and Manua, small islands of the Samoan group, were acquired by treaty for naval purposes. Their acquisition was brought about through a tripartite agreement between Great Britain, Germany and the United States, these three governments having jointly administered the affairs of the Samoan group until an arrangement was effected whereby a satisfactory division of the group among the three powers named was reached. Formal transfer of Tutuila and Manua to the United States was made by proclamation of the President dated February 16, 1900. Formal possession of them was taken in the name of the United States and by direction of the Secretary of the Navy on April 18, 1900. Commander B. H. Tilley, U. S. N., was the first commandant and Governor.

The military government maintained by the United States in the Philippines from the date of the acquisition of the archipelago was superseded on July 1, 1901, by civil government. On that date William H. Taft, of Ohio, assumed the duties of Governor by direction of the President, who acted by special authority of Congress expressed by a Senate joint resolution known as the Spooner resolution. For a year previously Judge Taft had been closely studying the conditions in the islands as chairman of the Philippine Commission, to accept which by appointment of the President he resigned a Federal judgeship. His associate commissioners were Henry C. Ide, of Vermont; Luke E. Wright, of Tennessee; Bernard Moses, of California, and Dean C. Worcester, of Michigan, all of whom are now serving under him as heads of departments into which the civil government is divided. During the last year organized insurrection has been suppressed in the islands by the military authorities, who have employed in this work a body of soldiers varying in strength from 70,000 to 40,000 men. While there is still a good deal of brigandage in some of the remote and unimportant islands of the group, resistance to American authority has been so reduced that the military force in the whole archipelago has been cut to 35,000 men. These are stationed at strategic points, and are intended for garrison duty mainly. Samar is the only island of the group in which the army has suffered severe losses since the new regime was inaugurated. Here isolated companies of the 9th United States Infantry have been ambushed by bolomen, the Americans losing heavily in killed and wounded. The leaders of the ambushes have been energetically hunted down by the soldiers and properly punished, so that the mass of the people of Samar who are loyal to the United States now feel secure. The work of organizing municipal governments that was inaugurated by the military authorities while in supreme command of the islands has been broadened since the government was transferred to the civil authorities. Out of the new class this has established has grown a system of provincial governments with Governors for each province that has shown fitness for civil rule. The Governors of provinces report directly to Governor Taft at Manila, and he in turn reports to the *Civil government act has been extended to embrace these provinces, but no Governors have yet been named.

President through the Secretary of War. Governor Taft and his Cabinet are supreme in all matters pertaining to taxation and other general powers belonging to civil government. Requests for military aid are made to him by the provincial Governors, and he calls upon the commanding general at Manila for troops. Thus the military is completely subordinated to the civil authority at present in the administration of the Philippines. All taxation in excess of the actual needs of the insular government is devoted to internal improvement, such as the making of roads, etc. This has given work to thousands of natives who otherwise would not have been employed. Development of the material resources of the islands on a large scale has been hampered by an amendment to the Spanish resolution which forbids the granting of franchises for railroads, etc., and the cutting of timber for manufacturing purposes, etc. The moral and intellectual development of the people has been promoted by the employment of one thousand trained school teachers in the United States, who have gone to the Philippines to supplement the work of native teachers. Internal commerce has taken on a notable growth by the suppression of the insurrection and the return of thousands of insurgents to the ways of peace. There has been no corresponding increase in the foreign commerce of the archipelago, because of the inability of capitalists, under the hampering amendment referred to, to invest in new enterprises in the islands. For the same reason there has been little or nothing added to the general knowledge of the archipelago's resources by exploration. In point of fact, the only maps of the Philippines yet extant are those that were being prepared at the Jesuit Observatory of Manila when the first American Commission arrived there. It is upon this graphic work that the military and general governmental operations in the Philippines mainly have been based. Many different statements have been made in regard to the number of islands composing the archipelago. The cause for this must be attributed to the scale of the charts on which the count was made, and the difficulty of distinguishing between rocks and formations of sufficient area to dignify them by the name of islands. Thus on a small scale Spanish chart of the entire group 948 islands were counted. On various large scale charts of the same area there were found 1,725. The principal islands charted show a total area of 119,542 square miles, and a total shore line length of 11,444. Governor Taft and his associates have adopted 8,000,000 as the total figure for the population at the present time, and consider it a conservative estimate. A Spanish authority, whose figures are believed to have been carefully prepared, places the total at 9,000,000. Any estimate of the total population manifestly must depend on the number of inhabitants assigned to the various wild tribes, of which there are no less than sixty-nine accounted for.

On July 25, 1901, Porto Rico assumed almost the full character of government that is possessed by the Territories on the mainland—such as Arizona, New-Mexico and Oklahoma. Under the provisions of the Foraker act of April 12, 1900, establishing local government for the people of Porto Rico, the Legislative Assembly of the Island on July 4, 1901, adopted a joint resolution notifying the President that there had been enacted and put into operation a system of local taxation to meet the necessities of the government of Porto Rico, and that, therefore, the aid afforded by the collection of 15 per cent of the Dingley rates on imports into and exports from Porto Rico to the mainland of the United States was no longer needed. In accordance with the terms and spirit of the Foraker act the President on July 25, 1901, issued a proclamation declaring the cessation of all tariff duties on Porto Rican merchandise and wares. In other words, Porto Rico is now on a footing of absolute free trade with the United States, just as are the Territories of the mainland. After a year's litigation the United States Supreme Court in May last upheld the constitutionality of the Foraker act in a decision which established the right and power of Congress to levy discriminating duties upon the commerce of the insular possessions with the United States before all of the provisions of the constitution are extended to them by specific act of Congress. Thus the extension of free trade to Porto Rico was in accord with the mandate of Congress, and not that of the Supreme Court, and at the request in due form of the people of Porto Rico. If they had not made this request the President would not have had the power to proclaim the cessation of the tariff duties imposed by the Foraker act, which, under the provisions of that act, would have been self-repealed on March 1, 1902. There had accumulated under the operations of the Foraker act a surplus of about $400,000, which is being utilized in internal improvements on the island. This has given employment to many hundreds of native laborers and communicated a notable impulse to the general industrial energies of the people. As a result of the reawakening, the island's commerce with the United States has increased more than 30 per cent during the last eleven months over the increase of the year before. While no statistics are yet available as to the efficacy of the local taxing system which has supplanted the Foraker system, yet it is confidently predicted by its author, Treasurer Hollander, and other officials that it will produce revenue ample for all the needs of the government of Porto Rico, and leave a surplus with which to continue the work of internal improvements. The population of Porto Rico has undergone no important changes during the year. It is still a little less than a million, there having been no notable movement of people to or from the island during the last twelve months. Hundreds of sugar and tobacco workers have been induced by offers of higher wages to go to Hawaii and Cuba, but their places have been taken by emigrants from Cuba, Hayti, San Domingo and other nearby islands. Estimates based upon the returns to the Census Bureau, in Washington, show that the density of population in Porto Rico is 265 to the square mile, which is somewhat greater than that of Massachusetts and nearly eight times that of Cuba. Thus Porto Rico is shown to be one of the most densely populated parts of the earth, its area of 3,550 square miles supporting a population of 962,300 people in round numbers. Since the terrible hurricane of August, 1899, there has been no devastating invasion of Porto Rico either by storms or contagion. Under American occupation Porto Rico has been so thoroughly cleaned and sanitized, as compared with its condition under the old Spanish regime, that the disease spots on the island have been wiped out. Each municipality is now under native officers of its own choosing, and the House of Delegates is made up entirely of men elected by popular vote. The other branch of the Legislative Assembly, the Executive Council, is composed of men appointed by the President, the Governor among them, and natives of high character and intelligence. The functions of the Executive Council correspond to those of the Senate at Washington. The insular Supreme Court consists of five members appointed by the President, four of whom are native Porto Ricans and only one of whom is a citizen of the United States—Judge Sulzbacher, of Missouri, who is broadly versed in Spanish laws and literature, having been educated at the University of Madrid. Until the people become thoroughly Americanized, the Spanish code in the main will continue to be the principal common law of the island. This code, however, has been modified by a commission appointed for the purpose of bringing it in harmony with the American system as nearly as practicable. There are subsidiary insular courts that correspond in jurisdiction to the minor State courts in this country. There is also a United States District Court, whose power and functions are exactly the same as all other Federal courts of that grade. Soon after the cessation of the Foraker tariff law Charles H. Allen, of Massachusetts, the first Civil Governor of Porto Rico, resigned that office because of the pressure of private affairs at home, and was succeeded by William H. Hunt, of Montana, who had been Secretary of Porto Rico under Governor Allen. The administration of the Governor's office and of the executive department of the insular government in general has been marked by the utmost harmony and satisfaction alike in Porto Rico and in Washington. And this in spite of the divisions of responsibility at Washington, where the State Department receives reports from and issues instructions to the Governor and Secretary of Porto Rico; the Treasurer, Auditor and Collector of Customs report to and receive instructions from the Treasury Department, and the judicial officers of Porto Rico are held to accountability by the Department of Justice. Nevertheless, there has been no jar or confusion either at San Juan or Washington over the administration of the Porto Rican government. Under the special authority granted by the LVIII Congress the battalion of native troops organized by the act of July, 1899, as volunteer troops has been continued in service with satisfaction to the War Department. The natives thus employed have shown great aptitude for the duties of the professional soldier, and in discipline and spirit are declared to be the equal of American regulars. The battalion is commanded mainly by officers either from the regular or volunteer army of the United States, though two or three of the subalterns are native Porto Ricans. Upon this battalion now rests nearly the entire military responsibility of the insular government, and but for detachments of artillerymen at the seacoast defences these natives are, or soon will be, the only soldiers on the island. Congress has not yet seen fit to grant the same form of representation to Porto Rico as is enjoyed by the regularly organized Territories, though the Porto Ricans have elected one of their people, Federico Degatau, to represent them at Washington in the capacity of Resident Commissioner. When he applied for admission to the House, near the close of the LVIII Congress, this was refused, as, had Degatau been granted the privileges of the floor, he would have been on an equal footing with the Delegates from the Territories, who have a voice but no vote in the proceedings of the House. Commissioner Degatau is paid by the Porto Rican Government, and not by the United States. By the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, under the act of April 12, 1900, a special account was opened with the Porto Rican tariff fund. The collections under Section 3 of that act deposited with the Treasurer amounted on July 24, 1901, to $609,937.33. On that date the President allotted and set apart this fund for public and permanent improvements in Porto Rico. As authorized by the act of Congress of March 24, 1900, and as directed by the Secretary of the Treasury, this sum was placed in the Sub-Treasury at New-York to the credit of the Treasurer of Porto Rico at San Juan.

Hawaii has presented fewer "problems" to the government at Washington than has any other of the insular acquisitions of the United States. The reason for this is twofold—namely, because the islands were dominated by descendants of Americans and by American immigrants for years before they were annexed to the United States, and because they were annexed, as was Texas, after the people had wrenched the government from the hands of monarchy, organized a republic of their own and then petitioned for annexation, which was granted on July 6, 1898. Sanford B. Dole, who was president of the little republic at the time of annexation, was appointed Governor by the President after annexation was accomplished by act of Congress. The LVIII Congress devised a complete Territorial government for the islands, which differs in no important details from the Territorial governments of Arizona, New-Mexico and Oklahoma. The people are entitled to one Delegate to Congress, who, like the Delegates from Arizona, New-Mexico and Oklahoma, has a voice, but no vote, in the proceedings of the House, but who is paid $5,000 a year by the United States, like all other members of Congress. The people also elect their legislature, composed of Senate and House, which meets once a year at Honolulu in regular session not to exceed sixty days. The Governor is authorized to summon the legislature in extraordinary session whenever in his judgment this is demanded by the public interests. Universal manhood suffrage obtains in all the islands of the group, applicable alike to the natives and whites. The last census shows that the native population, which is almost the purest remnants remaining of the once great Polynesian race, is rapidly dying off. It has dwindled now to considerably less than one-third of the total population of the islands, which is about 160,000. Another large element of the population is Japanese, who perform most of the labor on the islands, and there is also a considerable sprinkling of Chinese and Portuguese. The latter, having emigrated to the islands nearly a hundred years ago from Portugal by way of South America, have amalgamated freely with the natives, until now the line of demarcation between native Hawaiians and Portuguese is not clearly defined. The Japanese and Chinese, too, have intermarried with the natives. The result of this intermarriage between three distinct races—Asiatic, Polynesian and European of Latin extraction—is a character of people which experts declare is unique and wholly at variance with anything else to be found. As the mixture is regarded as native, and as the franchise has been extended to all male natives of voting age, the result of popular elections in the islands thus far has not been what the dominant element among the whites of Hawaii had hoped for. The first legislature elected was distinctly hostile to Governor Dole and the other executive officers appointed by the President. Nothing has contributed more to the growth of Hawaii's commerce during the last year than a decision of the Supreme Court at Washington, which brought the islands under the benefits and immunities of the United States coastwise laws. Since June 14, 1900, when Hawaii became an organized Territory, no entry has been required on merchandise and wares shipped either to or from the United States. For this reason it is not practicable to give an accurate account of the amount of American goods that have entered the Territory. In 1899 the imports from the United States amounted to a little over $15,000,000, and from foreign countries slightly over $4,000,000. Of the total amount exported in that year the United States received $22,517,758 and all foreign countries only $110,953. Greater harbor facilities are urgently needed at all the ports of entry. At Honolulu many vessels are detained far beyond the number of days stipulated in the charter, with consequent increased expenses. An appropriation for the improvement of Honolulu and Hilo harbors has been asked of Congress. The principal sources of revenue are from taxes levied upon real and personal property, the sale of Territorial internal revenue stamps, license fees, penalties and costs in civil and criminal actions, inheritance tax, rates from waterworks, rents from land and land sales. Taxes levied upon real and personal property are limited to 1 per cent a year upon the assessed value. An income tax of 2 per cent was enacted by the legislature in 1901. The validity of the law was contested, but the Supreme Court of the Territory sustained the law. This tax produces about $500,000 annually. The first Territorial election—that for the first legislature—was held on November 6, 1900, resulting in an overwhelming victory for the home rule party, they electing their candidate for Delegate to Congress, nine of the fifteen Senators and twenty-two of the thirty Representatives. The efforts to align the native Hawaiians with either the Republican or Democratic party failed signally. They formed a party of their own, whose principal tenet is "Hawaii for the Hawaiians." As the registration of voters progressed it became evident that the practically free franchise created by the organic act would be generally availed of by the native Hawaiians, as the right to substitute the Hawaiian for the English language as an educational qualification made it easy for them to do so. Notwithstanding a most vigorous campaign by both the Republican and Democratic parties, the triumph of the home rule party was complete. Of a total registration of 11,248, 10,103 votes were cast.

While some of the picturesque quality of life and custom went out with the abolition of monarchy, enough of the charms of living remain to many to allow the years to roll by as if one were engaged in regular pursuit of pleasure, rather than the serious duties of life. Of course, there are those who find themselves in the whirl and bustle of business and slaves to exacting cares and responsibilities, but this condition is largely one of their own seeking, and foreign to the natural requirements of the country. Those who appreciate life freed from its more rigid conventionalities find Hawaii a fascinating resort and a delightful home. The raising of stock has received a new life during the last year, owing to the great advance in the price of meat. The production of milk is very expensive, for all of the bran, middlings and other such foodstuffs have to be shipped from the mainlands. Sorghum and alfalfa are grown for fodder, but these are insufficient to produce a good flow of milk unless combined with other food. Milk sells at retail for 10 and 12 cents a quart, and from selected cows at 15 cents a quart. The progress of public instruction during the year has been satisfactory upon the whole, although the work has been seriously hampered for want of sufficient funds for the erection of necessary school buildings to accommodate the increasing school population. The government continues to give great attention to the leprosy problem. There is still some controversy as to whether or not the disease is contagious, but the consensus of expert scientific opinion seems to be that if it is contagious it is not so in all cases, nor is it necessarily hereditary. Many instances are recorded where wives have remained with leprosy husbands for many years without contracting the disease. The disease, if inherited, does not make its appearance until the victim arrives at the age of six years. In the great majority of cases, however, children born of parents who are lepers are not afflicted with the disease at all. The disease does not always shorten life, but in most cases the victims do not survive more than ten years. That conditions of life must play an important part in the contraction of leprosy appears to be demonstrated by the fact that in Hawaii it is very rarely found among other nationalities than the native Hawaiians and Chinese, the Hawaiians far outnumbering all others. It is thought that inoculation probably accounts for the cases occurring among Caucasians. No positive cure for the disease has yet been found, although many remedies have been found efficacious in the arrest of its progress. A receiving hospital is maintained at Kalihi about two miles from Honolulu, and a permanent hospital has been established on the northwest side of the island of Molokai. This leprosy settlement comprises about 8,300 acres, and is surrounded on three sides by the sea and on the other side by a sheer precipice ranging in height from 1,800 to 2,000 feet. It is inaccessible except from the sea and by a single trail cut into the face of the mountain. No one is allowed to visit the settlement, except by permission of the Board of Health. By a diligent enforcement of the law strong hope is entertained that the disease will be eradicated from the islands at no distant day. The estimate of appropriations required for the next fiscal year aggregates $1,412,444, and revenues to meet these expenses exceed these estimates by more than $500,000.

GUAM.

CAPITAL.....Agana.

GOVERNOR.....Commander Seaton Schroeder, U. S. N.

Guam, also spelled by some voyagers and explorers Gwam, Guajan and Gushan, is the most southerly of the chain of islands known as the Marianas, or Ladrões, and affords a stopping place and harbor for the United States ships en route from Pacific ports to the Philippines by way of Hawaii. The chain extends in a northerly and southerly direction between latitudes 13 degrees 12 minutes north and 20 degrees 32 minutes north, a distance of 420 miles. All of the islands of the chain are volcanic. There is no record of the island of Guam ever having been surveyed. Its area is estimated at 150 square miles, only one-half of which is supposed to be susceptible to cultivation. Nearly all of this, however, is said to be virgin soil, only about 1 per cent of it being now under cultivation. It does not appear that during the four centuries the Spaniards owned Guam they attempted to settle it or develop it. It is being utilized at present by the United States simply as a naval station, and its administration probably will be continued indefinitely under the Navy Department. One or more warships are kept constantly in the harbor near Agana, and the commander of the station is also Governor of the island. The first naval officer to hold the office was Captain Richard L. Leary, and after about eighteen months' service he was succeeded by Commander Seaton Schroeder. The population of Guam is estimated at 9,000, all of whom live in the towns, as follows: Agana, 6,400; Sumai, 900; Ynaranjan, 550; Agat, 400; Merizo, 300, and Umata, 200. The people are indolent, cordial and friendly. The native population are known as Chamorroes, an offshoot of the Polynesian race, but they have become so mixed with the Spaniards, Chinese and others that they have almost lost their race distinction. Their agricultural pursuits are of the most primitive kind. The only article they produce for export in any considerable quantity is copra, or dried cocoanut. The price they receive for copra for export ranges from $3 to $4, Mexican, or $1.50 to $2, American, per hundredweight. This article, when carried to Japan, its nearest market, sells for about twice the amount the natives receive for it. In England copra sells for $75 a ton, gold. The land that is regarded as arable is extremely fertile, producing cocoanuts, oranges, lemons, cocoa, rice, corn, tobacco, sugar cane, beans, tomatoes, etc. The cocoanut trees have an appearance of thrift and bearing power superior to those grown in any other part of the tropics. Trees and plants of unclassified botanical varieties abound in the jungles, and considerable hard wood is known to exist on the island. In animal life Guam is quite as rich as in vegetation. Deer and wild goats are found in abundance, and for years formed the principal meat food of the Europeans (Spaniards). Cows and hogs also are raised easily. Nearly all varieties of birds usually found in the tropics live in the island, some of particularly brilliant plumage. General Joseph Wheeler, U. S. A., retired, who inspected the island a year ago at the direction of the War Department, reports that there is a peculiar mammal that abounds numerously in Guam, and which he denominates a "flying fox." He says that they "fly in full daylight, flapping their wings slowly like a crow." They are eaten generally, and form one of the food staples of the island. They belong to the genus Pteropus, which is widely distributed over India, Ceylon, the Malay Archipelago and the islands of the Pacific. There are no snakes or other deadly poisonous reptiles on the island. There is a large lizard, which is common, and is a great pest, robbing nests and eating chickens and young birds. Centipedes and wasps are common. There is also a small scorpion. There are no tarantulas. There is only one good road on the island. This was built by the Spaniards, and runs between Piti, the landing place of the harbor, and Agana and on for two miles beyond along the coast to the northwest. There is very little money on the island, and wages are very low. It is of record that a school teacher in the town of Umata is paid only three pesos, equal to $1.50 in gold, a month. It rains very heavily in Guam, and, unlike most other parts of the tropics, there are no dry and rainy seasons, as it rains nearly every day. The enormous evaporation of the Pacific is condensed in passing over the Marianas, so that, with winds from every quarter, rain is abundant at all periods of the year. The temperature is mild and much cooler than that of the Philippines and most of the West Indies, though at times the heat in August and September is very great. The entire government of Guam is centred in the naval officer commanding the station, though the natives maintain their old municipal governments with slight modifications. Reforms in the insular government have been inaugurated by a series of general orders issued by the commanding officer of the naval station, or Governor. These orders prohibit the importation or sale of liquor to the inhabitants except by special license; prohibit the sale of land without first obtaining the consent of the Governor; limit the celebration of feast days to the walls of churches, chapels and private residences, and provide that the only public holidays that will be recognized will be Sundays and the holidays authorized by the United States and by proclamation of the President. Other general orders prohibit concubinage and command all males and females living together out of wedlock to be married. Still other general orders abolish the old Spanish system of taxation on real estate and provide a new system that will produce sufficient revenue for the expenses of municipal government. A system of public instruction also is provided, and rigid prohibition is put upon religious instruction in favor of any particular church or creed.

TUTUILA AND MANUA.

CAPITAL.....Pago Pago.
GOVERNOR.....Commander Uriel Sebree, U. S. N.

Tutuila and Manua, small islands that form a part of the Samoan group in the South Pacific, were ceded to the United States under the tripartite agreement with Great Britain and Germany. The population of Tutuila is estimated at 4,000, and that of Manua at 2,000. The inhabitants are indolent and ignorant, though mild tempered and easily governed. The islands were acquired solely for the purpose of establishing and maintaining a United States naval station on that part of the globe. This object already has been accomplished at Pago Pago, which is an almost perfectly land locked harbor that extends into the centre of the island of Tutuila. The first Governor was Commander B. F. Tilley, U. S. N., who, at the direction of the President, raised the United States flag over the Government House at Pago Pago on April 18, 1900, and formally proclaimed the sovereignty of the United States. He at once called around him the chiefs and sub-chiefs of the tribes, and made them understand that neither their land nor any other of their property would be taken from them. The inhabitants elect their own town, district and tribal officers as before, and are required to pay a small but adequate tax for educational purposes. They produce the usual staples of tropical climates, but their outside trade is so insignificant as never to have been reported in statistical form. Their simple character is revealed in the following communication addressed to the first American Governor:

"Tutuila, Pago Pago, April 2, 1900.

"To His Susuga Commander B. Tilley, Acting Governor for the United States of America at Tutuila. Your Susuga: Salutations!

"We desire to make known with the greatest respect to your Susuga and His Afoga, the President of the United States of America, we are now exceedingly grateful to the great powers for the care and protection in this country in past days. We will continue thus to be thankful. We rejoice with our whole hearts on account of the tidings we have received. The conventions of the Great Powers concerning Samoa are ended. Their declarations are thus: 'Only the Government of the United States of America shall rule in Tutuila and Manua. Other foreign governments shall not again have authority there.'

"We give great thanks to the great powers for that result. That declaration is accepted by us with glad hearts.

"Now, therefore, let your Susuga know, and let also his Afoga, the President of the United States of America, know, and let all the nations of the earth know, and all people dwelling therein, that in order to set aside all possible doubts in the future concerning our true desire at this time on account of the rule of the United States of America in Tutuila and Manua, we now, rightly appointed according to the customs of Samoa to be the representatives of all the different districts in Tutuila, we do confirm all the things done by the great powers for Tutuila; we do also cede and transfer to the Government of the United States of America the island of Tutuila, and all things there, to rule and protect it. We will obey all laws and statutes made by that government or by those appointed by the government to legislate and to govern.

"Our whole desire is to obey the laws, that honor and dwelling in peace may come in this country.

"We depend on the government, and we hope that we, indeed, and the government will be prosperous; that the government will correctly guide and advise us in order that we may be able to care for and guard well and uprightly our different villages and also our districts.

"Let good and useful laws be made; let the foundations of the government stand firm forever.

"May your Susuga, the acting governor, live.

"May his Afoga, the President of the Government of America, live, and all the government also.

"We are your humble servants, I am, Mauga of Pagopago, Lelate of Fagaitua, Faumuina of Aunuu, Pere of Laulii, Masani of Vatia, Tupuola of Fagasa, Soliai of Nuuli, Mauga (2) of Pagopago, the Sua and the Vaifanua, Fofa and Aitulagi, Tultele of Leone, Faiivae of Leone, Letuli of Ilili, Fuimaono of Vailoa, Satele of Vailoa, Leoso of Leone, Olo of Leone, Naoma of Malaeloa, Malota of Malaeloa, Tunaitau of Pavaiai, Lulemana of Asu, Amituanai Ituu."

THE PANIC OF MAY 9, 1901.

The panic in Wall Street on May 9, 1901, known as the "Northern Pacific corner" day, was due to a contest between Northern Pacific and Union Pacific interests as a result of the acquisition by the former of the Burlington route, which the latter regarded as prejudicial to the Union Pacific's position. Northern Pacific had previously been rising rapidly as a result of buying by Union Pacific interests, and on the day of the panic many operators were caught short of the stock, which in the course of the day reached 1,000.

The contest ended with the Union Pacific party in possession of about $78,000,000 of Northern Pacific stock, or a little more than a majority, taking the common and preferred together. They held a majority of the $75,000,000 preferred stock, but the other side had more than one-half of the $80,000,000 common stock. A long contention arose as to the power of the Northern Pacific directors to retire the preferred stock on January 1, 1902. Finally an agreement was reached by which that step was taken, the Union Pacific party receiving a one-half interest in the Burlington, and from 20 to 25 per cent interest in the new Northern Securities Company, organized to acquire the stock of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern.

VARIOUS MONEYS OF CIRCULATION.

There are ten different kinds of money in circulation in the United States, namely: Gold coins, standard silver dollars, subsidiary silver, gold certificates, silver certificates, Treasury notes issued under the act of July 14, 1890; United States notes (also called greenbacks and legal tenders), National bank notes, and nickel and bronze coins. These forms of money are all available as circulation. Gold coin is legal tender at its nominal or face value for all debts, public and private, when not below the standard weight and limit of tolerance prescribed by law; and when below such standard of tolerance it is legal tender in proportion to its weight. Standard silver dollars are legal tender at their nominal or face value in payment of all debts, public and private, without regard to the amount, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. Subsidiary silver is legal tender for amounts not exceeding $10 in any one payment. Treasury notes of the act of July 14, 1890, are legal tender for all debts, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. United States notes are legal tender for all debts, public and private, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt. Gold certificates, silver certificates and National bank notes are not legal tender, but both classes of certificates are receivable for all public dues, while National bank notes are receivable for all public dues except duties on imports, and may be paid out by the Government for all salaries and other debts and demands owing by the United States to individuals, corporations and associations within the United States, except interest on the public debt and in redemption of the National currency. All National banks are required by law to receive the notes of other National banks at par. The minor coins of nickel and copper are legal tender to the extent of 25 cents. The coinage of legal tender gold was authorized by the first coinage act, passed by Congress April 2, 1792. The gold unit of value is the dollar, which contains 25.8 grains of standard gold 900 fine. The amount of fine gold in the dollar is 23.22 grains, and the remainder of the weight is an alloy of copper. The total coining of gold by the mints of the United States from 1792 to June 30, 1901, was $2,266,153,828, of which it is estimated that $1,015,433,325 is still in existence as coin in the United States, while the remainder has been exported or consumed in the arts. The silver unit is the dollar, which contains 412½ grains of standard silver 900 fine. The amount of fine silver in the dollar is 371¼ grains, and there are 41¼ grains of copper alloy. The standard silver dollar was first authorized by the act of April 2, 1792. The coinage of the standard silver dollar was discontinued by the act of February 12, 1873, and it was restored by the act of February 28, 1878. The total amount coined from 1792 to 1873 was $3,031,238, and the amount coined from 1878 to June 30, 1901, was $522,795,065. The coinage ratio between gold and silver under the act of 1792 was 15 to 1, but by the act of 1837 it was changed to 15.988 to 1 (commonly called 16 to 1).

DUN'S INDEX NUMBER.

Following is a comparative record of the cost of living at various dates, compiled by "Dun's Review." Taking a list of all the necessities of life, comprising 350 quotations, and in each case multiplying the price by the per capita consumption annually, this record secures a very close approximation to the actual cost of living, of course omitting luxuries. The third decimal is given in order to make the comparison more exact. Hard times and scarcity of work during the period ending July 1, 1897, cut down the buying power of the people in the United States until prices fell to the lowest point on record, and it was possible to purchase a year's supplies for $72.45. From that point, however, recovery has been almost uninterrupted, until the present level is about 40 per cent higher. In the table seven principal classes are given, showing where changes have been most striking:

FOOTBALL.

The intercollegiate football championship for 1901 was won by Harvard. Yale scored a clean-cut victory over Princeton by 12 to 0 and was a big favorite before her game at Cambridge. The Harvard team proved to be much the stronger in the field and won by the wide margin of 22 to 0. The strength of West Point was another surprising feature of the season, and with C. D. Daly, formerly of Harvard, playing quarterback, the cadets tied both Yale and Princeton, held Harvard down to 6 points and beat the University of Pennsylvania. The latter proved to be unusually weak, losing many games.

The Canadians, however, once more demonstrated their skill at the game by winning the international championship.

This title was played for in a tournament at the Pan-American Exposition grounds, at Buffalo. In the first round, July 3, the Crescent team beat the Seneca Indians by 4 to 2, and the Capital team, of Ottawa, beat the Toronto A. C. by 3 to 2. In the final match, on July 5, the American team was beaten for the championship by the Ottawa Capitals.

YACHTING.

THE SEASON OF 1901.

All interest in yachting during the season of 1901 was centred in the international races for the America's Cup. Sir Thomas Lipton's second attempt to "lift" the trophy brought out two new yachts of the Cup defender build, the Constitution, built by the Herreshoffs for a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan, and the Independence, built in Boston for Thomas W. Lawson. Before either boat was in the water a lively discussion arose over the ineligibility of the Boston yacht to enter the trial races, which are restricted under the conditions to craft registered in the name of a New-York Yacht Club member. The Independence started in a number of the races held by other clubs, but never once succeeded in beating either of her rivals for the honor of defending the Cup.

The Cup winner of 1899, the Columbia, was refitted, and entered the lists against the new Constitution, and proved so formidable that she more than held her own in the many races in which the two met. A series of official trial races off Newport was started between the two rivals, but after the Columbia had won the first two they were abandoned, and the older boat was selected to defend the Cup. A summary of the races in which the big sloops sailed during the season follows:

*Astor Cup race. †Official trial races. Columbia received a time allowance of 1:17 up to the race of August 10, when this was increased to 1:20 by alterations in Constitution's rig.

The opening race for the Cup, September 26, resulted in a drifting match, and was declared off when the time was exceeded, and a second "fluke" was sailed on October 1. Of the three completed races the American yacht won all, but in each race the finish was a close one. Except for the third leg in the second race, when the Columbia outpointed and outfooted the challenger, there was never two minutes' difference between the yachts in any of the races. The time allowance of forty-three seconds in favor of the Columbia was more than half of her advantage in the first race, while in the last the challenger actually crossed the finish line two seconds ahead of the American yacht, and lost the race by this time allowance. A condensed summary of the races follows:

EXPOSITIONS.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE CENTENNIAL.

In 1903 there will be held in St. Louis, Mo., a world's fair to commemorate the acquisition of the vast domain purchased by President Jefferson from Napoleon of France extending from the Gulf of Mexico on the south to the Canadian borders on the north and from the Mississippi River on the east to the Rocky Mountains and the Rio Grande on the west, embracing an area of 1,041,842 square miles, or 37,827 square miles in excess of the remainder of the United States, excluding Alaska. In the spring of 1900 Congress passed a bill appropriating $5,000,000 in aid of the project, in the nature of a loan and contingent upon the city of St. Louis expending $10,000,000 for the same purpose. Citizens of St. Louis have subscribed $5,000,000, and a charter amendment has been adopted authorizing the issue of $5,000,000 bonds for the world's fair, thus complying with the requirements of the Federal government. In addition to the $15,000,000 provided as above, the State of Missouri has appropriated $1,000,000 for an exhibit of the State's products. Nearly all the States and Territories embraced in the purchase have voted various sums for exhibits, while States not included in the grant have also signified their intention of so doing, so that conservative estimates place the total sum which will be expended in creating the world's fair at $30,000,000, many of the directors contending that $50,000,000 will be expended.

In December, 1901, contracts were let for the erection of the main buildings of the fair, as follows: Art Building, 300x900 feet; area, 6.19 acres; with two pavilions, each 200x300 feet; area, 2.75 acres; cost, $1,000,000. Liberal Arts, 600x525 feet; area, 7.25 acres; cost, $375,000. Manufactures (and Liberal Arts), 525x1,200 feet; area, 14.46 acres; cost, $845,000. Electricity, 600x525 feet; area, 7.25 acres; cost, $100,000. Mines and Metallurgy, 525x1,200 feet; area, 14.46 acres; cost, $769,000. Education, 525x750 feet; area, 9.04 acres; cost, $500,000. Social Economy, 525x750 feet; area, 9.04 acres; cost, $460,000. Transportation, 525x800 feet; area, 9.61 acres; cost, $660,000. Machinery, 525x1,000 feet; area, 12.05 acres; cost, $700,000. Government Building, with Fisheries Pavillon and Ordnance Pavillon, 400x250 feet; area, 2.29 acres; cost, $250,000. Agricultural Building, 700x2,000 feet; area, 32.14 acres; cost, $800,000. Total area, 125.53 acres; total cost, $6,750,000.

Since the project has taken shape men in all sections of the country have claimed to be the first to suggest the holding of a centennial celebration, but the honor clearly belongs to Mr. Charles M. Harvey, an editorial writer on "The St. Louis Globe Democrat," who in the columns of that paper first advocated the project back in 1887. Shortly after the editorial written by Mr. Harvey appeared suggesting the holding of a centennial celebration of the purchase, a conference of business men was held in St. Louis and an association formed to further the project, with D. R. Francis, former Governor of Missouri and Secretary of the Interior in the latter part of Mr. Cleveland's second administration, as president. When the Columbian Exposition was broached and there was a possibility of St. Louis being selected as the place of its holding, the Louisiana centennial project was held in abeyance, but the organization was maintained. When Chicago was selected as the place for holding the Columbian Exposition activity was revived and agitation continued looking to the holding of a world's fair in St. Louis in 1903. A site was voted by the city in Forest Park, an emerald gem lying on the high hills five miles back from the river, and, as its name implies, a veritable forest. Here the fair will be held, the total area in the park site being 668 acres, and outside the park and adjacent thereto are 212 acres additional, which will be utilized, with 400 acres additional available, part of which, at least, will also be embraced in the world's fair site.

PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

The Pan-American Exposition was held in Buffalo, N. Y., to illustrate the progress and development of the Western Hemisphere in the nineteenth century. The opening day was May 1, although the exposition was far from complete. The formal opening was on May 20, and the fair was closed on November 2, although it was the intention to close it on October 31. The extra two days were occasioned by the fact that the end of October fell in the latter part of the week. The fair was not a success financially, the receipts being insufficient to enable the Pan-American Exposition Company to pay for the medals won by the exhibitors. Exhibitors were obliged to pay for their own medals if they won them. The company was so heavily in debt that all the second mortgage bonds were unpaid and complete payments could not be made on the first mortgage bonds, while many of the contractors received no money except a 30 per cent dividend. So involved was the financial condition of the fair that a complete statement was not made public until near the close of the year. The total number of paid admissions was 5,366,859; the number of free admissions was 2,813,189. These figures include the 126,606 paid and 36,144 free admissions for the two extra days, November 1 and 2. None of the directors or members of their families had passed. The assassination of President McKinley caused a big decrease in attendance, the shrinkage reaching 50,000 the first week after the crime was committed and 90,000 the following week. Foreign countries that had exhibits included Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, Chili, Costa Rica, Cuba, San Domingo, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Peru, Porto Rico, Salvador, British Colonies and French Colonies. Of these countries the following had buildings: Chili, Cuba, Ecuador, Canada, Honduras, San Domingo, Mexico, Guatemala and Porto Rico. Alaska also had a building. The States that had buildings were Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan, Missouri, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the New-England States. The number of diplomas that were granted by the exposition exceeded 10,000, and, of course, the exhibitors exceeded that number. The chief officers of the exposition were: John G. Milburn, president, Edwin Fleming, secretary; George L. Williams, treasurer; William J. Buchanan, director-general; Newcomb Carson, director of works; John B. Weber, commissioner-general; George Bleistein, chairman of publicity; Karl Bitter, director of sculpture; Frederick W. Taylor, director of concessions; C. Y. Turner, director of color, and William A. Collin, director of fine arts.

THE CHARLESTON FAIR.

The Interstate and West Indian Exposition was opened at Charleston, S. C., on December 2. It is intended to foster trade between the United States and the West Indies and to exhibit the products of those islands. The opening ceremonies were imposing. There was a parade of federal troops, State militia and Confederate veterans. The day was set apart as a holiday and all places of business were closed. The orator was Senator Chauncey M. Depew, of New-York, and addresses were also made by Governor M. B. McSweeney, of South Carolina; Mayor J. Adger Smyth, of Charleston, and F. W. Wagener, president of the exposition company. The exposition was officially declared open on a signal from the White House, where President Roosevelt touched a key connecting with the fair. Greetings were exchanged between President Roosevelt and the president of the exposition company. At the time of the opening the fair was not complete as to the arrangement of exhibits, but work on it was being rapidly pushed, as there was a small army of men laboring twenty-four hours a day to get it to a state of absolute preparedness.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

The British Government having declined to accept the amendments made in the United States Senate to the Hay-Pauncefote Isthmian Canal Treaty, signed February 5, 1900, and ratified by the Senate December 20, 1900, negotiations were begun early in 1901 for a new convention. An agreement was reached which met in great measure the objections urged by the United States Senate to the earlier draft, and on November 18 Secretary Hay and Lord Pauncefote signed in Washington a second canal treaty, which was laid before the Senate by President Roosevelt on December 3. The new convention contains five articles which read as follows:

"I. The high contracting parties agree that the present treaty shall supersede the aforementioned (Clayton-Bulwer) convention of April 19, 1850.

"II. It is agreed that the canal may be constructed under the auspices of the government of the United States either directly at its own cost, or by gift or loan of money to individuals or corporations, or through subscription to or purchase of stock or shares, and that, subject to the provisions of the present treaty, the said government shall have and enjoy all the rights incident to such construction, as well as the exclusive right of providing for the regulation and management of the canal.

"III. The United States adopts as the basis of the neutralization of such ship canal the following rules substantially as embodied in the Convention of Constantinople, signed the 28th October, 1888, for the free navigation of the Suez Canal; that is to say:

"First—The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations observing these rules, on terms of entire equality, so that there shall be no discrimination against any such nation or its citizens or subjects in respect of the conditions or charges of traffic, or otherwise. Such conditions and charges of traffic shall be just and equitable.

"Second—The canal shall never be blockaded, nor shall any right of war be exercised nor any act of hostility be committed within it. The United States, however, shall be at liberty to maintain such military police along the canal as may be necessary to protect it against lawlessness and disorder.

"Third—Vessels of war of a belligerent shall not revictual nor take any stores in the canal except so far as may be strictly necessary; and the transit of such vessels through the canal shall be effected with the least possible delay in accordance with the regulations in force, and with only such intermission as may result from the necessities of the service.

"Prizes shall be in all respects subject to the same rules as vessels of war of the belligerents.

"Fourth—No belligerent shall embark or disembark troops, munitions of war or warlike materials in the canal except in case of accidental hindrance of the transit, and in such case the transit shall be resumed with all possible dispatch.

"Fifth—The provisions of this article shall apply to waters adjacent to the canal, within three marine miles of either end. Vessels of war of a belligerent shall not remain in such waters longer than twenty-four hours at any one time except in case of distress, and in such case shall depart as soon as possible, but a vessel of war of one belligerent shall not depart within twenty-four hours from the departure of a vessel of war of the other belligerent.

"Sixth—The plant, establishments, buildings and all works necessary to the construction, maintenance and operation of the canal shall be deemed to be parts thereof for the purposes of this treaty, and in time of war, as in time of peace, shall enjoy complete immunity from attack or injury by belligerents, and from acts calculated to impair their usefulness as part of the canal.

"IV. It is agreed that no change of territorial sovereignty or of international relations of the country or countries traversed by the before mentioned canal shall affect the general principle of neutralization or the obligation of the high contracting parties under the present treaty.

"V. The present treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof, and by His Britannic Majesty; and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington or at London at the earliest possible time within six months from the date hereof."

The treaty was reported favorably to the Senate by the Committee on Foreign Relations on December 6.

The annual report of the Isthmian Canal Commission, submitted to Congress on December 4, 1901, recommended the adoption of the Nicaraguan route for a trans-isthmian canal. It estimated the total cost of a canal through Nicaragua at $189,864,062 against $144,233,358 for a Panama waterway, plus $109,141,000 for the Panama concession.

The report says the Panama route is feasible as a sea level canal, while the Nicaragua Canal must be by locks, but Lake Nicaragua will furnish an inexhaustible supply of water for the canal. The Nicaragua route has no natural harbors at either end, but satisfactory harbors may be constructed. Harbors already exist at each end of the Panama route, but considerable work must be done at the entrance of the harbor on the Atlantic side. With adequate force and plant, the commission estimates that the Nicaragua Canal can be completed in six years, exclusive of two years for preparation. Ten years is estimated to complete the Panama Canal.

The total length of the Nicaragua route is 183.66 miles, and of the Panama route 49.09 miles. The estimated cost of operating and maintaining the Nicaragua Canal annually is $1,350,000 greater than that of the Panama Canal. The estimated time for a deep draft vessel to pass through the Panama Canal is twelve hours and through the Nicaragua Canal thirty-three hours. The Nicaragua route, the report says, is more advantageous for commerce, save that originating on the west coast of South America. For the Gulf ports the advantage is two days, and for most of the ports on the Atlantic and Pacific one day. The Nicaragua route is said to be better for sailing vessels, on account of favoring winds. Hygienic conditions also favor Nicaragua.

The commission holds that the United States should acquire control of a strip of territory ten miles wide from sea to sea, through which to build the canal. The consent of Nicaragua and Costa Rica must be obtained to construct the canal, but the report says this can easily be secured. The concessions granted by the Colombian Government to the Panama Canal Company have many years to run, and new concessions cannot be granted to the United States. The report closes as follows:

"After considering all the facts developed by the investigations made by the commission, the actual situation as it now stands, and having in view the terms offered by the new Panama Canal Company, this commission is of the opinion that the most practicable and feasible route for an isthmian canal, to be under the control, management and ownership of the United States, is that known as the Nicaragua route."

HEIGHT OF FAMOUS MOUNTAINS.

The height of few mountains has been ascertained with surveying instruments. Those which any one actually ascends are usually measured by the barometer, which is not infallible, and which at different times may give dissimilar results. The elevation of other mountains, which no explorer has yet climbed, is estimated by persons who scrutinized them from adjacent peaks. Here, again, equally good authorities disagree. Besides, in some instances—Ararat and Sinai, for instance—modern geographers cannot with certainty identify mountains of great historic interest. In a table like the following, therefore, it is impossible to do more than closely approximate the real facts. But Longmans, Green & Co.'s Gazetteer, which has been used in the main, is probably as safe a standard as can be found, although at the time when the last edition came out (1895) Fitzgerald had not ascended Aconcagua, the Duke of the Abruzzi had not visited Mount St. Elias, and Mount McKinley, now believed to be the loftiest peak in North America, had not even been discovered:

Steady and consistent progress was made in Cuba during the year 1901 toward the establishment of a stable and independent insular government. The Cuban Constitutional Convention, which met in Havana on November 5, 1900, completed its labors on October 1, 1901, after having fulfilled these three purposes, for which it was elected: First, to frame and adopt a Cuban constitution; second, to agree with the government of the United States upon the relations to exist between that government and the government of Cuba; third to arrange for the election by the people of officers under the constitution, and for the transfer of government to the officers so elected. The convention showed for a time some unreadiness to outline the political relations which should subsist between Cuba and the United States, and seemed disposed to delay an agreement until after the new constitution should become operative. The Congress of the United States, accordingly, through an amendment to the Army Appropriation Act of March 3, 1901, formulated a scheme of future relations for the guidance of the convention, which that body finally accepted on June 12 without modification or alteration of any sort. The text of the so-called "Platt amendment" to the act of March 3, appended as a separate ordinance to the Cuban constitution, is as follows:

"I. That the government of Cuba shall never enter into any treaty or other compact with any foreign power or powers which will impair or tend to impair the independence of Cuba, nor in any manner authorize or permit any foreign power or powers to obtain by colonization, or for military or naval purposes or otherwise, lodgement in or control over any portion of said island.

"II. That said government shall not assume or contract any public debt, to pay the interest upon which, and to make a reasonable sinking fund provision for the ultimate discharge of which, the ordinary revenues of the island, after defraying the current expenses of government, shall be inadequate.

"III. That the government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the Treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba.

"IV. That all acts of the United States in Cuba during its military occupancy thereof are ratified and validated, and all lawful rights acquired thereunder shall be maintained and protected.

"V. That the government of Cuba will execute, and as far as necessary extend, the plans already devised, or other plans to be mutually agreed upon, for the sanitation of the cities of the island, to the end that a recurrence of epidemic and infectious diseases may be prevented, thereby assuring protection to the people and commerce of Cuba, as well as to the commerce of the southern ports of the United States and the people residing therein.

"VI. That the Isle of Pines shall be omitted from the proposed constitutional boundaries of Cuba, the title thereto being left to future adjustment by treaty.

"VII. That to enable the United States to maintain the independence of Cuba, and to protect the people thereof, as well as for its own defence, the government of Cuba will sell or lease to the United States lands necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points to be agreed upon with the President of the United States.

"VIII. That by way of further assurance the government of Cuba will embody the foregoing provisions in a permanent treaty with the United States."

The vote in the convention on the adoption of the Platt amendment in its entirety was 15 to 14.

The Cuban constitution proper institutes a scheme of government modelled largely after that of the United States. There is to be a Congress of two co-ordinate houses. The Senate is to be composed of four Senators from each of the six provinces, chosen through electors for terms of eight years. Half the body is to be elected every four years. The House of Representatives is to contain one Representative for every twenty-five thousand inhabitants or major fraction thereof in each province. Reprerepresentatives are to serve four years, and one-half of the lower house is to be elected every two years. The Congress is to meet twice a year—in April and November—and is to remain in session at least forty working days. The President is to serve four years, and no President can be elected for three successive terms. The chief executive is to have most of the powers of an American President, and can also suspend the Governors of the provinces for violations of the law. A Vice-President and Cabinet are provided for, with a Supreme Court. An electoral law was adopted by the Constitutional Convention October 1, and a general election under it to choose Governors of provinces, provincial councillors, members of the House of Representatives and Presidential and Senatorial electors was set for December 31, 1901. On February 24, 1902, the electors chosen will meet to elect a President, Vice-President and Senators.

THE PACIFICATION OF CHINA.

The condition of China and the relations of that empire with the great powers have been vastly improved and placed upon a more substantial foundation during the last year. In the settlement of important questions growing out of the Boxer anti-foreign uprising of 1900, which have been the subject of protracted negotiations at Peking, results have been achieved by the full concurrence of the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Russia, Japan, Belgium, Spain, Austria and Italy, which practically establish the principle of the open door and the permanent security of the persons and property of foreigners in China.

An official statement of the new status of affairs and of the successive stages of the negotiations is contained in the final protocol, signed at Peking on September 7, 1901, by the plenipotentiaries of China and the ten maritime nations enumerated, growing out of the joint demand of the powers upon China December 22, 1900. The provisions of this protocol in substance are as follows:

Article I. Prince Chun, brother of the Emperor, left Peking on July 12, 1901, and at Potsdam on September 4 conveyed to the German Emperor the regret of China for Baron von Ketteler's assassination. China in June began the erection of a commemorative arch to Baron von Ketteler on the spot where he fell.

Article II. Imperial edicts in February sentenced Prince Tuan and Duke Fukuo to execution, but the sentence was subsequently commuted to imprisonment for life. Prince Chuang and the presidents of the Court of Censors and Board of Punishments chose to commit suicide; Yu Hsien, Governor of Shan-Si, was executed, and to many anti-foreign agitators were decreed various punishments. Official examinations were suspended for five years in all cities where foreigners had been massacred.

Article III. An envoy was sent to Tokio to make reparation for the murder of the Japanese Chancellor of Legation during the riots.

Article IV. China paid for the erection of monuments in each foreign cemetery that had been desecrated.

Article V. By edict of August 25 the importation of arms and ammunition and material used exclusively in their manufacture was prohibited for two years, to be extended for similar periods if necessity is recognized by the powers.

Article VI. Emperor Kwang Su in an edict May 29 agreed to pay an indemnity of 450,000,000 Haikwan taels ($333,900,000), representing the total amount demanded by the powers for States, companies or societies, private individuals and Chinese; the payments to begin January 1, 1902, and finish at the end of 1940, interest on deferred payments to be 4 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually. Payments are to be made at Shanghai, each power being represented on a commission of bankers authorized to receive payments and divide them among the interested parties. The proceeds of the revenues assigned shall be paid monthly to the commission. The sources of revenue assigned as security are: First—The balance of the revenues of the imperial maritime customs after payment of the interest and amortization of preceding loans secured on these revenues, plus the proceeds of the raising to 5 per cent effective of the present tariff on maritime imports, including articles until now on the free list, but exempting foreign rice, cereals and flour, gold and silver bullion and coin. Second—The revenues of the native customs, administered in the open ports by the imperial maritime customs. Third—The total revenues of the salt gabelle, exclusive of the fraction previously set aside for other foreign loans. All duties levied on imports and valorem are to be converted as far as possible and as soon as may be into specific duties. This conversion is to be made in the following manner: The average value of merchandise at the time of larding during the three years 1897, 1898 and 1899, that is to say, the market price less the amount of import duties and incidental expenses, is to be taken as the basis of valuation. Pending conversion, duties shall be levied ad valorem. The beds of the Rivers Peiho and Whangpoo are to be improved with the financial participation of China.

By Article VII the legation quarter in Peking may be made defensible, and no Chinese are to be allowed to reside within its limits.

Article VIII provides for the razing of the Taku forts and any other fortifications impeding free communication between Peking and the sea.

Article IX allows the powers to occupy points necessary to keep free and open such line of communication.

By Article X the Chinese Government binds itself to post for two years in all district cities the edict of February 1, 1901, prohibiting forever, under pain of death, membership in any anti-foreign society; the edicts of February 13 and 21, April 29 and August 19, enumerating the punishments inflicted on the guilty; the edict of August 19, 1901, prohibiting examinations in all cities where foreigners were massacred or subjected to cruel treatment, and the edict of February 1, 1901, declaring all governors, general governors and provincial or local officials responsible for order in their respective districts, and announcing that in case of new anti-foreign troubles or other infractions of the treaties which shall not be immediately repressed and their authors punished, these officials shall be immediately dismissed without possibility of receiving new functions or new honors.

By Article XI China agrees to negotiate the amendments deemed necessary by the powers to existing treaties of commerce and navigation, and to assist in the improvement of the rivers Peiho and Whangpoo. The work for the improvement of the navigability of the Peiho, begun in 1898 with the co-operation of the Chinese Government, is to be resumed under the direction of an international commission. As soon as the administration of Tien-Tsin is handed back to the Chinese Government it will be represented on this commission, and will pay each year a sum of 60,000 Halkwan taels for maintaining the works. A conservancy board, charged with the management and control of the works for straightening the Whangpoo and the improvement of the course of that river, is created. This board is to consist of members representing the interests of the Chinese Government and those of foreigners in the shipping trade of Shanghai. The expenses incurred for the works and the general management of the undertaking are estimated at the annual sum of 460,000 Halkwan taels for the first twenty years. This sum is to be supplied in equal portions by the Chinese Government and the foreign interests concerned.

Article XII provides for the transformation of the Tsung-li-Yamen into a Ministry of Foreign Affairs, to take precedence over the six other Ministries of State. It also directs a modification of the ceremonial used in the reception of foreign plenipotentiaries. The foreign powers bound themselves, finally, to withdraw all troops, except the legation guards, from Peking not later than September 17, 1901, and from the province of Chih-Li, except at certain stipulated points, not later than September 22, 1901.

One of the most important incidents affecting the relations of China and other countries during the year, which threatened for a time to lead to a general war in the Far East, was the Manchurian convention. The existence of this secret arrangement between some of the highest Chinese officials and Russia, which grew out of the military compact of 1899, when Russia poured troops into Manchuria and began the construction of the railway there, became known to the powers in February, 1901. This compact virtually extended the Russian boundary 800 miles southward for a stretch of 2,500 miles, although the occupation was ostensibly temporary. By the terms of the convention Russia consented to the Chinese resuming civil government in Manchuria, but it was stipulated that Russian soldiers were to police the railway line, and, if necessary, assist China in quelling disturbances. Also China was forbidden to maintain any armed men in Manchuria or to import arms. Finally, Russia was to have exclusive rights to all future railway concessions in Manchuria, Mongolia and Chinese Turkestan. The United States protested to China that, while general peace negotiations were pending, the American Government could not recognize any secret arrangement with a separate power looking to the cession of territory. Other powers followed with similar remonstrances, and, in spite of an exertion of strong influences by Russia upon the Chinese Government, the Emperor refused to sign the convention or to permit his agents to sign it. Russia, however, remains in Manchuria with 250,000 troops.

Li Hung Chang died at Peking on November 7, just two months after signing the protocol. On August 14, the anniversary of the relief of the legations, the allied forces evacuated the imperial city, and in September the Empress Dowager, the Emperor and a numerous and imposing retinue started on their return to Peking, a journey which, pursued by easy stages, was expected to enable them to re-enter the capital early in January, 1902.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

The war in South Africa, which Lord Roberts described a year ago as "practically over," has dragged on for twelve months. Lord Kitchener discussed terms of peace with General Botha in March, but the negotiations came to nothing. The British Government subsequently authorized the issue of a proclamation setting a date (September 15) when resistance should cease under penalty of permanent exile and the seizure of private property in payment of the expenses of maintenance of Boer women and children. This proclamation was as futile as the peace negotiations had been. Lord Milner returned to South Africa in the autumn, after prolonged conferences with Mr. Chamberlain in England, but no important changes of policy were introduced, except increased rigor in dealing with the Cape rebels, many of whom were either heavily fined or sentenced to imprisonment for long terms, while a few notorious leaders were either shot or hanged. The war was conducted on the British side with exceptional regard for humane considerations. Between 25,000 and 35,000 women and children were maintained in concentration camps under military guard, and daily rations, hospital service, medical attendance and even school instruction were provided. The mortality in some of these camps was terribly high, but on the whole, the treatment of these helpless refugees was humane.

The British commander undertook to wear out the Boer resources of resistance by slow processes of attrition. He began by emptying one district after another of population and stock, so that the enemy could not obtain supplies either in the Transvaal or in the Orange River Colony. The clearance of the Boer communities was effected with thoroughness, but there were two miscalculated results: First—The prolongation of hostilities when the women and children were fed and cared for in British camps, and the burghers had no urgent motive for laying down their arms, and, second, the invasion of Cape Colony by a large number of roving bands of guerillas, who straggled east, west and south and successfully eluded pursuit. This invasion began as early as January. De Wet subsequently attempted to join in the incursion, but was forced to retire, and General French has conducted a long and difficult campaign against these scattered foes in inaccessible mountainous districts.

In addition to the clearance of the two Boer States and the concentration of non-combatants in camps, Lord Kitchener has had two other military objects: First—The effective defence of the railways and lines of communication by a system of block-houses built at comparatively short distances, and, second, the release of a large body of mounted troops for continuous pursuit of the Boers still in the field. The first of these aims has been carried out most successfully, for breaks in the lines of communication have ceased to occur. The second object has been partially accomplished. As many as sixty-five mounted columns have scoured the country from the Orange River to Pietersburg and from Mafeking to the Portuguese frontier, and have made immense captures of horses, cattle, ammunition and foodstuffs, and have taken many thousands of prisoners. These operations have been most exhausting to the British army, which has been trekking up and down the Dutch territories throughout the year. There would have been a larger measure of success if the home government had sent out a better class of reinforcements than the hastily recruited yeomanry, at least one-half of whom could neither shoot nor ride.

The Boer commandoes have maintained their hopeless struggle with desperate energy and obstinate courage. How they have obtained supplies of ammunition is a mystery, but their general plan of operations has been plain. Avoiding concentration of forces and maintaining resistance in many districts simultaneously, they have hoped to wear out the patience of the English people, who are keeping an army of over 200,000 troops in the field at enormous cost to taxpayers. Some of their attacks have been of the boldest nature. In January De Wet defeated Lord Roberts's body-guard at Lindley. At the end of May the Boers surprised the rear guard of a British column at Vlakfontein under cover of a grass fire, and inflicted a loss of 166 in killed and wounded. In June 200 men of the Victorian Mounted Rifles were captured. At Moedwil on September 30 Delarey and Kemp attacked Kekewich's column in the early morning, and killed or wounded 193 officers and men. Botha, after drawing a small column into ambush on the border of Natal, made a fierce assault upon Fort Itala, but was driven off. In retreating northward he fell upon the rear guard of Colonel Benson's column late in October at Brakenlaagte, about seventy miles from Johannesburg, and captured two guns. The British losses exceeded 250. There were many minor incidents, but these have been the principal Boer exploits.

The British forces have been chiefly occupied in clearance operations in the Eastern and Western Transvaal and in hunting Cape rebels south of the Orange River. The number of Boers who have either been killed, wounded or captured or have voluntarily surrendered has been officially reported by Lord Kitchener as 13,338 from January 1 to November 1. The number of burghers and rebels still in the field can hardly exceed 8,000. The mortality on the British side, while small in comparison with the previous year's record, has been serious, owing to the prevalence of fevers and dysentery. The cost of the campaign has been enormous, and the national debt has been largely increased.

ENGLAND'S CHANGE OF REIGN.

Queen Victoria died at Osborne on the evening of January 22, 1901. She had been fairly well during her stay at Balmoral, but had a slight stroke of paralysis before leaving Windsor for the Isle of Wight. She was greatly depressed by tidings of the development of the Empress Frederick's malady, but with characteristic fortitude discharged her public functions almost to the end, one of her last acts being the reception of Lord Roberts on his arrival from South Africa.

The Queen's burial was a two days' pageant magnificent in stateliness. The royal flotilla, with the coffin and a great company of royal mourners, passed from Cowes to Gosport along a broad lane sentinelled by double lines of cruisers and battleships, while minute guns were booming and requiems by Beethoven and Chopin were taken up from one forecastle to another and wafted from shore to shore. On the following day (February 2) the coffin was carried to London by the special royal train by which the Queen had often travelled to and from the coast. The route of the funeral procession was about three miles long between Victoria and Paddington stations, and was lined by about 25,000 troops. The cortege was a representative guard of honor made up from every branch of the military and naval services. The headquarters staff preceded the gun carriage with its royal burden, and behind were the King, the German Emperor, the Duke of Connaught and forty sovereigns, heirs to thrones and princes of English, German and Continental lines. Unique as was the military pageant, the characteristic feature was the reverent hush of the multitudes of sightseers in the humility of unaffected grief. From the station at Windsor the gun carriage was drawn by marines to St. George's Chapel, where the burial office was read in the presence of the royal mourners and the diplomatic corps.

Edward VII took the oath as constitutional sovereign at St. James's Palace January 23 in the presence of about 150 members of the Privy Council. His accession was proclaimed on the following day at St. James's Palace, at the Griffin on the site of Temple Bar and at the Mansion House. Parliament was opened by the King and Queen in state on February 14. The coronation is set for June 25, 1902, at Westminster Abbey.

THE WEDDING OF QUEEN WILHELMINA.

Wilhelmina Helena Paulina Mary, Queen of the Netherlands and Princess of Orange Nassau, was married at The Hague on Thursday, February 7, 1901, to Duke Henry Vladimir Albert Ernst of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. Wilhelmina is the daughter of William III of the Netherlands by his second wife, Princess Emma Adelaide Wilhelmina Theresa. She was born in 1850. She succeeded to the throne at the death of her father, in November, 1890, but her mother acted as Queen Regent until the young queen came of age, August 31, 1898, and was installed as sovereign. Her betrothal to Duke Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was announced in October, 1900. Duke Henry is a son of the late Duke Frederick Francis II, who held a high military command in the Franco-German War. He was born in 1876.

UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY.

The United States Military Academy at West Point was founded in 1802. Each Congressional district and territory, also the District of Columbia, is entitled to have one cadet at the Academy. Each State is also entitled to have two cadets at the Academy from the State at large. Thirty are also appointed from the United States at large. The appointments (except those from the United States at large and from the District of Columbia) are made by the Secretary of War at the request of the Senator, Representative or delegate in Congress; and the person appointed must be an actual resident of the State, District or Territory from which the appointment is made. The appointments from the United States at large and from the District of Columbia are specially conferred by the President. The number of students is thus limited to 481. Appointments are usually required to be made one year in advance of date of admission, and may be made either after competitive examination or given direct, at the option of the Representative. The Representative, should he desire, may nominate two alternates, who will be examined with the regular nominee, and one of whom may be admitted in the event of the latter's failure to pass the prescribed preliminary examinations. Appointees to the Military Academy must be between seventeen and twenty-two years of age at date of admission, at least five feet three inches in height, free from any infectious or moral disorder, and, generally, from any deformity, disease or infirmity; must be well versed in reading, in writing, including orthography, in arithmetic, and have a knowledge of the elements of English grammar, of descriptive geography (particularly of the United States), and of the history of the United States. The course of instruction, which is quite thorough, requires four years, and is largely mathematical and professional. The principal subjects taught are mathematics, French, drawing, tactics of all arms of the service, natural and experimental philosophy, chemistry, mineralogy, geology and electricity, history, international, constitutional and military law, Spanish, and civil and military engineering and science of war. Academic duties commence September 1 and continue until June 1. Examinations are held in each January and June, and cadets found proficient in studies and correct in conduct are given the particular standing in their class to which their merits entitle them, while those cadets deficient in either conduct or studies are discharged. From about the middle of June to the end of August cadets live in camp, engaged only in military duties and receiving practical military instruction. Cadets are allowed but one leave of absence during the four years' course, and, as a rule, it is granted at the expiration of the first two years. The pay of a cadet is $540 a year, and with proper economy is sufficient for his support. Upon graduating cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army. The whole number of graduates from 1802 to 1900 has been 3,993.

MANNER OF APPLICATION.—Applications can be made at any time, by letter, to the Secretary of War, to have the applicant's name registered for submission to the proper Representative when a vacancy occurs. The application must exhibit the full name, date of birth and permanent abode of applicant, with the number of the Congress district in which his residence is situated. Immediately after his admission, and before receiving his warrant of appointment, the cadet must sign the following engagement for service, in the presence of the Superintendent or some officer deputed by him: I, _____, of the State (or Territory) of _____, aged _____ years _____ months, do hereby engage (with the consent of my parent or guardian) that, from the date of my admission as a cadet of the United States Military Academy, I will serve in the Army of the United States for eight years, unless sooner discharged by competent authority. In the presence _____, The candidate must then take the following oath or affirmation: I, _____, do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and bear true allegiance to the National Government; that I will maintain and defend the sovereignty of the United States paramount to any and all allegiance, sovereignty or fealty I may owe to any State or country whatsoever, and that I will at all times obey the legal orders of my superior officers, and the rules and articles governing the armies of the United States.

NAVY PAY TABLE.

Section 13 of the Navy Personnel bill, which became a law on March 3, 1899, provided that "after June 30, 1899, commissioned officers of the line of the Navy and of the Medical and Pay Corps shall receive the same pay and allowances, except forage, as are or may be provided by or in pursuance of law for officers of corresponding rank in the Army: Provided, that such officers when on shore duty shall receive the allowances, but 15 per centum less pay than when on sea duty; but this provision shall not apply to warrant officers commissioned under Section 12 of this act. Provided further, that when naval officers are detailed for shore duty beyond seas they shall receive the same pay and allowances as are or may be provided by or in pursuance of law for officers of the Army detailed for duty in similar places." The pay of officers of the Army of and below the rank of colonel is increased 10 per cent for each five years of service in the grade, until the increase amounts to 40 per cent of the original pay, when no further increase may be made. The pay of a retired officer is 75 per cent of the highest pay of his grade on the active list.

The relative rank between officers of the Navy (whether on the active or retired list) and officers of the Army is as follows: Admiral with general, rear-admiral with major-general, captain with colonel, commander with lieutenant-colonel, lieutenant-commander with major, lieutenant with captain, lieutenant of junior grade with first lieutenant, ensign with second lieutenant. UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY.

STUDENTS AND COURSE.—The students of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., are styled Naval Cadets. One cadet is allowed for each member or delegate of the House of Representatives, one for the District of Columbia, and ten at large. No more than ten appointed at large are allowed in the Academy at any one time. The course of study is six years, four years at the Academy and two at sea, at the end of which time the cadet returns to the Academy for final graduation. The district then becomes vacant on completion of the cadet's four years' course at the Naval Academy.

NOMINATIONS.—The Secretary of the Navy, as soon after March 5 in each year as possible, notifies in writing each member or delegate of the House of Representatives of any vacancy in his district. The nomination of a candidate to fill the vacancy is made on the recommendation of the member or delegate, if such recommendation is made by July 1 of that year; but if it is not made by that time, the Secretary of the Navy shall fill the vacancy by appointment of an actual resident of the district in which the vacancy exists, who shall have been for at least two years immediately preceding the date of his appointment an actual and bona fide resident of the district in which the vacancy exists and of the legal qualification under the law as now provided. The candidate allowed for the District of Columbia and all the candidates appointed at large are selected by the President. Candidates allowed for Congressional districts, for Territories and for the District of Columbia must be actual residents of the districts or Territories from which they are nominated. And all candidates must, at the time of their examination for admission, be between the ages of fifteen and twenty, physically sound, well formed and of robust constitution.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.—All examinations will be held at various points throughout the United States, under the supervision of the United States Civil Service Commission. No more examinations for the admission of candidates will be held at the Naval Academy. The first examination will be held on the third Tuesday in April, the second examination on August 11, of each year, at points designated by the commission, nearest the homes of the candidates. A third examination will be held at Washington, D. C., only on September 15, in each year, for the accommodation of all candidates who have, for any reasons, been unable to report for either of the other two examinations. Should August 11 or September 15 fall on Sunday, the examinations will be held the following Monday. Members and delegates in Congress having the appointment of a naval cadet to make are authorized to nominate one principal and five alternates. The alternates are to be numbered from one to five and appointment made in the same order, i. e. if the principal passes he is to be appointed; but if the principal should fail, and the first alternate qualify, the first alternate is to be appointed. In case the principal and the first alternate should fail, and the second alternate qualify, the second alternate is to be appointed, and so on down the list, in regular numerical order, until the fifth alternate is reached and included. Candidates are required to enter the Academy immediately after passing the prescribed examinations. No leave of absence is granted to cadets of the fourth class.

GRADUATE APPOINTMENTS.—Appointments to fill all vacancies that may occur during a year in the lower grades of the line of the Navy and of the Marine Corps are made from the Naval Cadets, graduates of the year, at the conclusion of their six years' course, in the order of merit as determined by the Academic Board. At least fifteen appointments from such graduates will be made each year. To surplus graduates who do not receive such appointments will be given a certificate of graduation, an honorable discharge and one year's sea pay, as provided for Naval Cadets.

THE TEST OF THE FULTON.

A test, the results of which were regarded as of the highest importance to the development of naval warfare, was made on November 24 and 25, 1901, in Peconic Bay, at New-Suffolk, Long Island. It showed the efficiency of the Holland submarine boat, the Fulton. A crew headed by Rear Admiral John Lowe, U. S. N. (retired), spent fifteen hours at the bottom of the bay in the boat, and reported when they came up that they had passed as comfortable a night as they had ever passed in their lives. A severe wind storm was raging but it was not felt by those beneath the water, which was regarded as proof of her complete seaworthiness. It was said that the air in the boat was absolutely normal all night. Those who went down in the boat declared that they would be willing to stay in her submerged as long as food could be provided. It was estimated that the Fulton could easily torpedo a dozen battleships with perfect safety to herself.

THE SCHLEY VERDICT.

The findings of the Schley Court of Inquiry were made public by Secretary Long December 13. There were two reports. Rear Admirals Benham and Ramsay concurred in the first, which was signed by Admiral Dewey also, as a matter of form. Admiral Dewey made a separate report, although he agreed with the findings of facts subscribed to by the others.

The majority report censured Rear Admiral Schley, while Admiral Dewey sustained him in most particulars. The majority opinion held, in brief, that Admiral Schley should have proceeded with the utmost dispatch to Cienfuegos and maintained a close blockade; that he should have endeavored to obtain information of the Spanish squadron there, that he should have proceeded to Santiago with dispatch; that he should not have made the retrograde movement; that he should have obeyed the department's orders; that he should have endeavored to capture the Spanish vessels in Santiago; that he did not do his utmost to destroy the Colon; that he caused the squadron to lose distance in the loop of the Brooklyn; that he thereby caused the Texas to back; that he did injustice to Hodgson; that his conduct in the campaign was characterized by vacillation, dilatoriness and lack of enterprise; that his official reports on the coal supply were misleading and inaccurate; that his conduct in the battle was self-possessed, and that he encouraged in his own person his subordinate officers and men.

Admiral Dewey said that the passage to Cienfuegos was made with all dispatch, that in view of his coal supply the blockade of Cienfuegos was effective; that he allowed the Adula to enter Cienfuegos to get information; that his passage to Santiago was with as much dispatch as possible, keeping the squadron together; that the blockade of Santiago was effective; and, finally, that he was the senior officer off Santiago, in absolute command, and entitled to the credit for the victory which resulted in the destruction of the Spanish ships.

The members united in recommending that, on account of the time which has elapsed since the Santiago campaign, no further proceedings be taken.

The court consisted of Admiral George Dewey, president, and Rear Admirals A. E. K. Benham (retired) and Francis M. Ramsay. The judge advocate was Captain S. C. Lemly, judge advocate general, U. S. N., and Rear Admiral Schley was represented by Attorney General Isidor Rayner of Maryland; Captain James Parker and ex Judge J. M. Wilson, of Washington, D. C. Judge Wilson died in the midst of the inquiry.

The inquiry was the result of severe criticism of Rear Admiral Schley in "The History of the Navy," by Edgar Stanton Maclay. On July 22, 1901, Rear Admiral Schley wrote to Secretary Long and asked that a court of inquiry be held to inquire into his conduct during the Spanish-American War. His specific request was for "such action as may bring this entire matter under discussion under the clearer and calmer review of my brothers-in-arms."

On July 24 Secretary Long replied to Rear Admiral Schley's communication, granting his request and approving his course. Edgar Stanton Maclay, whose attack caused Rear Admiral Schley to request a court of inquiry, was at the time employed as a clerk in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, appearing on the rolls as a "laborer."

The inquiry began on September 12 and the last session was held on November 12. Nearly all the officers who took part in the battle of Santiago were examined.

The court originally ordered by Secretary Long consisted of Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Benham and Rear Admiral Lewis A. Kimberley (retired). Rear Admiral Kimberley was excused on account of poor health, and Rear Admiral Henry L. Howison was detailed in his place. When the court convened, however, Rear Admiral Howison was challenged for bias by Rear Admiral Schley. The ground was that he had made statements to a newspaper correspondent in Boston, showing sympathy with Rear Admiral Sampson as against Rear Admiral Schley in the controversy that followed the Spanish war. Rear Admiral Howison declined to withdraw from the court and presented himself to take part in its proceedings. Evidence was produced to substantiate the claim of Rear Admiral Schley, and the two other members voted to exclude Rear Admiral Howison from the court. Rear Admiral F. M. Ramsay (retired) was chosen to fill the vacancy.

UNITED STATES SENATE ELECTIONS--1901.

Arkansas.—James H. Berry (Dem.) was elected by the Arkansas Legislature on January 22, to succeed himself as United States Senator for the full term ending March 4, 1907. There was no Democratic caucus, Mr. Berry having no opposition within the party. In the State Senate he received 30 votes, and in the House of Representatives 93 votes. H. L. Remmel (Rep.) received two votes in the House. One Senator and four Representatives, all Democrats, did not vote.

Colorado.—The Colorado Legislature on January 16 elected Thomas M. Patterson (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed Edward O. Wolcott (Rep.), for the full term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Patterson had been nominated on January 14, in the joint caucus of Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans, after the withdrawal of his chief rival, Charles S. Thomas. He received in caucus 74 votes, against 8 for Charles Hughes and 1 for Representative John F. Shafroth. In the two branches of the legislature the vote was: Senate—Patterson, 33; Wolcott, 1; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Patterson, 58; Wolcott, 7.

Delaware.—The legislature of Delaware at its regular biennial session ending March 8, 1901, failed to fill either of the vacancies existing in the State's representation in the United States Senate. One Senator was to be chosen to succeed Richard R. Kenney (Dem.) for the full term ending March 4, 1907, and one to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of George Gray (Dem.) on March 4, 1899. The legislature, which was chosen in November, 1900, was composed of 23 Democrats, 16 "Addicks" Republicans, 11 "Dupont" Republicans and 2 Republicans not specially identified with either faction. On January 14, 1901, the sixteen "Addicks" Republicans nominated John Edward Addicks as a candidate for both the long and the short terms. The other Republicans made no nominations. The Democrats nominated Richard R. Kenney for the long term and Willard Saulsbury for the short term. The vote in the separate branches of the legislature on January 15 was: Senate—Long term—Addicks (Rep.), 5; Henry A. Dupont (Rep.), 3; Kenney (Dem.), 8; not voting, 1. Short term—Addicks, 5; Charles F. Richards (Rep.), 2; W. S. Hilles (Rep.), 1; Willard Saulsbury (Dem.), 7; John G. Gray (Dem.), 1; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Long term—Addicks, 10; Dupont, 5; W. C. Spruance (Rep.), 1; Levi C. Bird (Rep.), 1; Anthony Higgins (Rep.), 1; Kenney (Dem.), 15; not voting, 2. Short term—Addicks, 10; Charles F. Richards (Rep.), 7; Benjamin Nields (Rep.), 1; not voting, 2. In joint assembly on January 16, for both long and short terms, Addicks received 16 votes. Dupont got 8 for the long term and Richards 9 for the short term. Kenney got 23 for the long term and Saulsbury 22 for the short term. On January 17, 18 and 19, and for several ballots thereafter, the vote of Charles F. Richards for the short term rose to 11, but no other material changes occurred. The deadlock in joint assembly continued unbroken in any way until February 19, when four additional Republican votes were cast for Addicks for the short term, the result of the ballot being: Addicks, 20; Richards, 2; Burton (Rep.), 2; Saulsbury, 22. On March 1 Addicks gained two more votes for the short term vacancy. The joint ballot on that date was: Long term—Addicks (Rep.), 16; Dupont (Rep.), 9; Higgins (Rep.), 4; Kenney (Dem.), 23. Short term—Addicks (Rep.), 22; Richards (Rep.), 7; Saulsbury (Dem.), 22. On March 8, the day set for the adjournment of the legislature sine die, the vote in joint assembly was: Long term—Addicks, 16; Dupont, 7; Higgins, 6; Kenney, 23. Short term—Addicks, 22; Richards, 7; Saulsbury, 23.

Idaho.—The legislature of Idaho on January 15 elected Frederick T. Dubois (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed George L. Shoup (Rep.) for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Dubois received the support of most of the Democratic, Silverite and Populist members of the legislature, having been endorsed for the Senatorship by the fusion forces in the preceding campaign. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Dubois, 13; Shoup (Rep.), 7. House of Representatives—Dubois, 24; Shoup, 20. One Fusion Senator and five Fusion Representatives voted for other candidates than Dubois, or were recorded as not voting.

Illinois.—The legislature of Illinois on January 22 elected Shelby M. Cullom (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Cullom received a unanimous renomination in the Republican legislative caucus on January 17, his several rivals—ex-Governor Tanner, and Representatives Hitt, Cannon and Prince—withdrawing from the contest. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Cullom, 31; Samuel Aischuler (Dem.), 18; not voting, 2. House of Representatives—Cullom, 69; Aischuler, 67; not voting, 17.

Iowa.—John H. Gear (Rep.) was elected on January 16, 1900, by the Iowa Legislature to succeed himself for the full term ending March 4, 1907. On July 14, 1900, Mr. Gear died, and on August 22, 1900, Jonathan P. Dolliver (Rep.) was appointed by Governor Shaw to serve out the unexpired portion of the term for which Mr. Gear had been previously elected, and which ended on March 4, 1901. Mr. Dolliver's appointment was renewed from March 4, 1901, for that portion of Mr. Gear's new term which must elapse before the legislature, which meets in January, 1902, can elect his successor.

Kansas.—On January 22 the Kansas Legislature elected J. R. Burton (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed Lucien Baker (Rep.) for the full term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Baker contested Mr. Burton's nomination, but withdrew before the Republican caucus was held, and the latter was chosen unanimously. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Burton, 30; David Overmyer (Dem.), 8; not voting, 2. House of Representatives—Burton, 79; Overmyer, 43; not voting, 2.

ary 15 to succeed himself in the United States Senate for the term ending March 4, 1907. He had been unanimously nominated for re-election by the Republican caucus. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Frye, 24; Swamy M. Staples (Dem.), 1; not voting, 6. House of Representatives—Frye 107, Staples 13; not voting, 31.

Massachusetts.—The legislature of Massachusetts on January 15 elected George F. Hoar (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Hoar had no opposition for renomination in the Republican legislative caucus. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Hoar, 23; Richard Olney (Dem.), 8; not voting, 3. House of Representatives—Hoar, 107; Olney, 45; C. H. Bradley (Sec. Dem.), 1; not voting, 22. One Democratic Senator and four Democratic Representatives voted for Mr. Hoar.

House of Representatives—McMillan, 55; Barkworth, 10; not voting, 5.

Minnesota.—The legislature of Minnesota on January 22 elected two United States Senators. Knute Nelson (Rep.) was chosen to succeed himself for the full term, ending March 4, 1907, and Moses E. Clapp (Rep.) was chosen to serve out the unexpired portion of the term ending March 4, 1905. Mr. Clapp succeeded Charles A. Towne (Dem.), who was appointed temporarily to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Curtman K. Davis (Rep.), on November 27, 1901. Mr. Nelson was renominated unanimously by the Republican legislative caucus. Fifty-four ballots were required to decide the contest for the short term nomination. R. G. Ryan led up to the last ballot, the vote for him varying from 52 to 54. Mr. Clapp had 44 votes on the first ballot, 45 on the tenth and 47 on the thirteenth. Representative J. A. Tawney received 27 on the first, 29 on the tenth and 29 on the thirteenth. Other candidates voted for were Tams Bixby (Rep.), J. T. McCreary, Thomas Lowry and Joel Japson. On the first ballot, Bixby had 11 votes, McCreary and Japson 1 vote each, and Lowry 3 votes. On the thirteenth ballot, Bixby had 6, McCreary 3 and Lowry 3. On the fifteenth ballot the Tawney forces divided, enough votes going to Clapp to give him 71, the necessary majority. In the two branches of the legislature the vote was: Long term—Senate—Knute Nelson, 42; R. R. Nelson (Dem.), 15; not voting, 3. House of Representatives—Knute Nelson, 54; R. R. Nelson, 22; not voting, 3. Short term—Senate—Clapp, 42; Charles A. Towne (Dem.), 17; not voting, 3. House of Representatives—Clapp, 52; Towne, 21; not voting, 6.

Montana.—The legislature of Montana at its 1901 session elected two United States Senators—one to succeed Thomas H. Carter (Rep.) for the full term ending March 4, 1907, and one to serve out the unexpired portion of the term ending March 4, 1905, a vacancy having occurred through the resignation of William A. Clark (Dem.) on May 11, 1904. On January 16 William A. Clark (Dem.) was elected for the six-year term. The Democratic legislative caucus, held January 14, was attended by 37 of the 54 Senators and Representatives elected as "straight-out" Democrats. It gave Mr. Clark a unanimous nomination. The day following, on the first ballot in the separate branches of the legislature, there was no action, Mr. Clark getting a majority of three votes in the Senate, but being in a minority of one in the House of Representatives. The result of the balloting in the separate branches was: Senate—W. A. Clark (Dem.), 13; Martin Maginnis (Dem.), 1; R. B. Smith (Dem.), 1; Thomas H. Carter (Rep.), 8; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Clark, 34; Maginnis, 3; A. E. Spriggs (Dem. and Pop.), 10; Carter, 22; not voting, 1. On January 16, in joint assembly, Mr. Clark was elected for the long term, the vote standing as follows: Clark, 37; Maginnis, 4; Smith, 1; Carter, 31; not voting, 1. The Democrats and Fusionists in the legislature made no caucus nomination for the short term, and the contest for the vacant seat in the Senate dragged along until March 7, the last day of the session, when Paris Gibson (Dem.) was elected. Balloting for the short term vacancy in the separate branches of the legislature on January 15 showed this result: Senate—H. L. Frank (Dem.), 3; Walter Cooper (Dem.), 4; W. G. Conrad (Dem.), 3; C. F. Luer (Dem.), 1; C. W. Hoffman (Dem.), 1; F. G. Higgins (Dem.), 1; A. E. Spriggs (Dem. and Pop.), 1; S. G. Ritchie (Ind.), 1; Lee Mantle (Rep.), 8; not voting, 1. Turner (Dem.), 1; Thomas Krigbaum (Dem.), 1; E. J. Fine (Dem.), 1; Mantle, 29; J. A. Ferguson (Labor) 7; F. R. Hinds (Pop.), 3; A. E. Spriggs (Dem. and Pop.), 2; J. H. Calver (Pop.), 1; Jerry Connely (Pop.), 1; not voting, 1. The first ballot in joint assembly for the short term was taken on January 19, and showed no important changes from that of January 15, except that Charles Ruer (Dem.) appeared as an additional candidate and received 11 votes—most of them drawn from the forces of Cooper and Frank. On January 20 of the rival Democratic and Fusion candidates Frank had 18 votes, Cooper 10, John MacGinnis 8, Peletier (Labor) 8, Conrad 5, Hoffman 4 and Toole 3. On February 4 Thomas Cruse (Dem.) entered the contest, receiving 17 votes, to 12 for Frank, 8 for Cooper, 7 for MacGinnis, 4 for Conrad and 2 for Hoffman. Cruse's name was dropped after a few ballots and MacGinnis was then pushed to the front. He received 25 votes on February 12, against 22 for Frank, 7 for Cooper, 3 for Conrad and 22 for Lee Mantle, the Republican caucus candidate. On February 22 MacGinnis had 24 votes, Frank 24 and Mantle 31. On February 26 the Republicans substituted Thomas H. Carter for Lee Mantle as their candidate for the short term. Carter received 32 votes for a number of ballots, but could get no higher. The deadlock on the Democratic side continued, with Frank and MacGinnis struggling for the lead from day to day until the closing hours of the session. On the last day, March 7, the legislature took twenty-two ballots, the final one at 3:30 a. m., March 8. Mr. Frank, who from the start had shown the greatest strength among the Democratic candidates, withdrew after the result of the twenty-first ballot had been announced, his followers starting a stampede to Paris Gibson. On the final rollcall the vote stood: Gibson, 47; Carter, 33; Frank, 1; John MacGinnis, 11; not voting, 2.

Nebraska.—The legislature of Nebraska on March 28 elected two United States Senators. Joseph H. Millard (Rep.) was chosen to succeed John M. Thurston (Rep.) for the full term ending March 4, 1907, and Charles H. Dietrich (Rep.) was chosen to serve out the unexpired portion of the term ending March 4, 1905. Mr. Dietrich replaced William V. Allen (Pop.), who had been appointed temporarily to fill the vacancy caused by the death of M. L. Hayward (Rep.), on December 5, 1899. Both elections were accomplished after a contest which lasted from January 15 to the day of final adjournment. The legislature chosen in November, 1900, was composed of 18 Republican Senators, 53 Republican Representatives, 15 Democratic or Fusion Senators and 47 Democratic or Fusion Representatives. Sixty-seven votes were required to elect in joint assembly, with every member present and voting. Efforts to secure a Republican caucus prior to the vote taken in the separate branches of the legislature on January 15 were unavailing. On that day the result of the balloting in the two houses was: Long term—Senate—F. M. Currie (Rep.), 8; George D. Meiklejohn (Rep.), 2; Edward Rosewater (Rep.), 4; Lorenzo Crouse (Rep.), 1; J. H. Vandusen (Rep.), 1; D. H. Mercer (Rep.), 1; S. P. Davidson (Rep.), 1; W. H. Thompson (Fus.), 9; G. M. Hitchcock (Fus.), 5; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Currie, 11; Meiklejohn, 13; Rosewater, 7; Crouse, 7; E. H. Hinshaw (Rep.), 2; G. A. Murphy (Rep.), 2; W. H. Newell (Rep.), 1; M. P. Kinkaid (Rep.), 1; J. R. Hays (Rep.), 2; W. S. Morlan (Rep.), 1; W. H. Thompson, 23; G. M. Hitchcock, 18; W. J. Bryan (Fus.), 3; William V. Allen (Fus.), 2; not voting, 2. Short term—Senate—D. E. Thompson (Rep.), 7; E. H. Hinshaw, 3; G. D. Meiklejohn, 1; E. J. Hainer, 1; Church Howe (Rep.), 1; E. A. Tucker (Rep.), 1; T. L. Norval (Rep.), 1; N. V. Harlan (Rep.), 2; J. H. Vandusen, 1; W. V. Allen, 13; W. H. Thompson, 1; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—D. E. Thompson, 17; E. H. Hinshaw, 9; G. D. Meiklejohn, 1; E. J. Hainer, 4; Church Howe, 3; F. M. Currie, 1; E. A. Tucker, 2; G. A. Murphy, 2; E. D. Owens (Rep.), 1; W. H. Newell, 1; M. P. Kinkaid, 4; W. S. Morlan, 1; T. L. Norval, 1; Charles H. Dietrich (Rep.), 1; N. V. Harlan, 1; L. D. Richards (Rep.), 1; Francis Martin (Rep.), 1; W. V. Allen, 35; W. H. Thompson, 2; R. D. Sutherland (Fus.), 3; G. M. Hitchcock, 1; G. W. Berge (Fus.), 4; D. R. Kay (Fus.), 1; I. J. Dunn (Fus.), 1; M. F. Harrington (Fus.), 1; not voting, 1. The first ballot in joint assembly, taken January 16, showed this result: Long term—Meiklejohn, 24; Currie, 18; Rosewater, 13; Crouse, 9; Hinshaw, 1; Vandusen, 1; Kinkaid, 1; Murphy, 1; Morlan, 1; Hays, 1; Richards, 1; W. H. Thompson, 58; not voting, 4. Short term—D. E. Thompson, 31; Hinshaw, 15; Hainer, 5; Crouse, 1; Currie, 2; Meiklejohn, 2; Rosewater, 1; Martin, 2; Vandusen, 2; Howe, 1; Harlan, 2; Kinkaid, 2; Murphy, 1; Norval, 2; H. C. Lindsley (Rep.), 2; Allen, 57; A. E. Sheldon (Fus.), 1; Sutherland, 1; not voting, 5. On January 17 Gilbert M. Hitchcock was substituted for W. H. Thompson as the Fusion candidate for the long term, and he and W. V. Allen each received 57 votes. D. E. Thompson had 32 votes for the short term, and Currie and Meiklejohn had 22 and 24, respectively, for the long term. On January 18 Meiklejohn received 28 votes for the long term, and D. E. Thompson 32 for the short term. Four days later Meiklejohn had 26 and Thompson 34. On January 23 Thompson's vote increased to 36 and Meiklejohn's to 28; Currie had 20, Rosewater 16 and Hinshaw 15. Efforts to secure a Republican caucus, attended by enough members of the joint assembly to guarantee an election, were made from day to day by the Republican managers, but no agreement of any sort could be reached. On February 8 fifty-five Republicans had signed a caucus call, but the other twelve needed to insure a majority held out stubbornly against caucus action. In joint assembly, February 8, D. E. Thompson's vote was 34, Meiklejohn's 29, Currie's 20, Rosewater's 16 and Hinshaw's 14. A caucus was finally held on February 12, attended by seventy-two Republicans, but before any nomination could be made eight members withdrew, making the gathering ineffective. On February 14 D. E. Thompson got 33 votes in joint assembly, Meiklejohn 31, Currie 17, Rosewater 15, Hinshaw 14 and Francis Martin (Rep.), 10. On February 20 D. E. Thompson's vote for the short term rose to 38, and Rosewater's for the long term to 18. Meiklejohn had 20, Currie 17, Hinshaw 14 and Martin 7. A week later Thompson had 39, Meiklejohn 33, Currie 14, Rosewater 13, Hinshaw 13, Crouse 8 and Martin 5. The same evening there were eight further desertions from the list of Republicans who had signed the caucus call, and that body practically suspended its sessions. On March 12, however, fifty-one Republicans were again ready to enter a caucus, and after several days of fruitless balloting a nomination was made for the short term at a session held on March 19. D. E. Thompson received the votes of fifty of the fifty-three members then present and became the caucus candidate for the short term. No nomination was made, however, for the long term vacancy. The following day, in joint assembly, D. E. Thompson received 56 votes—seven less than a majority—to 54 for W. V. Allen and 15 scattering. For the long term Meiklejohn had 20, Rosewater 20, Crouse 10, Currie 9, W. H. Thompson 42 and Hitchcock 14. On March 21 D. E. Thompson's vote rose to 58. He was then six votes short of a majority, and on March 25, with a lighter attendance, his total of 58 put him within five votes of an election. On March 26 Thompson had 59 votes, but was still six short. The Republican forces had been making desperate efforts to break the deadlock by union on two new candidates, and after more than a week of manœuvring, on March 28—the last day of the session—D. E. Thompson having withdrawn as a candidate for the short term, and Messrs. Melklejohn, Rosewater, Hinshaw and Currie as candidates for the long term, the caucus made two nearly unanimous nominations. Governor Charles H. Dietrich was chosen as a candidate for the seat vacated by Mr. Allen, and Joseph H. Millard as a candidate for that vacated by Mr. Thurston. The same day both were elected in joint assembly, the vote standing: Long term—Millard, 70; W. H. Thompson, 52; Hitchcock, 8. Short term—Dietrich, 70; Allen, 58; Berge, 2.

New-Hampshire.—The New-Hampshire Legislature, on January 15, elected Henry E. Burnham (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed William E. Chandler (Rep.) for the term ending March 4, 1907. In the Republican legislative caucus, held January 10, Mr. Burnham was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 198 votes, to 47 votes for Mr. Chandler, 29 for Henry M. Baker, 23 for Cyrus A. Sulloway, 22 for Henry B. Quinby and 1 for Henry W. Blair. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Burnham, 22; Charles F. Stone (Dem.), 1; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Burnham, 279; Stone, 53; Henry M. Baker, 1; not voting, 34.

New-Jersey.—The legislature of New-Jersey on January 22 elected William J. Sewell (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the term ending March 4, 1907. No opposition to Mr. Sewell's renomination was made in the Republican caucus. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Sewell, 17; Alvah A. Clark (Dem.), 4. House of Representatives—Sewell, 45; Clark, 13; not voting, 2.

North Carolina.—The legislature of North Carolina on January 22 elected F. M. Simmons (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed Marlon Butler (Pop.) for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Simmons had been previously nominated by the Democratic voters of the State in a primary election contest. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Simmons, 36; Richmond Pearson (Rep.), 8; not voting, 6. House of Representatives—Simmons, 88; Pearson, 18; not voting, 14.

Oregon.—The legislature of Oregon on February 24 elected John H. Mitchell (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed George W. McBride (Rep.) for the term ending March 4, 1907. The legislature, which met at Salem on January 14, contained 90 members—30 Senators and 60 Representatives. Twenty Senators and 36 members of the House were Republicans. Ten Senators and 24 Representatives were elected as Democrats and Fusionists, or on a Citizens' Legislative ticket voted for in Multnomah County, in which the city of Portland is situated. About half of the 56 Republicans in the body favored the election of Henry W. Corbett, but at no time could a call for a caucus be secured signed by 46—a majority of the joint assembly. The first ballot in the separate branches of the legislature, taken on January 22, showed this result: Senate—H. W. Corbett (Rep.), 8; George W. McBride (Rep.), 10; Binger Hermann (Rep.), 2; George H. Williams (Rep.), 1; C. W. Fulton (Rep.), 1; T. C. Taylor (Ind.), 1; William Smith (Dem.), 6; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Corbett, 20; McBride, 9; Hermann, 6; Williams, 1; Fulton, 1; M. C. George (Ind.), 1; F. A. Moore (Rep.), 1; Smith, 20; not voting, 1. In joint assembly the following day no choice was made and a deadlock ensued, which lasted until within a few minutes of final adjournment. On January 29, on the fifth ballot, the vote was: Corbett, 29; McBride, 19; Hermann, 8; Fulton, 2; Moore, 2; Williams, 2; Lowell (Ind.), 1; Smith, 26; not voting, 1. On February 5 McBride received 21 votes, to 29 for Corbett, 3 for Hermann and 26 for Smith. On February 6 Corbett's vote rose to 30 and Hermann's fell to 7. Two days later Corbett made another gain of 1. Hermann lost 1, and McBride's vote declined from 21 to 19. On February 9 McBride withdrew from the contest, his followers taking up George H. Williams, whose vote in joint assembly on that day rose to 20. Three days later the McBride forces transferred their support from Williams to Hermann, the latter getting 29 votes. Corbett had 32 votes and Smith (Dem.) 22. Smith was dropped as a candidate by the Fusionists on February 13, and Robert Inman, who was substituted, received, on February 14, 26 votes. On February 20 Corbett's vote ran up to 34 and Hermann's fell to 27. On February 21 Corbett again received 34 votes to 22 for Williams, 7 for Hermann and 26 for Inman. On the last day of the session, February 23, twenty-five ballots were taken. Corbett's vote rose to 35, and afterward to 36, but could go no higher. On the twenty-first ballot of the day and the forty-ninth of the session John H. Mitchell's name was presented, and he received 35 votes to 36 for Corbett and 19 for A. S. Bennett (Dem.). On the fifty-third and final ballot Mitchell and Corbett were tied, with 35 votes each, when enough changes were announced to Mitchell to give him 46, or a clear majority of the joint assembly. Eleven Democrats and Independents joined with 35 Republicans to accomplish his election.

Pennsylvania.—The legislature of Pennsylvania on January 15 elected Matthew S. Quay (Rep.) to serve out the unexpired term ending March 4, 1905, a vacancy having been caused by the failure of the preceding legislature to elect a Senator to succeed Mr. Quay for the full term beginning March 4, 1899. The Republican legislative caucus, held January 1, was attended by 123 Senators and Representatives—four short of a majority in joint assembly. Mr. Quay received 119 votes to 2 for John Dalzell and 2 for John Stewart, and was then made the unanimous choice of the caucus. Between January 1 and January 15 enough additions were made to the Quay forces to secure a majority in each branch of the legislature. The vote on January 15 was: Senate—M. S. Quay, 26; John Dalzell (Rep.), 10; Charles Emory Smith (Rep.), 1; George E. Huff (Rep.), 1; James M. Guffey (Dem.), 12. House of Representatives—Quay, 104; Dalzell, 24; Smith, 11; Huff, 6; John Stewart (Rep.), 3; Henry C. McCormick (Rep.), 1; William McConway (Rep.), 1; John H. Harris (Rep.), 1; Charles Tubbs (Rep.), 1; Marlin E. Olmsted (Rep.), 1; Guffey (Lcm.), 44; Silas C. Swallow (Ind.), 1; not voting, 5. One Democratic-Populist Senator and one Democratic Representative voted for Mr. Quay, and two Democratic Representatives were absent without pairs.

South Carolina.—Benjamin R. Tillman (Dem.) was chosen on January 15 by the South Carolina Legislature to succeed himself as United States Senator for the term ending March 4, 1907. He received a unanimous vote in each branch of the legislature. On May 25, after a heated joint debate at Gaffney between Mr. Tillman and his colleague, J. L. McLaurin, both Senators agreed to send their resignations to Governor McSweeney. The Governor, after some delay, declined to accept the surrender of the two commissions, and returned them to the senders, who then decided to retain their places in the Senate.

South Dakota.—The legislature of South Dakota on January 22 elected Robert J. Gamble (Rep.) to succeed Richard F. Pettigrew (Silverite) for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Gamble was the unanimous choice of the Republican legislative caucus. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Gamble, 38; Pettigrew, 5; not voting, 2. House of Representatives—Gamble, 75; Pettigrew, 8; not voting, 4. On July 11 A. B. Kittredge (R.) was appointed by Governor Herriod United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death, on July 1, of James H. Kyle (R.).

Tennessee.—The legislature of Tennessee on January 15 elected E. W. Carmack (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed Thomas B. Turley (Dem.) for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Carmack was nominated for the Senatorship after an open contest before the Democratic voters. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Carmack, 29; Thomas N. Burkett (Rep.), 3; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Carmack, 70; Burkett, 21; not voting, 8. One Republican Senator voted for Mr. Carmack.

Texas.—On January 22 the Texas Legislature elected Joseph W. Bailey (Dem.) United States Senator to succeed Horace Chilton (Dem.) for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Bailey had no opposition within the party, his only rival, Mr. Chilton, having withdrawn several months before from the caucus for the nomination. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Bailey, 27; E. A. Atlee (Dem.), 2; not voting, 2. House of Representatives—Bailey, 110; Chilton, 2; John H. Reagan (Dem.), 1; M. M. Crane (Dem.), 1; not voting, 14.

Utah.—On January 23 the legislature of Utah elected Thomas Kearns (Rep.) United States Senator to serve out the unexpired term ending March 4, 1905, a preceding legislature having failed to elect a successor to Frank J. Cannon (Silverite), whose term ended March 3, 1899. Mr. Kearns was nominated at a caucus of Republican members held on January 22. Ten ballots were taken, the vote on the last standing: Kearns, 19; Arthur Brown, 8; McCormick, 9; O. J. Salisbury, 1. In the legislature the first ballot in the separate houses resulted in no election. The vote was: Senate—Brown (Rep.), 3; Frank J. Cannon (Rep.), 3; O. J. Salisbury (Rep.), 1; Allen (Rep.), 1; A. W. McCune (Dem.), 9; not voting, 1. House of Representatives—Kearns (Rep.), 6; Brown (Rep.), 4; McCormick (Rep.), 8; Thomas (Rep.), 7; Smoot (Rep.), 3; Cannon (Rep.), 1; McCune (Dem.), 14; not voting, 2. The following day, in joint assembly, the vote was: Kearns, 37; McCune, 25; not voting, 1.

West Virginia.—The West Virginia Legislature on January 22 elected Stephen B. Elkins (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the term ending March 4, 1907. Mr. Elkins received a unanimous renomination in the Republican legislative caucus. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Elkins, 15; John T. McGraw (Dem.), 5; not voting, 5. House of Representatives—Elkins, 46; McGraw, 18; not voting, 7.

Wyoming.—The legislature of Wyoming on January 22 elected Francis E. Warren (Rep.) United States Senator to succeed himself for the term ending March 4, 1907. His renomination by the Republican legislative caucus was unanimous. The vote in the two branches of the legislature was: Senate—Warren, 18; John E. Osborne (Dem.), 1. House of Representatives—Warren, 34; Osborne, 2; not voting, 1.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

The following are the more important changes proposed by the constitution adopted in Alabama at an election on November 11, 1901:

The limit of State taxation is reduced from 75 cents on the $100 to 65 cents.

A limitation is placed on the amount of indebtedness a city or county can incur, and no city or county bonds can be issued until the question is voted on by the voters and indorsed by them.

It provides for the examination of private and State banks and bankers, and such institutions are required to make a public statement of their condition at least twice a year.

The legislature will meet only once in every four years instead of every two, as now provided for, and the sessions are limited to forty days after the first session, which may hold fifty days.

It does away with almost every species of local legislation, and such matters must be covered by general legislation.

A Lieutenant Governor is to be elected by the people. This office was done away with in the present constitution, the office of Governor, when it should become vacant, being filled by the President of the Senate.

Circuit solicitors are to be elected by the people instead of the legislature, as at present.

State elections will be held only once in four years instead of two, as at present and the election for State officers will be held on the same day as the national election.

Members of the legislature and judicial officers are prohibited from riding on free passes, and a penalty is provided for in such cases.

The minimum of appropriations for school purposes at present is $100,000 a year, interest on the sixteenth section fund and the poll taxes. The new provision is that three mills on the dollar, or six-thirtieths of the whole State taxes, together with the poll taxes, shall be set apart for the public schools.

The people of any location may, by a three-fifths vote, levy an additional 10 cents on the $100 for the support of the public schools of the county.

There are two systems of registration provided for, called the temporary and the permanent plans. Under the temporary plan, which extends to January 1, 1903, there are three registrars appointed in each county by a board consisting of the Governor, Secretary of State and the State auditor.

Under the temporary plan the following male citizens of this State having the necessary residence qualifications can vote:

First—All who have honorably served in the land or naval forces of the United States in the War of 1812, or in the war with Mexico, or in any war with the Indians, or in the war between the States, or in the war with Spain, or who honorably served in the land or naval forces of the Confederate States, or of the State of Alabama in the war between the States; or.

Second—The lawful descendants of persons who honorably served in the land or naval forces of the United States in the war of the American Revolution, or in the War of 1812, or in the war with Mexico, or in any war with the Indians, or in the war between the States, or in the land or naval forces of the Confederate States, or of the State of Alabama in the war between the States; or.

Third—All persons who are of good character and who understand the duties and obligations of citizenship under a republican form of government.

The legislature has to provide the means for the permanent registration.

Under the permanent plan, to be entitled to vote one must have been registered under the temporary plan, or be able to read and write a section of the constitution of the United States in the English language, or pay taxes on $300 worth of real or personal property, or on forty acres of land, or be the husband of a woman who pays taxes on forty acres of land or owns $300 worth of real or personal property and have paid his poll taxes for the preceding year. The payment of poll taxes is purely voluntary, and no process will issue to collect same.

The Governor holds office for four years, and is not eligible to re-election to succeed himself; neither can he be appointed or elected to the United States Senate or any office under the State or general government until after one year from the time his term as Governor expires. His term of office is now two years.

GOVERNORS OF NEW-YORK STATE.

The following table gives the names and politics and the terms which the Governors of New-York State have served since the first election. Those marked with an asterisk served three year terms and the others served two year terms. On February 13, 1787, an act was passed for regulating elections, which provided that the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor should enter on the duties of their respective offices on July 1 succeeding their election. The Constitution of 1821 provided that the terms should begin on January 1 succeeding the election. Those with "D. R." following the name were elected as Democratic Republicans, the leaders of that party being of the Thomas Jefferson class of politics, and from which the Democratic party claims direct descent. The present Republican party at its beginning, enrolled most of the old Whigs.

¹Of the thirteen original States.²Reports of 1901.³Purchased from Russia.⁴Balance in treasury.

Note.—If the forty-five States be arranged according to the mode of admission, excepting the thirteen original States, they would be grouped thus: Four were formed from other States—Vermont from New-York, Maine from Massachusetts, Kentucky and West Virginia from Virginia. One (California) had no previous territorial government. One (Texas) was annexed; and the remaining twenty-six had been organized as Territories prior to their admission as States.

ADDENDA.

The Isthmian Canal treaty was ratified by the Senate on December 16 by a vote of 72 to 6.

On December 17 Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania, resigned as Postmaster General, and Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, was appointed to succeed him.

In the Senate, on pages 301 and 302, Wellington, of Maryland, and McLaurin, of South Carolina, should be Independents and not Democrats. Wellington was elected as a Republican, but disagreed with the McKinley foreign policy, and in 1900 supported Bryan. He is not accepted in the caucuses of either party. McLaurin was elected as a Democrat, but broke with his party on the Philippine question, he supporting the administration policy. The summary at the head of the table would then be: Republicans, 54; Democrats, 31; Independents, 2; Silverite, 1; vacancies, 2; total, 90.

NEOSTYLE SEALED-YET-OPEN ENVELOPES.

(U. S. patent, 532,206.)

Circulars can be mailed in these envelopes apparently SEALED with ONE CENT stamp. Such circulars will be OPENED and READ by the recipient; ordinary open envelopes are recognized as circulars and often thrown away unread. You will insure the opening of your circulars and also save $10.00 on each thousand by the use of the "Neostyle Sealed-Yet-Open" envelope.

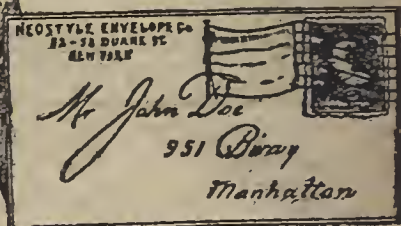

The Neostyle Envelope is the only envelope which can be used for third class matter without breaking the seal, and which has the sanction of the P. O. Dept. of the U. S.

This is the way the "Neostyle" Envelope goes through the mail.
"IT LOOKS PERSONAL."

This is the way the "Neostyle" envelope is opened.

CAUTION!!!

The trade and consumers are cautioned against selling or using any "Sealed-Yet-Open" envelopes infringing the "Neostyle patent." Injunctions with costs and damages have already been granted by the U. S. Court against two manufacturers, and several other infringement suits are pending, and all infringers will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

DE VEAU AUTOMATIC SWITCH- LESS TELEPHONES

possess advantages over any other Intercommunicating Telephone System in a dozen points; one alone, that which permits any one station to hold a conference with one, two or all parties on the system, by merely interlocking the buttons, is in itself the acme of convenience and comfort in a Telephone System. There are no levers or plugs to be returned to the home point when through talking, as the placing of Receiver on Hook automatically restores all connections.

"Just the Paper" . . .

THE TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE is, if the phrase may be permitted, the "beef tea" of THE DAILY TRIBUNE. In the three issues of each week it summarizes THE DAILY TRIBUNE, while giving in their entirety many of the very best features and illustrations. For those who have neither the time nor the means to indulge in a metropolitan daily newspaper, and yet want to get all the news of the world treated from a national point of view, THE TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE is just the paper.

PRICE, $1.50 PER YEAR.

"All the News that is News."

The New-York Tribune comes pretty near being an ideal newspaper. It is clean without being dull, enterprising without being sensational, and as fair and accurate as human forethought and care can make it. The Tribune has positive convictions of its own on all the great questions of the day, but it is broad enough and liberal enough to give all reasonable opportunity to "hear the other side."

Every occurrence or development of sufficient importance to engage the attention of self-respecting, intelligent people is sure to find adequate treatment in The Tribune, by text or picture, or both.

The Sunday Tribune,

with its fine Illustrated Supplement and many interesting features, is rapidly gaining ground and is receiving a larger measure of public approval from week to week.

PRICE: DAILY AND SUNDAY, $10 PER YEAR.

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP
